Vocabulary and Speaking

Weekend activities

1 a Match the verbs in A to the words/phrases in B. Then check in Language Summary 1

VOCABULARY 1.1 p127.

A	B
visit have go to	a lie-in relatives concerts/gigs/festivals chat have do	a quiet night in yoga to friends online meet up tidy up go to	museums/art galleries with friends the house/the flat
do have go out	people round for dinner for a drink/meal exercise

b Work in pairs. Ask questions with How often do you ...?, When did you last ...? or Do you ever ...? about the activities in 1a. Ask follow-up questions if possible.

How often do you visit relatives? About once a month.

When did you last have a lie-in? Last Sunday.

Do you ever go to gigs? Yes, sometimes.

Reading and Speaking

2 a Read the beginning of the article about happiness. How did the scientists make their top ten list?

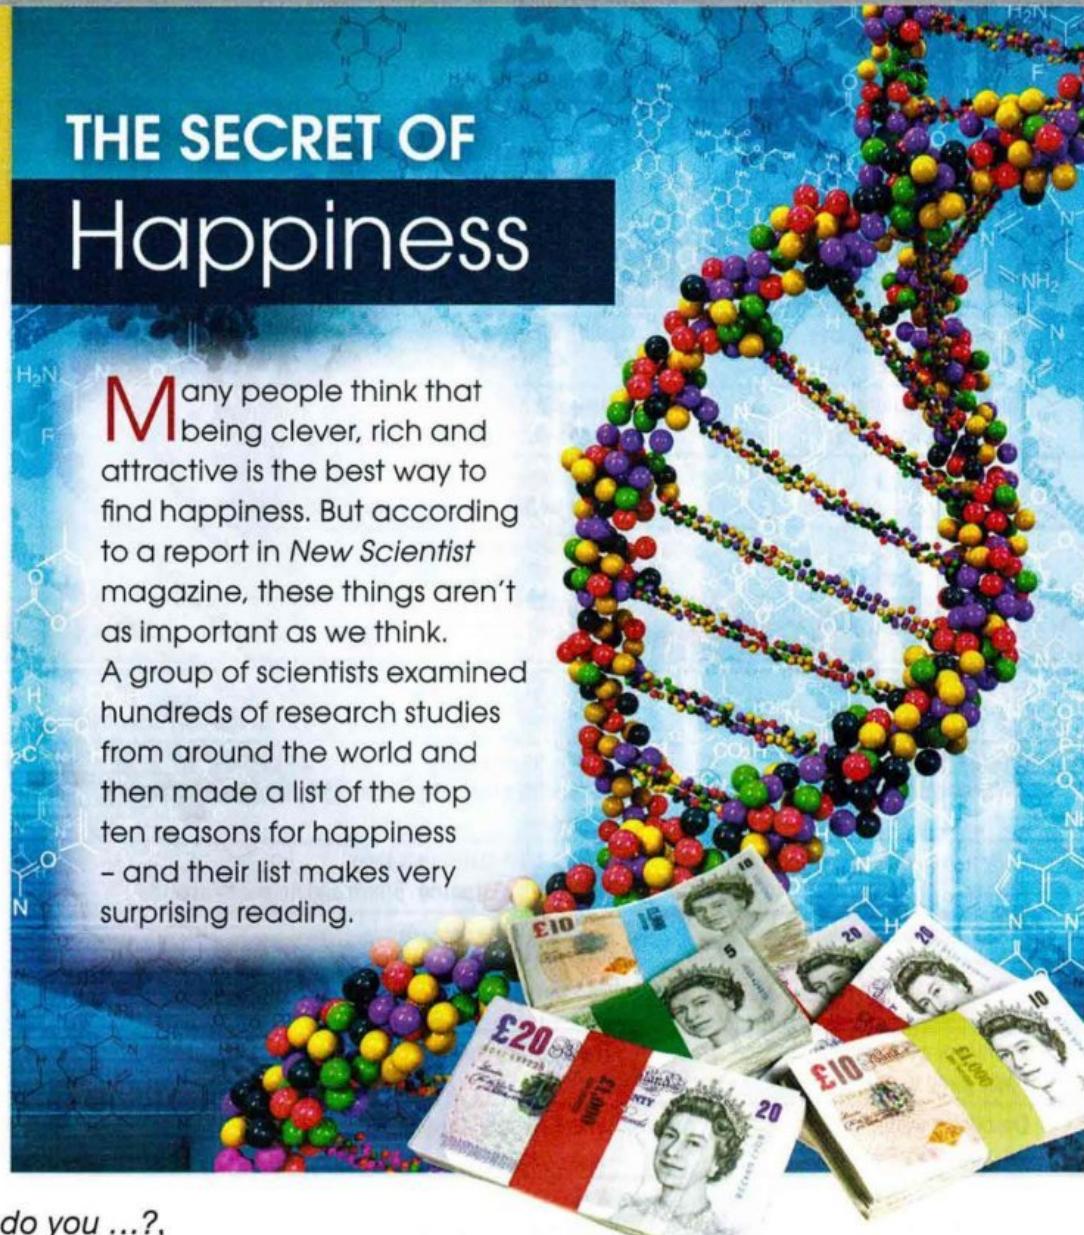

b Look at these reasons for happiness. Put them in order from 1–10 (1 = the most important).

- friends and family
- being attractive
- money
- growing old
- being married
- religion
- helping others
- intelligence
- your genes
- not wanting more than you've got c Work in pairs. Compare lists. Explain the order you chose.

THE SECRET OF Happiness

Many people think that being clever, rich and attractive is the best way to find happiness. But according to a report in New Scientist magazine, these things aren't as important as we think. A group of scientists examined hundreds of research studies from around the world and then made a list of the top ten reasons for happiness – and their list makes very surprising reading.

3 Turn to p112. Read the rest of the article and answer the questions.

Listening and Speaking

4 a Look at the photos of Fiona, Maxie and Caroline. What makes them happy, do you think?

b CD1 Listen and write two things that make each person happy.

c Listen again. Answer these questions.

- 1 How often does Fiona teach yoga classes? Three times a week.
- 2 What is Fiona's son doing at the moment?
- 3 What did Fiona do last Sunday?
- 4 How many songs has Maxie written?
- 5 What did he put on YouTube last month?
- 6 How many countries has he been to?
- 7 Who does Caroline go to art galleries with?
- 8 What makes her husband happy?
- 9 Who visits them most weekends?

Fiona

Maxie

Caroline

HELP WITH GRAMMAR Question forms

5 a Match questions 1–4 in 4c to these verb forms.

Present Simple 1	Past Simple
Present Continuous	Present Perfect Simple

b Write questions 2–4 from 4c in the table.

question word	auxiliary	subject	verb
How often	does	Fiona	teach	yoga classes?

c Look at questions 5–9 in 4c. Answer these questions.

- 1 Is the question word the object or the subject in each question?
- 2 Why don't questions 8 and 9 have an auxiliary?
- 3 Find two questions in 4c which have a preposition at the end.
- 4 Check in GRAMMAR 1.1 p128.

6 Fill in the gaps in these questions with do, are, have, did or – (= no auxiliary).

- 1 Whereabouts do you live?
- 2 How long have you lived there?
- 3 Who --- lives with you?
- 4 What time do you get up on Sundays?
- 5 Why are you studying English?
- 6 Where did you go on holiday last year?
- 7 How many countries have you visited?
- 8 Who --- emails you the most?
- 9 What did you do yesterday evening?
- 10 What are you planning to do next weekend?

HELP WITH LISTENING

Questions with you

7 a Work in pairs. How do we usually say the auxiliaries and you in the questions in 6?

b CD1 2 Listen to the questions in 6. Notice how we say do you /dəjə/, have you /həvjə/, are you /əjə/ and did you /dɪdʒə/.

8 a CD1 2 PRONUNCIATION Listen again and practise. Copy the weak forms.

Whereabouts do you /dəjə/ live?

b Work in pairs. Ask and answer the questions in 6. Ask follow-up questions.

9 Work in new pairs. Student A p102. Student B p107.

Get ready ... Get it right!

10 Write a list of five things you do that make you happy.

- 1 writing my blog
- 2 going for walks in the park

11 a Work in groups of three. Take turns to tell the group about each thing on your list. Ask one or two questions about each thing your partners tell you about.

Writing my blog makes me happy.

How often do you write it?

What do you write about?

b Tell the class about one thing that makes you happy.

QUICK REVIEW Question forms Choose a partner, but don't talk to him or her yet. Write four questions to ask your partner. Work in pairs. Ask and answer your questions. Then tell the class something interesting you found out about your partner.

Vocabulary and Speaking

Likes and dislikes

1 Work in pairs. Match these phrases to groups 1–3. Then check in VOCABULARY 1.2 p127.

- 1 saying you love or like something
- 2 saying something is OK
- 3 saying you don't like something

I (really) love ... 1      I (really) hate ... 3
 I don't like ... at all.      I can't stand ...
 I'm (really/very/quite) interested in ...
 I think ... is/are all right.
 ... (really) get(s) on my nerves.
 I can't bear ...      I (really) enjoy ...
 I don't mind ...      I'm not (very) keen on ...
 I'm (really/very/quite) keen on ...
 ... (really) drive(s) me crazy.
 I think ... is/are great/brilliant/wonderful.
 I think ... is/are awful/terrible/dreadful.

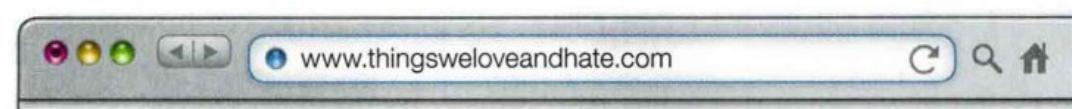

2 a Decide how you feel about these things. Choose a different phrase from 1 for each thing.

- watching sport on TV
- buying new shoes
- waiting in queues
- getting up early
- cooking
- doing the washing-up
- going to weddings
- tidying up the house or flat

b Work in groups. Compare ideas. Explain why you feel like this.

Reading

3 Read the comments on the internet forum. Then fill in gaps 1–4 with the things in photos A–D. Do the people love or hate these things?

Things we LOVE and HATE

<sup>1</sup> phoning call-centres really drives me crazy. You have to listen to this terrible music while you're waiting, and then a woman's voice says, "you're 93rd in the queue". Sometimes you can wait for over an hour and no one answers – and you can't put the phone down because you don't want to lose your place. Then when you finally speak to someone they hardly ever solve your problem, so you have to start again anyway.

MICHAEL

I think <sup>2</sup> reality TV-shows are brilliant, but I know a lot of people can't stand them. I've got two sisters and neither of them can watch one for more than 5 minutes. I've seen loads of different shows over the years. The ones with celebrities are the best because you can see that none of them are any different to us – they're all just normal people really. But I wouldn't like to be on one myself because I know all my friends would laugh at me!

CORINNE

I really hate <sup>3</sup> commuting. The trains are always really crowded and they're often late or get cancelled for no reason. Yesterday I waited nearly half an hour for a train, and then I didn't get a seat so I had to stand all the way home. I don't think that's right, not when we pay so much for our tickets. And I can't bear listening to other people's phone conversations on the train. How can people talk about hospital visits or relationship problems in public? I don't think I could do that, I'd be too embarrassed.

MARCELA

I really love <sup>4</sup> flying, but my wife doesn't like it at all. I can't understand why – it's much safer than driving and there are no traffic jams. She hasn't flown for years, but as far as I'm concerned, there's no better way to travel. I love just sitting back and watching the clouds go by or chatting to the person next to me. And if I'm not feeling very sociable I can always watch a film, which I never have time to do at home.

HASSAN

4 a Read the comments on the internet forum again. Are these sentences true (T) or false (F)?

- 1 Michael doesn't mind talking to call centres. F
- 2 He thinks call centres usually solve your problems. F
- 3 Corinne's sisters can't bear reality TV programmes. T
- 4 Corinne doesn't like programmes with celebrities. F
- 5 Marcela had a difficult journey home yesterday. T
- 6 She enjoys listening to other people's phone conversations. F
- 7 Hassan's wife isn't keen on flying. T
- 8 Hassan often watches films when he's at home. F

b Work in groups. Discuss how you feel about the things in the photos. Use phrases from 1 and your own ideas.

HELP WITH GRAMMAR

Positive and negative verb forms, words and phrases

5 a Look at the comments on the internet forum again. Match the phrases in blue to these verb forms. Which phrases are negative?

Present Simple	Present Perfect Simple
Present Continuous	Past Simple

b Look at Marcela's comment again. Find the negative forms of these sentences. Which verb do we usually make negative?

I think that's right. I think I could do that.

c Look at Hassan's comment again. Find another way to say these phrases. Which word can we use instead of not a and not any with there is/there are?

There aren't any traffic jams.

There isn't a better way to travel.

d Match these positive words to the negative words/phrases in pink on the internet forum.

love	hate	everyone	no one always	never	all	none
usually	hardly ever	both	neither e Check in GRAMMAR 1.2 p128.

6 a Make these sentences negative. There is sometimes more than one possible answer.

- 1 I often visit my grandmother.
I don't often visit my grandmother.
- 2 Everyone in my family likes tennis.
- 3 My mum's lost her mobile.
- 4 I think I'll buy a new phone.
- 5 There's a doctor in the village.
- 6 All of my friends have got cars.
- 7 Both of my brothers like cooking.
- 8 There's some milk in the fridge.

b Work in pairs. Compare answers.

7 CD1 3 PRONUNCIATION Listen and practise.

I don't often visit my grandmother.

Get ready ... Get it right!

8 Write four sentences about things you like and four sentences about things you don't like. Use the phrases from 1 and your own ideas.

I really enjoy watching old films.

I can't stand going to the dentist.

9 a Find one student in the class who agrees with each of your sentences. Ask follow-up questions if possible.

I really enjoy watching old films.

Yes, me too. What was the last one you watched?

b Tell the class two things you have in common with other students.

Tamek and I both enjoy watching old films.

QUICK REVIEW Likes and dislikes Write the names of three people you know. Think of one thing they like doing and one thing they don't like doing. Work in pairs. Take turns to tell each other about the people: My brother Federico can't stand waiting in queues.

Vocabulary and Speaking

Adjectives (1): feelings

1 a Work in pairs. Which of these adjectives do you know? Do they describe positive or negative feelings? Then check new words in VOCABULARY 1.3 p127.

relaxed nervous pleased embarrassed angry annoyed fed up disappointed stressed calm upset scared satisfied confused shocked glad concerned depressed

b Choose six adjectives from 1a. Make notes on the last time you felt like this.
c Work in pairs. Tell your partner about the adjectives you chose. Ask follow-up questions if possible.

I felt quite stressed last week because I had to go for a job interview.

Did you get the job?

Listening and Speaking

2 a Work in new pairs. Answer these questions.

- 1 Have you (or people you know) ever been a member of a club? If so, tell your partner about it.
- 2 What kinds of clubs are popular in your school, university or city? What do people do in these clubs?
- 3 What are the advantages and disadvantages of being in a club?

b CD1 4 Listen to four friends, Sally, Eric, Alice and Peter. Put these clubs in the order they talk about them. What do people do in each club?

- a book club eric 2
- an animation club 3
- a glee club 4 alice
- a drama club sally 1

c Listen again. Tick (✓) the true sentences. Correct the false ones.

1 Sally's new play is a musical. comedy

2 Her character in the play is an angry old lady. confused

3 Eric's book club meets once a week. month

4 He doesn't always finish reading every book.

5 Peter runs an animation club. his brother

6 Eric might go to an animation club meeting.

7 Alice is better at dancing than singing. vice versa

8 She's too embarrassed to sing in the restaurant.

d Work in pairs. Compare answers. Would you like to join any of these clubs? Why?/Why not?

Vocabulary adjectives (1): feelings;

prepositions with adjectives

Skills Listening: an informal conversation;
Reading: a magazine article

HELP WITH LISTENING

Sentence stress (1)

3 a CD1 4 Read and listen to the beginning of the conversation. Notice which words are stressed.

SALLY Sorry I'm late. Did you get my text?

PETER Hi, Sally. Yes, I've ordered you the vegetarian pizza.

SALLY Great, thanks a lot.

ERIC Were you working late?

SALLY No, I go to a drama club on Mondays.

ALICE I didn't know you've joined a drama club.

b Find examples of these parts of speech in the conversation in 3a. Are these types of words usually stressed (S) or not stressed (N)?

adjectives	S	pronouns positive auxiliaries		main verbs
nouns		articles prepositions negative auxiliaries

c Look at Audio Script CD1 4 p156. Listen again and follow the sentence stress.

Reading and Speaking

4 a Look at the photos and the headline of the article on p11. What do you think the article is about?

b Before you read, check these words/phrases with your teacher or in a dictionary.

reduce	clap your hands
strengthen	your immune system
fake	chemicals

c Read the article. Match topics a–e to paragraphs 1–5.

- a It worked for me – try it yourself
- b Why laughter is good for you
- c Start the day with a laugh
- d My first visit to a Laughter Club
- e How Laughter Clubs began

Laughter is the best medicine

1 Do you want to live a happier, less stressful life? Try laughing for no reason at all. That's how thousands of people start their day at Laughter Yoga Clubs around the world – and many doctors now think that having a good laugh might be one of the best ways to stay healthy.

2 The first Laughter Yoga Club was started in Mumbai, India, in 1995 by Dr Madan Kataria. "Young children laugh about 300 times a day. Adults laugh between 7 and 15 times a day," says Dr Kataria. "Everyone's naturally good at laughing – it's the universal language. We want people to feel happy with their lives." There are now more than 6,000 Laughter Clubs in over 65 countries worldwide and there's even a World Laughter Day on the first Sunday in May every year.

3 Many doctors are also interested in the positive effects of laughter on our health. According to a five-year study at the UCLA School of Medicine in California, laughter reduces stress in the body, strengthens your immune system and is very good for the heart. Laughter Yoga is now used in many hospitals for the treatment of serious illnesses and it is also practised in schools, companies, old people's homes and prisons.

4 So, what actually is Laughter Yoga? I went along to my nearest Laughter Club in south London to find out. I was quite nervous about it, to be honest – I wasn't keen on the idea of laughing with a group of strangers, and I was worried about looking stupid. First, our laughter teacher told us to clap our hands and say, "ho ho ho, ha ha ha," while looking at each other. The teacher explained that our bodies can't tell the difference between fake laughter and real laughter, so they still produce the same healthy chemicals.

5 Amazingly, it works. After ten minutes everybody in the room was laughing for real – and some people just couldn't stop! We spent an hour doing different types of laughter exercises and at the end of the class I was surprised by how calm and relaxed I felt. So if you're upset about something at work or just fed up with your daily routine, then just start laughing – you might be very pleased with the results. As Dr Kataria says, "When you laugh, you change, and when you change, the whole world changes around you."

HELP WITH VOCABULARY

Prepositions with adjectives

6 a Look at the adjectives in blue in the article. Which preposition comes after them?

good at	worried                   
happy                   	surprised                    interested                   	upset                    nervous                   	fed up                    keen                   	pleased                   

b Match these prepositions to the adjectives. Sometimes there is more than one answer.

of with about by at scared of, by bored frightened                   

annoyed                   

embarrassed                   

depressed                   

angry                    something angry                    someone

c Check in VOCABULARY 1.4 p127.

7 a Choose six adjectives from 6a and 6b. Write the name of one person you know for each adjective.

fed up – Eva

b Work in new pairs. Tell your partner about the people. Ask follow-up questions.

My sister Eva is fed up with her job.

Oh, why's that?

8 Work in groups. Look at p112.

QUICK REVIEW Prepositions with adjectives

Work in pairs. Find one thing that you're both:
scared of, interested in, worried about, good at,
fed up with, happy about. A I'm scared of spiders.

B Me too!

1 Work in pairs. Discuss these questions.

- 1 When did you last meet someone new (apart from students in this class)? Where were you at the time?
- 2 What did you talk about?
- 3 Did you get on well with the person? Why?/Why not?

2 a Look at the photo. Where are the people? What are they doing?

b VIDEO 1 CD1 5 Watch or listen to the conversation. Then choose the correct names in these sentences.

- 1 Daniel /Charlie is Lisa's new boyfriend.
- 2 Lisa/Daniel is Charlie and Rebecca's neighbour.
- 3 Rebecca's/Lisa's sister shared a flat with Daniel's brother.
- 4 Daniel/Charlie teaches people how to sail.
- 5 Charlie/Lisa works for a package tour company.
- 6 Lisa/Daniel and Rebecca/Charlie both support Manchester United.
- 7 Rebecca and Charlie have a son called Alex/Harry.

c Work in pairs. Compare answers.

3 a Work in the same pairs. Complete questions 1–6 with these question tags.

don't you? wasn't it? do you?
have you? haven't you? didn't she?

- 1 You live next door to Lisa, don't you? a Yes, I do.
- 2 Barbara went to Liverpool university, b
- 3 You've been diving, c
- 4 It was a great match yesterday, d
- 5 You haven't ordered any food yet, e
- 6 You don't have any kids, f

b Work in the same pairs. Write these short answers in a–f.

Yes, I do. No, I don't. Yes, she did. Yes, it was.
No, I haven't, actually. No, we haven't.

c VIDEO 1 CD1 5 Watch or listen again. Check your answers to 3a and 3b.

REAL WORLD Question tags

4 a Look again at questions 1–6 in 3a. Then choose the correct words/phrases in these rules.

- We usually use questions with question tags (don't you?, etc.) to check information that we think is correct/ find out new information.
- We usually use the main verb/auxiliary in question tags.
- We only use names/pronouns in question tags.
- If the main verb is positive, the question tag is usually positive/negative.
- If the main verb is negative, the question tag is usually positive/negative.

b Look again at short answers a-f in 3a. Then answer these questions.

- 1 Which short answers say the information is correct?
- 2 Which short answer says the information isn't correct?
- 3 Which word do we use to sound more polite when the information isn't correct?

TIP • We can also use Yes, that's right. to say that the information is correct: A You're from London originally, aren't you? B Yes, that's right. / Yes, I am.

c Check in REAL WORLD 1.1 p128.

5 a CD1 6 Listen to questions 1–6 in 3a again. Does the intonation on the question tag go up or down?

b PRONUNCIATION Listen again and practise. Copy the stress and intonation.

You live next door to Lisa, don't you?

6 a Write question tags to check information about the people in the photo.

- 1 Lisa and Daniel aren't married, are they ?
- 2 Charlie and Daniel haven't met before, have they ?
- 3 Rebecca and Lisa live in the same village, do they ?
- 4 Charlie's lived there for about three years, has he ?
- 5 Daniel left London last year, did he ?
- 6 Daniel and Lisa shared a flat at university, did they ?
- 7 Charlie works for a holiday company, does he ?
- 8 Rebecca isn't very keen on football, is she ?
- 9 Harry is Charlie and Rebecca's son, is he ?
- 10 Daniel hasn't got any children, has he ?

b Work in pairs. Take turns to ask and answer the questions. Then check your partner's answers in Audio Script CD1 5 p156. How many are correct?

Lisa and Daniel aren't married, are they?

No, they aren't.

7 Work in new pairs. Look at p114.

Collocations (1): work

1 a Choose the correct verbs in these phrases. Then check in VOCABULARY 2.1 p129.

- 1 take/be work home
- 2 be/have time to relax
- 3 get/work long hours
- 4 work/spend overtime
- 5 get/be a workaholic
- 6 meet/take deadlines
- 7 take/be time off work
- 8 have/be under (a lot of) pressure at work
- 9 leave/spend a lot of time at work
- 10 have/be good working conditions

b Think of three people you know who have jobs. Choose two phrases from 1a for each person.

c Work in pairs. Tell your partner about the people you chose. Which person works the hardest?

Listening and Speaking

2 a Look at the book cover, the cartoon and the photos. What is the book about, do you think?

b Work in pairs. Guess the correct words or numbers in these sentences.

- 1 People in China/Germany spend 15% less time at work now than in 1980.
- 2 Some companies in France/Italy give their employees three-day weekends.
- 3 Europeans/Americans work 350 hours a year more than Europeans/Americans.
- 4 20% of British people work over 50/60 hours a week.
- 5 30%/60% of people in the UK said they didn't take all their paid holiday.
- 6 In German/Japanese there's a word that means 'death from working too hard'.

c CD1 Listen to a radio programme. Two journalists, Kim and Rob, are discussing Carl Honoré's book In Praise of Slow. Check your answers to 2a and 2b.

3 a CD1 Listen to the radio programme again. Fill in the gaps with one or two words.

- 1 Rob says he must take more time off work.
- 2 Honoré says people should only work 35 hours a week.
- 3 Honoré believes that we ought to spend more time with our families.
- 4 Some French employees are allowed to begin their weekend at 3pm on Thursday.
- 5 People can get their best ideas when they're doing nothing.
- 6 In some American companies, employees can sleep whenever they want.
- 7 In the UK people are supposed to have a break every 4 hours.
- 8 Kim says that lots of people have to take work home.
- 9 Rob says that these days we're able to continue working when we're travelling.

b Work in pairs. Do you agree with Carl Honoré that we all work too hard and should slow down? Why?/Why not?

5 a Kim (K) and Rob (R) are talking after the radio programme. Read their conversation and choose the correct verb forms. Who has the best working conditions?

K So, do you think you <sup>1</sup>should / are allowed to relax more?

R Absolutely! <sup>2</sup>I'm able to / I must try to slow down a bit.

K <sup>3</sup>Are you able to / Should you start work when you want?

R No, not really. <sup>4</sup>I'm supposed to / I can be in the office at eight. What about you?

K I <sup>5</sup>don't have to / mustn't be at work until ten.

R Lucky you. <sup>6</sup>Are you allowed to / Should you work at home?

K Yes, we <sup>7</sup>ought to / can work at home two days a week.

R Oh, we <sup>8</sup>have to / are able to be in the office every day.

K Perhaps you <sup>9</sup>ought to / are supposed to look for another job.

R Yes, maybe. Anyway, I <sup>10</sup>have to / can go. I <sup>11</sup>mustn't / don't have to be late for my next meeting. Bye!

b CD1 → 10 Listen and check.

6 CD1 → 11 PRONUNCIATION Listen and practise the sentences in 5a. Copy the stress.

Do you think you should relax more?

Get ready ... Get it right!

7 Write sentences describing the rules at the place where you work, your school or university. Use language from 4a and these ideas.

- what you can wear
- what time you start and finish
- using mobiles, the internet, etc.
- food and drink
- how to behave
- breaks and holidays
- getting work done on time
- any other ideas

In my company all the managers have to wear a suit and tie.

At my school we're allowed to wear what we want.

8 a Work in groups. If you work or study in the same place, compare sentences. Do you agree with your partners' ideas? If you work or study in different places, tell other students your sentences. Ask questions to find out more information. Which place has the best rules, do you think?

b Tell the class about two of the rules your group discussed.

HELP WITH GRAMMAR be able to, be supposed to, be allowed to, modal verbs (1)

4 a Look at the sentences in 3a. Then complete these rules with the verb forms in bold. Use the infinitive form if necessary.

We use ...

- can and be able to to talk about ability or possibility.
- be supposed to to say a person is expected to do something.
- be allowed to and can to say we have permission to do something.
- must and have to to say something is necessary.
- should and ought to to give advice.

b Look again at the verb forms in bold in 3a. Answer these questions.

- 1 Do we use the infinitive or verb+ing after these verb forms?
- 2 Which verb forms include to?
- 3 How do we make these verb forms negative?
- 4 How do we make questions with these verb forms?

c Look at these sentences. Then complete the rules with mustn't or don't have to.

You mustn't send personal emails from the office. You can only send work emails.

You don't have to wear a suit to work, but you can if you want to.

- We use don't have to to say something isn't necessary.
- We use musn't to say something is not allowed.

d Check in GRAMMAR 2.1 → p130.

QUICK REVIEW Modal verbs, be supposed to

Vocabulary and Speaking

Food and ways of cooking

1 a Try to put these words into groups 1–5. Some words can go in more than one group.

a peach beans grill peanuts lamb a chilli an onion a coconut barbecue flour a cucumber a pineapple beef boil herbs spices an avocado fry a lettuce sauce stir fry a hot dog cream a green/red pepper noodles bake a pie

1 fruit a peach 4 other food words
2 vegetables 5 ways of cooking
3 meat

b Work in pairs. Compare your groups 1–5. Then check new words in VOCABULARY 2.2 p129.

c Work with your partner. Answer these questions.

1 Which of the types of food in 1a do you often eat? Which do you never eat?
2 How do people in your country usually cook the meat and vegetables in 1a?

Speaking and Reading

2 a Work in new pairs. Look at photos A–C. Have you ever tried these types of street food? If so, did you like them? If not, which would you like to try?

b Read the blog. How do you make the types of food in photos A–C?

3 a Read the blog again. Answer these questions.

1 Why does Steve travel a lot?
2 Why does he like eating street food?
3 When did he start his blog?
4 How often does he visit Bangkok?
5 Where was Steve on May 19th?
6 Does he like spicy food?

b Work in pairs. Discuss these questions.

1 What kinds of street food can you buy in your country? What are the ingredients? How is it cooked?
2 Do you ever eat street food? If so, what do you eat?

pad thai

Steve's STREET FOOD BLOG

I live in London, but I travel all over the world for my job (I'm a photographer) and I always try the street food wherever I go. For me there's nothing better than sitting in a square or a park eating cheap, freshly-cooked street food – it's the best way to get to know a country and its people. I started blogging about street food over three years ago and my blog is becoming more popular every year. Now I'm writing a book about street food around the world – when I'm not working, blogging or eating, of course!

APRIL 27TH More and more people are visiting Thailand on holiday these days, but most of them don't stay in Bangkok for very long. Big mistake. I come here every year and I can tell you that the country's capital has got some fantastic street food – take pad thai, for example. It's very quick to make – stir fry some noodles, then add eggs, fish sauce, chillies, chicken, peanuts, herbs and spices – and it's one of the most incredible dishes you've ever tasted.

MAY 19TH I'm blogging from a busy food market in the centre of Jakarta. People still eat a lot of street food in Indonesia, and satay is probably the country's most popular dish. When people make satay, they often grill the lamb or chicken, but it tastes better if it's barbecued over an open fire. Then cover the cooked meat with a spicy peanut sauce and serve with onions, cucumber and rice cakes. Delicious!

JUNE 5TH We're working in Mexico for a few days and at the moment I'm sitting in one of Mexico City's busy parks – and I've just eaten one of the best burritos I've had in my life! If you want to make the perfect burrito, start with a freshly-made flour tortilla – a type of flat bread – then fill it with grilled beef or chicken and serve with beans, rice, sour cream, onions, lettuce and avocado. So why was this one so good? The extra-hot chilli sauce!

HELP WITH GRAMMAR

Present Continuous and Present Simple

4 a Look at the blog again. Match the verb forms in blue to these meanings. There are two verb forms for each meaning.

- We use the Present Continuous for things that:
  - a are happening at the moment of speaking or writing. 'm blogging
  - b are temporary and happening around now, but maybe not at this exact moment.
  - c are changing over a period of time.

- We use the Present Simple for:
  - a habits and routines with always, sometimes, never, every day, every year, etc. try
  - b things that are permanent, or true for a long time.
  - c verbs that describe states (be, have got, want, etc.).

b Look at these verbs. Do they usually describe activities (A) or states (S)? Do we usually use state verbs in the Present Continuous?

be S	watch A	talk	seem	spend agree	eat	taste	prefer	know	learn own	buy	understand	cook	remember believe	take	need	happen	love

c How do we make the positive, negative and question forms of the Present Continuous and Present Simple?

d Check in GRAMMAR 2.2 p131.

5 CD1-12 PRONUNCIATION Listen and practise. Copy the stress and contractions (I'm, etc.).

I'm blogging from a busy street food market.

6 a Read Steve's blog entry from Los Angeles. Put the verbs in brackets in the Present Simple or Present Continuous.

C

www.stevesstreetfoodblog.com/LAfestival

JULY 16TH

I <sup>1</sup> 'm staying (stay) with my cousin in Los Angeles and I <sup>2</sup> _____ (blog) from the L.A. Street Food festival, which <sup>3</sup> _____ (happen) here every summer. A lot of people in Los Angeles really <sup>4</sup> _____ (love) street food and the festival <sup>5</sup> _____ (become) more popular every year. There <sup>6</sup> _____ (be) over 60 stalls at this year's festival and 1,500 people <sup>7</sup> _____ (enjoy) the food, the drinks and the sunshine. I <sup>8</sup> _____ (come) here every year and I <sup>9</sup> _____ (not understand) why more cities <sup>10</sup> _____ (not have) festivals like this one. At the moment I <sup>11</sup> _____ (have) Indian meatballs with fried green peppers in a spicy coconut sauce, and my cousin <sup>12</sup> _____ (eat) the longest hot dog I've ever seen! After this we <sup>13</sup> _____ (want) to try some pineapple and strawberry ice cream!

b Work in pairs. Compare answers.

7 a Write four sentences in the Present Continuous about how eating habits in your country are changing. Use these ideas or your own.

- street food      • organic food      • food from other countries
- fast food      • supermarkets      • the amount people eat
- prices      • quality of food

People are eating more street food these days.

b Work in groups. Compare sentences. Are any the same?

Get ready ... Get it right!

8 Make questions with you. Put the verbs in brackets in the Present Simple or Present Continuous.

- 1 Are you feeling (feel) hungry now?
- 2 _____ (usually eat) a lot of street food?
- 3 _____ (cook) for yourself every day?
- 4 _____ (try) to eat more healthily these days?
- 5 _____ (want) to learn how to cook?
- 6 _____ (look) for somewhere to live?
- 7 _____ (often read) blogs?
- 8 _____ (watch) any good TV series at the moment?

9 a Ask other students your questions. Try to find one person who answers yes for each question. Then ask two follow-up questions.

b Work in groups. Tell other students three things you found out about the class.

QUICK REVIEW Food and ways of cooking

Write four ways of cooking (boil, etc.) and two types of food you can cook for each verb (potatoes, noodles, etc.). Work in pairs. Take turns to say two types of food. Your partner guesses the verb: A Potatoes and noodles. B You can boil them. A Yes, that's right.

Vocabulary and Speaking Sleep

1 Work in pairs. Which of these words/phrases do you know? Then check new words/phrases in VOCABULARY 2.3 p129.

fall asleep wake up get (back) to sleep be wide awake be fast asleep snore have trouble sleeping have insomnia take a sleeping pill have a dream have a nightmare be a light/heavy sleeper have a nap

2 a Choose five words/phrases from 1 that are connected to you, or people you know.
b Work in groups. Take turns to talk about the words/phrases you chose. Ask follow-up questions if possible.

Listening

3 Work in pairs. Look at these sentences about sleep. Try to choose the correct words or numbers.

- 1 Tiredness causes more/less than half of all road accidents in the USA.
- 2 10%/30% of people in the UK have problems getting to sleep or staying asleep.
- 3 Nowadays people are sleeping 30/90 minutes less than they did 100 years ago.
- 4 Teenagers need more/less sleep than adults.
- 5 Teenagers naturally wake up two/three hours later than adults.
- 6 We use less/the same amount of energy when we're asleep compared to when we're resting.

4 a CD1 13 Listen to a TV interview with a sleep scientist. Check your answers to 3.
b Listen again. Answer these questions.

- 1 How many British people have serious insomnia?
- 2 How were sleeping habits different 100 years ago?
- 3 Who needs the least amount of sleep?
- 4 What happened when a British school started lessons an hour later?
- 5 What do our brains do when we're asleep?

HELP WITH LISTENING Weak forms (1)

• In sentences we say many small words with a schwa /ə/ sound. These are called weak forms.

5 a CD1 14 Listen to the strong and weak forms of these words. Do we usually say these words in their strong or weak forms?

	strong	weak		strong	weak
do	/du:/	/də/	of	/ɒf/	/əf/
you	/ju:/	/jə/	and	/ænd/	/ən/
at	/æt/	/ət/	to	/tu:/	/tə/
for	/fɔ:/	/fə/	can	/kæn/	/kən/

b Look at these sentences from the beginning of the interview. Which words do we hear as weak forms?

How many people do you know who have trouble sleeping at night? For many of us insomnia's part of life, and not being able to get to sleep isn't just annoying, it can also be very dangerous.

c CD1 13 Listen and check. Are weak forms stressed?
d Look at Audio Script CD1 13 p157. Listen to the interview again. Notice the weak forms and sentence stress. Which other words do we often hear as weak forms?

Reading, Vocabulary and Speaking

6 a Work in pairs. Think of at least five things people can do to help them get to sleep.
b Read the article. Why does Kevin have insomnia? What has he tried to do to get a good night's sleep?
c Read the article again. Answer these questions.

- 1 How much sleep did Kevin get last night?
- 2 What happens on a typical night?
- 3 When does he sleep well?
- 4 What does he find stressful about his job?
- 5 Which cure for insomnia hasn't he tried? Why not?

d Work in pairs. Compare answers. What advice would you give Kevin?

It's a nightmare!

Kevin Wells talks about how insomnia is making his life impossible.

I've always had trouble sleeping, but these days my insomnia is getting worse. Actually, my problem isn't getting to sleep, it's staying asleep. Take last night, for example. I was exhausted when I went to bed at 11.00 and I was fast asleep by 11.30. But then I woke up at 3.00 after a terrible nightmare. Soon I was wide awake and it was impossible to get back to sleep. Sometimes when I'm awake at that time I get extremely depressed and feel like it's the end of the world. So I read a book, answered some emails, and finally got back to sleep at about 5.30. The alarm went off at seven and I went off to work feeling awful.

That's a typical night for me. I've had insomnia for so long I'm amazed if I ever sleep through the night, and by the end of the week I always feel really shattered. I only get a good night's sleep when I'm on holiday – but when I do I feel absolutely fantastic the next day.

I know that work is part of the problem. I'm a website designer and I have to meet deadlines every week, which is very stressful. It's a brilliant job and I don't want to give it up, but I work really long hours and I'm always under a lot of pressure. I often work at home, so it's incredibly difficult to relax at the end of the day because there's always more work I can do. Money's also a huge worry for me because I've just bought a new flat and I'm getting married soon, which will be very expensive.

I've tried nearly everything to cure my insomnia, but nothing works for long. I started going to the gym, but it didn't help me sleep, it just made me more exhausted. I have a fairly healthy diet and I don't drink coffee after 4 p.m. any more. I've tried relaxation CDs, hypnosis, online support groups – I even bought a new bed. I don't want to start taking sleeping pills because I'm terrified of becoming addicted to them. Perhaps it's time for me to accept that insomnia is part of my life – then maybe I'll stop worrying so much and get some sleep!

HELP WITH VOCABULARY

Gradable and strong adjectives; adverbs

7 a Complete the table with the strong adjectives in pink in the article. What other strong adjectives do you know that mean 'very good'?

gradable adjectives	strong adjectives
good	brilliant ,
bad	,
tired	, big difficult
surprised

b Match the gradable adjectives in A to the strong adjectives in B.

A	B
tasty	filthy
small	furious
cold	delicious
hot	delighted beautiful	fascinated big	gorgeous interested	boiling
angry	tiny
happy	enormous
dirty	freezing

c Look at the adverbs in blue in the article. Which of these adverbs do we use with: gradable adjectives (G), strong adjectives (S)? Which adverb do we use with both types of adjective?

extremely G really absolutely incredibly very fairly

d Check in VOCABULARY 2.4 p130.

8 a Fill in the gaps with an adverb from 7c. Use different adverbs where possible. Complete the sentences for you.

- I'm usually _____ exhausted after ...
- It's _____ difficult for me to ...
- I was _____ delighted when ...
- I've got a/an _____ beautiful ...
- I think ... is _____ delicious.
- I'm _____ interested in ...

QUICK REVIEW Gradable and strong adjectives

Write five strong adjectives (gorgeous, etc.). Work in pairs and compare lists. What are the gradable adjectives for each one (beautiful, etc.)? Then think of one thing, place or person for each strong adjective: The dress my sister wore for her wedding was absolutely gorgeous.

1 Work in pairs. Discuss these questions.

- 1 What types of problem do people often ask for advice about?
- 2 Who was the last person you asked for advice? What did you ask them about? Did their advice help you?
- 3 When did you last give someone advice? What was it about? Did he/she take your advice? Why?/Why not?

2 a Work in new pairs. Look at the photos. What do you remember about Lisa, Rebecca and Charlie?

b VIDEO 2 CD1 15 Watch or listen to two conversations. What problems do Rebecca and Charlie talk about?

c Work with your partner. Compare answers.

3 a Work in the same pairs. Do you think these sentences are true (T) or false (F)?

Conversation 1

- a The baby wakes up two or three times every night.
- b Rebecca and Charlie are arguing more than usual.
- c Rebecca thinks Charlie is spending too much money.
- d Lisa thinks that Rebecca and Charlie should have two evenings off a week.

Conversation 2

- e Andy thinks that Rebecca and Charlie should sleep in separate rooms.
- f Charlie thinks Rebecca buys too many things for herself.
- g Andy doesn't think Charlie will lose his job.
- h Andy thinks Charlie should take Rebecca on holiday.

HELP WITH GRAMMAR

Present Perfect Simple

3 a Look at the sentences in 2b again. Then complete these rules with Present Perfect Simple (PPS) or Past Simple (PS). Which sentences in 2b match each rule?

- We use the _____ for experiences that happened some time before now, but we don't know or don't say when they happened. To give more information about an experience we use the _____.
- We use the _____ to say when something happened.
- We use the _____ for something that started in the past and continues in the present.
- We use the _____ for something that happened a short time ago, but we don't say exactly when.

b How do we make positive sentences, negatives and questions in the Present Perfect Simple?

c Look at sentences e-h in 2b again. What is the difference between: for and since? been and gone?

d Which of these words/phrases can we use with the Present Perfect Simple? Which do we use with the Past Simple?

never ago ever recently lately before in 1997 this week last week just at 10 o'clock yet already e Look at this sentence. Then choose the correct verb form in the rule.

This is the first time we've run a hotel in a touristy place like the Lake District.

the world's greatest travellers

A Nobody has changed the way we travel more than Tony and Maureen Wheeler, the founders of the publishing company Lonely Planet.

1 The company has been publishing guide books for 40 years and it sells over 5 million books a year in English. It also publishes books in seven other languages and the Lonely Planet website is one of the most popular travel sites on the internet.

B The story began when Tony and Maureen met on a park bench in London in 1971. They got married a year later and for their honeymoon they travelled across Europe and Asia to Australia in an old van. A few months later they arrived in Sydney with only 27 cents in their pockets. Everyone they met asked them about their incredible journey, so they decided to write a book about it. They wrote a 93-page guide book called Across Asia on the Cheap at their kitchen table and it sold 8,000 copies in three months.

C With the money they made from the book, Tony and Maureen spent the next 18 months travelling around southeast Asia. They wrote their second guide book, Southeast Asia on a Shoestring, in a Singapore hotel room. 2 The book has been a best-seller since it was published in 1973 and has sold over a million copies.

D 3 Lonely Planet has published over 650 books since the company began and it employs around 450 people and over 200 authors. The Lonely Planet website is visited by about 5 million people every month and their internet forum, called The Thorn Tree, is one of the most popular places online for advice on travelling independently.

4 Their television company, Lonely Planet TV, has been making programmes since 2004 and there's also a monthly Lonely Planet magazine and apps for your phone.

E The company has certainly come a long way since Tony and Maureen's honeymoon adventure. "I think we've done a good thing," says Maureen, "and I still believe that travel is the best way for people to understand the world."

4 Read the article again. Answer these questions.

- How long has Lonely Planet been publishing guide books?
- What did Tony and Maureen do on their honeymoon?
- Where did they write their second guide book?
- How many books has Lonely Planet published?
- What is The Thorn Tree?
- What else do Lonely Planet do?

HELP WITH GRAMMAR Present Perfect Continuous and Present Perfect Simple

5 a Look at sentences 1 and 2 in bold in the article. Then fill in the gaps in these rules with Present Perfect Continuous (PPC) or Present Perfect Simple (PPS).

- We usually use the _____ to talk about an activity that started in the past and continues in the present.
- We usually use the _____ to talk about a state that started in the past and continues in the present.

b Fill in the gaps for the Present Perfect Continuous with ''ve, haven't, 's, hasn't, been' or verb+ing.

POSITIVE

b Work with a student from the other group. Ask and answer the questions.

c Read your partner's blog. Check his/her answers.
d Would you like to go on either of these holidays? Why?/Why not?

Shelley Parker, Australia

I'm on a voluntourism holiday in Nepal and wanted to tell everyone all about it! I've been working at a school in a village near Kathmandu for two weeks and I've enjoyed every minute of it. The best thing about the holiday has been working with the children. I spend six hours a day at the school, mainly helping the teachers in the classroom and organising games for the younger kids. I've also been teaching English to the older children, which is great fun. I'm amazed at the kindness and patience of the local staff, they've really helped me feel at home. I'm staying with a Nepalese family in the village and I share a room with another volunteer. My bed isn't very comfortable, but I'm usually so exhausted it doesn't matter! On our days off we go walking in the mountains and I'm getting very fit and healthy. The scenery here is absolutely wonderful and I love being surrounded by nature. But it can be a bit dangerous so we always take a guide with us. The most difficult thing about the holiday is being away from my family – this is the first time I've been out of Australia. I'm glad this type of holiday is becoming more popular with young people and I'd recommend this experience to anyone.

William Boyd, Scotland

I've been staying on Grenada, an island in the Caribbean, for three weeks and I'm having a brilliant time! There are nine volunteers in our group and everyone's very kind and helpful. We're staying at a campsite by the beach and I share a tent with two other volunteers. At first I had a lot of difficulty getting to sleep and I missed the comfort of my own bed, but I'm sleeping OK now and I love living in such a natural environment. We take turns to prepare meals for the group, which is the worst part of the holiday for me because I hate cooking. We have one day off a week, which I spend diving around the coral reefs near here. But of course the main reason we're here is to protect the turtles from other animals and people who want to steal their eggs. We also check each turtle's health and measure how big they are. Turtles have been living on our planet for 230 million years – they're even older than the dinosaurs – but now they're in danger of becoming extinct. You have to be very patient, but it's incredible to watch a turtle walk out of the sea and lay her eggs on the beach. That's definitely been the most amazing part of the holiday for me. I'm not surprised voluntourism is increasing in popularity and I'd definitely recommend coming to Grenada.

HELP WITH VOCABULARY

Word building (1): suffixes for adjectives and nouns

- We sometimes make adjectives from nouns, and nouns from adjectives, by adding a suffix (-ness, -ous, etc.).

5 a Work in pairs. Look at the words in blue and pink in the blogs. Which are adjectives and which are nouns? Underline the suffix in each pair of words.

kind kindness

b Write the words in the correct places in these tables.

adjective	noun	suffix
kind	kindness	-ness
		-ce
		-y
		-ity
noun	adjective	suffix
		-ous
		-able
		-al
		-y

c Which words in 5b only add the suffix? Which words have extra changes in spelling?

d Look at the suffixes of these words. Are they adjectives (A) or nouns (N)?

knowledgeable A sadness N traditional noisy confidence adventurous activity musical possibility honesty fashionable famous touristy importance laziness modesty

e What are the nouns for the adjectives in 5d? What are the adjectives for the nouns?

- the best time to visit
- things (not) to see in the city
- things to see outside Delhi
- dangers and problems
- getting around
- changing money
- places to eat
- places to stay

b Watch or listen again. Tick the true sentences. Correct the false ones.

Rebecca and Charlie think that ...

- 1 ... rickshaws are the best way to get around the city.
- 2 ... it's better to travel to other cities by bus.
- 3 ... Ella and Mike should visit the museums in Delhi.
- 4 ... they should go to the Red Fort in Old Delhi.

Vocabulary and Speaking

Collocations (2): music

1 Work in pairs. Match the verbs in A to words/phrases in B. Then check in VOCABULARY 4.1 p135.

A	B
do/play be release	a new single/ album/CD a concert/a gig a big fan of a singer/band
do download be/go	on tour an encore a track onto my phone have see be/go	onstage someone play live an album/a CD in the charts

2 a Write the names of three bands, musicians, composers or singers you like. Choose phrases from 1 that you can use to talk about them.

b Work in pairs. Talk about the bands or people you have chosen. Ask questions to find out more information.

I'm a big fan of Coldplay.

Yes, me too. Have you ever seen them play live?

Reading

3 Read about Nikki and Danny's best ever musical experiences. What was special about each one?

NIKKI WILLIAMS, USA

Five years ago I was living in New York with my cousin and I used to go to a lot of gigs. Back then I was one of Lady Gaga's biggest fans and I listened to her second album all the time. For my 21st birthday my boyfriend bought tickets to see her play live – I've never been so excited in my life! We had really good seats near the front and when Lady Gaga came onstage the whole crowd went absolutely crazy. It was a fantastic atmosphere and all the fans were singing along. That night she sang for over two hours and changed her costume about 20 times! While she was doing an encore, she threw her shoes into the crowd – and I caught one of them! My boyfriend wanted to sell it on eBay, but I wouldn't let him. Now it's my most valuable possession – and a great souvenir of a fantastic gig.

DANNY BREEN, IRELAND

When I was a teenager in Dublin I loved dance music and wanted to become a famous DJ. I practised for hours every day in my bedroom and I used to DJ at friends' parties. Then I moved to London and got a job working behind the bar at a club called Dreamworld. One Saturday night the main DJ didn't turn up and the manager asked me to play instead. Twenty minutes later I was standing in front of 1,000 people! I was incredibly nervous, but as soon as I started playing the first track I began to relax. All the clubbers were dancing and having a good time – it was the best feeling in the world. While I was playing my last track, the manager came over and congratulated me. I gave up DJing later that year because I broke my arm, but I'll never forget that amazing night!

4 a Read about Nikki and Danny again. Answer these questions.

- 1 When did Nikki see Lady Gaga live?
- 2 Where did Nikki and her boyfriend sit?
- 3 How long was Lady Gaga onstage?
- 4 What did her boyfriend want to do with the shoe?
- 5 Where did Danny first start DJing?
- 6 Where did he work when he moved to London?
- 7 Why did his manager ask him to DJ in the club?
- 8 Why did Danny give up DJing?

HELP WITH GRAMMAR Past Simple and Past Continuous, used to 5 a Look at the phrases in bold in the texts.

Match the verb forms in blue to these meanings. There are two verb forms for each meaning.

- We use the Past Simple for:
  - a single completed action in the past. bought
  - a repeated action or habit in the past.
  - a state in the past.
- We use the Past Continuous for:
  - an action in progress at a point of time in the past. was living
  - the background events of a story.
  - an action in progress when another (shorter) action happened.
- b How do we make the positive, negative and question forms of the Past Simple and Past Continuous?
- c Check in GRAMMAR 4.1 p136.

6 a Look at sentences a–d. Then answer questions 1–3.

- I used to go to a lot of gigs.
- I listened to her second album all the time.
- I was one of Lady Gaga's biggest fans.
- That night she sang for over two hours.

- 1 Which sentences talk about repeated actions, habits or states in the past?
- 2 Can we use used to in sentences b, c or d? Why?/Why not?
- 3 Which verb form comes after used to?

b How do we make the positive, negative and question forms of used to?

c Check in GRAMMAR 4.2 p137.

7 CD1 > 30 PRONUNCIATION Listen and practise. Copy the stress and weak forms.

she threw her shoes into the crowd → While she was /wəz/ doing an encore, she threw her shoes into the crowd.

8 a Read about Sophie. What was her best ever musical experience?

SOPHIE TAYLOR, UK When I <sup>1</sup>was /was being younger I <sup>2</sup>played/was playing the guitar, but I <sup>3</sup>didn't use to like/didn't like it very much. Then my aunt <sup>4</sup>gave/was giving me a violin for my 14th birthday. I <sup>5</sup>had/used to have violin lessons every week and I <sup>6</sup>was loving/loved learning how to play a new instrument. Last year I <sup>7</sup>joined/was joining the school orchestra and in March we <sup>8</sup>won/used to win a music competition in our city. The prize <sup>9</sup>was/used to be the opportunity to play at the Schools Prom at the Albert Hall in London! The big night finally <sup>10</sup>used to arrive/arrived, and while we <sup>11</sup>waited/were waiting to go onstage I <sup>12</sup>started/used to start shaking because I was so nervous! But as soon as we <sup>13</sup>got/were getting onstage I <sup>14</sup>used to begin/began to relax and enjoy myself. When we <sup>15</sup>played/were playing the last piece of music I <sup>16</sup>noticed/was noticing my mum and dad in the audience. They both <sup>17</sup>looked/used to look very proud!

b Read about Sophie again. Choose the correct verb forms. Sometimes both verb forms are possible.

c Work in pairs. Compare answers.

9 a Make questions with you and these words. Use a form of used to if possible.

- 1 Who / be / your best friend when you were 12?
- 2 Where / first meet him or her?
- 3 / like the same music?
- 4 / go to gigs together?
- 5 / buy the same singles or albums?
- 6 / like the same TV programmes?
- 7 When / last see him or her?

b Work in new pairs. Ask and answer the questions in 9a.

Vocabulary and Speaking

Adjectives (2): character

1 a Work in pairs. Which of these character adjectives do you know? Then check new words in VOCABULARY 4.2 p135.

adventurous talented sensible sensitive brave determined reliable independent organised stubborn ambitious confident practical generous mean responsible aggressive optimistic pessimistic

b Think of four people you know. Choose adjectives from 1a to describe them. Think of reasons why you chose those adjectives.

c Work in pairs. Take turns to tell your partner about the people you know. Who do you think is the most interesting?

My friend Gregory is very talented.
He's a designer and he works ...

Listening and Speaking

2 Work in new pairs. Discuss these questions.

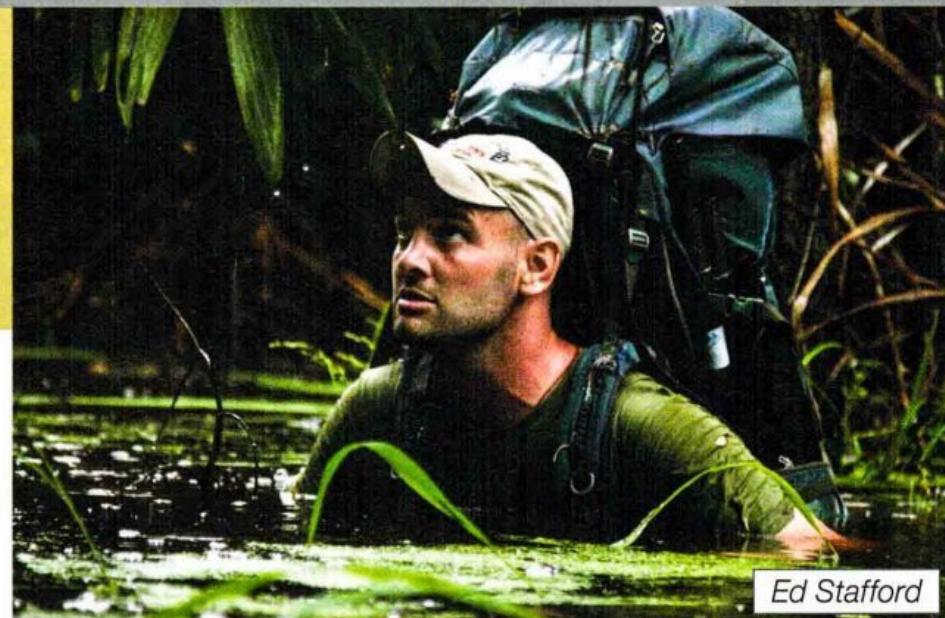

- What's the most adventurous thing you've ever done?
- Are there any famous adventurers from your country? If so, what do you know about them?
- Look at the photos and the map. Why do you think the two men look so happy?

3 a Before you listen, check these words/phrases with your teacher or in a dictionary.

a jungle an expedition insect repellent an ant a wasp a scorpion a sting a marathon

b CD1 31 Listen to a conversation between two TV producers, Paul and Josie. Answer these questions.

- What is the first episode of Josie's new TV series about?
- What problems did Ed Stafford have on the journey?
- How did his friends and family know where he was?
- What did he do when he got home?

4 a Work in pairs. Can you remember what Paul and Josie said about these numbers and people?

a 2010	d 68 days	g 200,000
b 2½ years	e Cho	h 600, 12
c Luke Collyer	f 6,000 miles	i 27 hours

HELP WITH GRAMMAR Past Perfect

5 a Look at the verb forms in bold in these sentences. Then answer the questions.

Cho joined the expedition after Luke had gone back to the UK. He also read messages that people had sent him. Ed calculated that he'd walked about 6,000 miles.

- Which action happened first in each sentence?
- Which action happened second?
- Which verbs are in the Past Simple?
- Which verbs are in the Past Perfect?

b Choose the correct word in the rule.

When there is more than one action in the past, we often use the Past Perfect for the action that happened first/second.

c Look at these two sentences. What is the difference in meaning?

1 When I turned on the TV, the programme started.
2 When I turned on the TV, the programme had started.

d Fill in the gaps for the Past Perfect with hadn't, had or past participle.

POSITIVE subject + _____ or 'd + past participle

NEGATIVE subject + _____ + _____

e Check in GRAMMAR 4.3 p137.

Past Simple or Past Perfect

8 a CD1 33 Listen to these sentences. Notice the difference between the Past Simple and the Past Perfect.

1 I finished work.	I'd finished work.
2 He left home.	He'd left home.
3 My parents bought it.	My parents had bought it.
4 Nick worked there.	Nick had worked there.

b CD1 34 Listen to six pairs of sentences. Which do you hear first: the Past Simple (PS) or the Past Perfect (PP)?

9 a Read about the swimmer Martin Strel. What is his connection to Ed Stafford?

b Read about Martin Strel again. Put the verbs in brackets in the Past Simple or Past Perfect.

c CD1 35 Listen and check your answers.

BIG RIVER MAN

Martin Strel – or Big River Man, as he is often called – is a long-distance swimmer from Slovenia. Martin <sup>1</sup> taught (teach) himself to swim when he was six, and in 1997 he <sup>2</sup> become (become) the first man to swim from Africa to Europe by crossing the Mediterranean Sea. Seven people <sup>3</sup> already try (already try) to complete this swim without success. In 2002 Strel <sup>4</sup> swim (swim) the length of the Mississippi, which <sup>5</sup> take (take) him 68 days. The year before that he <sup>6</sup> break (break) the world non-stop record by swimming for 84 hours and 10 minutes without stopping. But he's probably best known as the man who <sup>7</sup> swim (swim) the length of the Amazon in 2007, something nobody <sup>8</sup> ever do (ever do) before. He <sup>9</sup> travel (travel) 5,268 km and <sup>10</sup> swim (swim) for over 10 hours a day. By the time he <sup>11</sup> arrive (arrive) at Belém, in Brazil, he <sup>12</sup> be (be) in the water for 66 days. He now runs an adventure swimming holiday company with his son in Slovenia.

Get ready ... Get it right!

10 Work in groups. Look at p114.

QUICK REVIEW Past Perfect Write two things you had done, or had learned to do, by the time you were 5, 10 and 15 years old. Work in pairs. Talk about the things on your list. By the time I was five, I'd learned how to ride a bike. Did you talk about any of the same things?

Speaking and Reading

- Make a list of the five best museums, art galleries or famous buildings for tourists to visit in your country.
  - Work in pairs. If you're from the same country, decide on the top five places from both lists. If you're from different countries, take turns to tell your partner about the places on your list.
- Work in new pairs. Look at photos A–E. What can you see in each photo?
  - Read the article. Match photos A–E to the museums in the article.
  - Read the article again. Answer these questions.
  - In which two places can you see the Museum of Bad Art?
  - Who was Imelda Marcos and how many shoes did she have?
  - How can you explore the Cancún Underwater Museum?
  - Why is the Miniatur Wunderland 'huge and tiny at the same time'?
  - What can you see at the Hamburger Museum?
- Work in pairs. Compare answers. Which museum would you most like to visit? Why?

The world's weirdest museums

If you're bored of traditional museums, then perhaps it's time to try something new. Matthew Clifford visits some of the strangest museums on the planet.

Have you ever wandered around a famous art gallery looking at paintings by well-known artists and secretly thought they were dreadful? Well, perhaps you should check out the Museum of Bad Art in Massachusetts, USA. It's the only museum in the world that celebrates bad art in all its forms. From blue-faced people to surreal landscapes, nothing is too bizarre for this museum (which you can also visit online).

If fashion is more your thing, then you might want to visit the Marikina Shoe Museum in the Philippines. The highlight of this museum is Imelda Marcos's massive shoe collection. When her husband was President she famously owned over 3,000 pairs of shoes, and 749 pairs are now displayed in the museum. Oh, and there's also a giant high-heeled shoe you can drive around like a car.

Another unusual day out is the Cancún Underwater Museum off the coast of Mexico. It was created by an English artist named Jason deCaires Taylor, who placed about 300 life-size concrete sculptures of real people on the seabed. You need to be able to dive or snorkel to explore the museum, or you can hire a glass-bottomed boat. The sight of brightly-coloured tropical fish swimming between the sculptures, which appear to be frozen in time, is absolutely breathtaking.

In the days before video games, boys used to spend their free time playing with toy trains. Ask your grandad – or better still, take him to visit the largest miniature railway museum in the world. The Miniatur Wunderland in Hamburg, Germany, is huge and tiny at the same time. It has 13,000 metres of track, 930 trains with over 14,000 carriages, 300,000 lights, 228,000 trees and 215,000 human figures. It's an impressive sight – and they haven't finished building it yet!

Are you feeling a bit peckish? If so, perhaps the Hamburger Museum at Daytona Beach, Florida, is the place for you. There are burger-shaped biscuit jars, clocks, hats, music boxes, pencil holders, children's toys, and much more. The museum was set up by a man called Hamburger Harry, who has collected over 1,000 burger-related items. The best exhibit is probably the bed that's shaped like a giant cheeseburger – or perhaps it's the hamburger-shaped Harley-Davidson motorbike!

HELP WITH VOCABULARY

Guessing meaning from context

3 a Look at the words in blue in the article. What parts of speech are they? Do you know a similar word in your language or another language you know?

b Choose the correct meanings, a or b. What information in the article helped you decide?

1 wandered	a walked around slowly	b walked around quickly
2 well-known	a common	b famous
3 bizarre	a expensive	b strange
4 highlight	a most interesting part	b biggest part
5 appear	a want	b seem
6 carriages	a parts of a train that people travel in	b the people who drive trains
7 peckish	a a bit thirsty	b a bit hungry
8 set up	a started	b bought

c Work in pairs. Look at the words in pink in the article. What part of speech are they? Can you guess what they mean?

d Check in VOCABULARY 4.3 p136.

Listening and Speaking

4 a Work in groups. Where can you go for a free day out in the town or city you're in now?

b CD1 36 Listen to a radio programme about free days out in London. Put these things in the order they are discussed.

- radio and TV programmes
- city farms
- the Houses of Parliament
- free music
- a trial at the Old Bailey
- downloadable walking tours
- museums and art galleries

c Listen again. Tick the true sentences. Correct the false ones.

- 1 It's free to visit the British Museum.
- 2 You need to take a map when you follow a downloadable walking tour.
- 3 You can see free opera at lunchtime on Sundays.
- 4 You can get tickets online to see a TV programme being recorded.
- 5 You can go on a tour of the Houses of Parliament for free.
- 6 You need some ID to get into the Old Bailey.
- 7 You can't feed the animals at city farms.

d Work in pairs. Compare answers. Which of the free activities discussed on the programme would you like to do? Why?

HELP WITH LISTENING

Linking (2): /w/, /j/ and /r/ sounds

- When a word ends in a vowel sound and the next word also starts with a vowel sound, we often link these words with a /w/, /j/ or /r/ sound.

word ends in	linking sound
/u:/ /əu/ /au/	/w/
/i/ /i:/ /ai/	/j/
/ə/ /ɜ:/ /ɔ:/ /eə/	/r/

5 a CD1 37 Listen to these sentences from the radio programme. Notice the linking sounds.

To w/a lot of people, London appears to be j/a very j/a expensive city to visit.

There r/are r/ actually j/a a lot of things you can do w/in the city for free.

My favourite is the tour r/of the j/area r/around London Bridge.

And you can also go w/and see j/a a radio w/or TV programme being recorded.

b Look at Audio Script CD1 36 p160. Listen to the programme again and notice the linking sounds.

6 a Think of a free time activity you've done recently. Choose one of these ideas or your own. Then make notes on what happened that day.

a museum an art gallery
the cinema the theatre the zoo the countryside the beach a party a sports event visiting friends

b Work in groups. Take turns to tell each other about your free time activity. Try to talk for at least one minute. Which was the most interesting story, do you think?

QUICK REVIEW Character adjectives Write eight character adjectives. Then work in pairs and compare lists. Use adjectives from both lists to describe people you know.

1 Work in groups. Discuss these questions.

- 1 Do you, or people you know, support a football team? If so, why did you/they choose that team?
- 2 Do football fans ever get into fights in your country? If so, why?
- 3 Do you think footballers earn too much?

2 a VIDEO 4 CD1 38 Look at the photo. Then watch or listen to the conversation. Why don't Rebecca and Lisa like football very much?

b Work in pairs. Try to write the correct names in these sentences.

- 1 Rebecca isn't very keen on football.
- 2 _____ says there was more football violence when he was younger.
- 3 _____ thinks footballers are paid too much.
- 4 _____ says that football is part of the entertainment industry.
- 5 _____ thinks footballers are badly behaved.
- 6 _____ says football isn't a matter of life and death – it's much more important than that.
- 7 _____ gives Harry a Manchester United shirt.

c Watch or listen again. Check your answers.

REAL WORLD

Softening opinions and making generalisations

- Sometimes English speakers soften their opinions so that they don't sound rude or offensive.

3 a Match 1–6 to a–f.

- 1 Some of them can be
- 2 On the whole, most
- 3 Footballers tend to earn
- 4 That's not very
- 5 Generally speaking,
- 6 Perhaps some people can

- a sensible behaviour, is it?
- b rather a lot of money.
- c quite aggressive at times.
- d fans just want to see a good game.
- e take it a bit too seriously.
- f most footballers are just normal people.

b Look at the sentences in 3a again. Choose the correct words/phrases in these rules.

- After tend to we use the infinitive/verb+ing.
- Rather, quite, not very and a bit usually come before/after an adjective.
- We often put generally speaking and on the whole at the beginning/end of a sentence.

c Look at these sentences. Then answer the questions.

A That's stupid behaviour.
B That's not very sensible behaviour.

- 1 Which sentence is softer and more polite?
- 2 Do we use not very with positive or negative adjectives?

d Check in REAL WORLD 4.1 p137.

4 CD1 39 PRONUNCIATION Listen and practise the sentences in 3a. Copy the stress.

Some of them can be quite aggressive at times.

5 a Use the words/phrases in brackets to soften these opinions about children.

- 1 Children don't do enough sport. (On the whole; most)
On the whole, most children don't do enough sport.
- 2 They're very stubborn. (Perhaps; tend to; a bit)
- 3 They're rude to their teachers. (can; quite; at times)
- 4 They're very unhealthy. (some of them; not very)
- 5 They watch a lot of TV. (On the whole; tend to; quite)
- 6 They're impatient. (Generally speaking; not very)
- 7 They're selfish. (Some of them; can; rather; at times)
- 8 They spend too much time playing video games.
(Perhaps; some of them; a bit)

b Work in pairs. Compare sentences. Do you agree with the sentences you have written? Why?/Why not?

6 a Work on your own. Think of reasons why you tend to agree or disagree with these sentences. Decide how you can use language in 3a to soften your opinions.

- 1 Men watch too much sport.
- 2 Men are better at sport than women.
- 3 Teenagers are lazy and sleep too much.
- 4 Fast food is very bad for your health.
- 5 People don't care enough about the environment.
- 6 Students always cheat in exams.

b Work in groups. Discuss the sentences in 6a.

c Tell the class which sentences everyone in your group agreed or disagreed with.

HELP WITH PRONUNCIATION

b CD1 41 Listen and check. Listen again and practise.

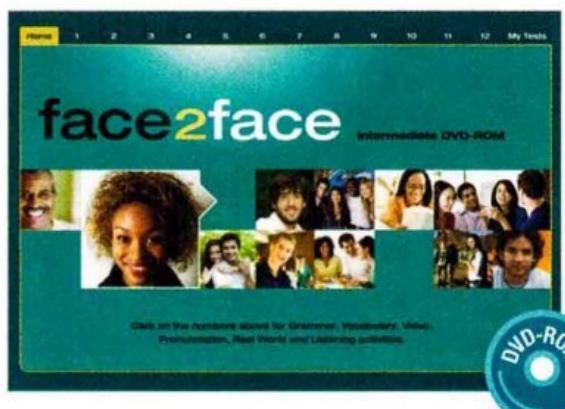

3 Work in pairs. Take turns to say these sentences.

- 1 Unfortunately it wasn't the correct information.
- 2 The enormous stubborn gorilla is still snoring.
- 3 He's a boring workaholic, but he's very organised.
- 4 After he got divorced, things got worse and worse.
- 5 Don't forget to wear a uniform in the morning.
- 6 How much is that gorgeous motorbike worth?
- 7 This is the worst homework in the world!

HELP WITH GRAMMAR

Making comparisons

5 a Look at the words/phrases in blue in the sentences in 4a. Then answer these questions.

- 1 Which are comparatives?
- 2 Which are superlatives?
- 3 When do we use -er or -est?
- 4 When do we use more or most?
- 5 Which comparatives and superlatives are irregular?
- 6 What are the opposites of more and most?

TIP • We can also use more or most with nouns:
It's got more space. It's got the most rooms.

b Look at the words in pink in the sentences in 4a. Which mean: a big difference? a small difference?

c Look at the phrases in bold in these sentences. Then answer the questions.

It's the same size as our house.

It's not as big as the other two places.

It was different from anything else we've seen.

It's as small as the one we've got now.

It's very similar to where we live now.

- 1 Which phrases mean the things we are comparing are: the same? nearly the same? not the same?
- 2 Do we use the adjective or its comparative form with (not) as ... as?

d Check in GRAMMAR 5.1 p139.

6 CD1 43 PRONUNCIATION Listen and practise. Copy the stress and weak forms.

It seemed slightly bigger than /ðən/ where we live now.

*It's not as /əz/ big as /əz/ the other two places.

7 Fill in the gaps with the comparative or superlative forms of the adjectives in brackets. Use the where necessary.

The terraced house in Bishopston is:

- 1 the smallest (small) of the three properties.
- 2 _____ (near) to the shops than the flat.
- 3 _____ (expensive) of the three properties.

The detached house in Redland is:

- 4 in a _____ (busy) street than the terraced house.
- 5 much _____ (attractive) than the flat.
- 6 _____ (far) from the city centre.

The top-floor flat in Hotwells is:

- 7 a lot _____ (bright) inside than the two houses.
- 8 _____ (modern) of the three properties.
- 9 in _____ (friendly) neighbourhood in the city.

8 a Rewrite these sentences with the words in brackets.

- 1 Her flat is more spacious than mine. (not as ... as)

My flat isn't as spacious as hers.

- 2 I'm not as organised as her. (more)

- 3 I don't look the same as her. (different)

- 4 Her taste in music is almost the same as mine. (similar)

- 5 I'm a bit more confident than her. (less)

- 6 I'm more ambitious than her. (not as ... as)

- 7 I'm much less stubborn than her. (more)

- 8 We're the same age. (as ... as) b Choose a woman or girl you know well. Tick sentences in 8a that are true for you and her.

c Work in pairs. Tell your partner about the woman or girl you chose. Use sentences from 8a.

Get ready ... Get it right!

9 Choose three houses or flats that you know well. Write six sentences to compare these homes. Use the language in 5 and these ideas.

- location and size of house/flat
- size of rooms/balcony/garden
- age and condition of house/flat
- distance from shops/centre/station
- type of neighbourhood
- your own ideas

My friend Julia's house is a bit larger than mine.

My sister's flat is a lot closer to the city centre.

My grandparents' flat is probably the oldest.

10 a Work in pairs. Tell your partner about the houses or flats you chose. Ask follow-up questions.

b Tell the class two interesting things about the homes you talked about.

QUICK REVIEW Making comparisons Write the names of five people in your family. Think of how you can compare these people to yourself and other people in your family. Work in pairs. Take turns to tell your partner about the people.

Reading, Vocabulary and Speaking

Phrasal verbs (2)

1 a Work in pairs. Which of these words do you know? Check new words with your teacher or in a dictionary.

get rid of    keep    stuff    junk a drawer    a cupboard    a pile

b Read the article. Tick the true sentences. Correct the false ones.

- 1 The article tells you how to get rid of junk.
- 2 You need about an hour for each room.
- 3 You should put things in three piles.
- 4 Put things you don't want in a junk drawer.
- 5 Don't buy things if you've got something similar.

c What do you think of the advice in the article? Do you need to do this in your home?

2 Work in pairs. Guess the meaning of the phrasal verbs in bold in the article. Check in VOCABULARY 5.2 p138.

Just get rid of it!

Is your home full of stuff that you never use? If so, the time has come to get rid of all your junk and create a peaceful, relaxed atmosphere in your home.

- Give yourself at least two hours to clear out a room.
- Make a space on the floor and empty all the cupboards and drawers.
- Sort out the things you haven't used for six months and make three piles: things to give away, things to throw away, things to keep.
- Put the first and second piles into separate rubbish bags and take them out of the room.
- Allow yourself one junk drawer in each room for the stuff you can't decide about.
- Tidy up the room and put everything away, then sit down and enjoy the calm space you have created.

And here's how to stop all your junk coming back.

- Before you buy anything, ask yourself: Have I got something similar? Do I need it? Where will I put it?
- When you buy something new, always throw out something else.
- Go through the cupboards and drawers in a different room every month and throw away anything you don't need.

3 Work in pairs. Student A p103. Student B p108.

Listening and Speaking

4 a Work in pairs. Look at the picture. Tim and Jo are moving house. What is in piles 1–3?

b Work in the same pairs. Which pile do you think Tim and Jo are going to: give away? throw away? keep?

c CD1 44 Listen and check your answers to 4b.

5 a Work in pairs. Match these sentences to things A–E in the picture.

- 1 He's picking it up tomorrow evening after work.
- 2 Yes, you're probably right. OK, I'll throw those away.
- 3 I'm going to sort out the rest of them at the weekend.
- 4 But you'll never listen to them again.
- 5 It's twenty years old! It's going to break the first time she uses it.

b CD1 44 Listen again and check.

HELP WITH GRAMMAR

The future

6 a Look at sentences 1–3 in 5a. Then fill in the gaps in these rules with will, be going to or the Present Continuous.

- We use _____ when we decide to do something at the time of speaking.
- We use _____ when we already have a plan or an intention to do something.
- We use _____ when we have an arrangement with another person.

b Look at sentences 4 and 5 in 5a. Then choose the correct verb forms in these rules.

- We use will/be going to for a prediction that is based on present evidence (something we can see now).
- We use will/be going to for a prediction that is a personal opinion and is not based on present evidence.
- How do we make the positive, negative and question forms of will and be going to?
- Check in GRAMMAR 5.2 p140.

HELP WITH LISTENING Future verb forms

7 a CD1 45 Listen and write the sentences you hear. You will hear each sentence twice.

b Listen again to sentences 1 and 2. What are the two ways we can say going to?

c Work in pairs. Match the sentences you wrote in 7a to rules a–e in 6a and 6b.

8 CD1 46 PRONUNCIATION Listen again and practise. Copy the stress.

9 a Read the rest of Tim and Jo's conversation. What are they going to: give away? throw away? keep?

JO What about these curtains? Shall we give them to your brother?

TIM Sorry, but I don't think <sup>1</sup>he'll use/he's using them.

JO OK, <sup>2</sup>I'm throwing/I'll throw them away. They're really old anyway.

TIM And what about your guitar?

JO Barry wants that. <sup>3</sup>He's coming/He'll come to pick it up on Friday.

TIM Right, <sup>4</sup>I'll put/I'm going to put it in the 'give away' pile.

JO Do you want to keep your old trainers?

TIM Yes, definitely. <sup>5</sup>I'm starting/I'm going to start running again soon.

JO Yeah, right. Shall we keep this mirror? <sup>6</sup>It's looking/It'll look nice in the new house.

TIM Yes, why not? Oh, is it half past three already? Don't forget <sup>7</sup>we're meeting/we'll meet the estate agent at four.

JO You go. <sup>8</sup>I'm finishing/I'll finish sorting out this stuff.

b Read the conversation again. Choose the correct verb forms.

c CD1 47 Listen and check. What does Jo do when Tim leaves?

10 a Write two things you have arranged to do, two things you have planned to do and two things you will probably do in the next four weeks.

b Work in groups. Tell each other your ideas. Who's going to have the busiest or the most interesting four weeks?

Get ready ... Get it right!

11 Make a list of six things in your home that you want to get rid of. Use these ideas or your own.

CDs	video games	electrical equipment
DVDs	toys	books	computer equipment clothes	furniture	sports equipment

12 a Try to sell or give away your things to other students. Each person has £50 to spend. Write who agrees to buy or take each thing.

Do you want to buy my MP3 player?

Maybe. I'll give you £10 for it.

b Work in groups. Tell other students about the things on your list. Who made the most money?

QUICK REVIEW be going to Work in pairs. Find five things you're going to do next weekend that your partner isn't going to do: A Are you going to have a lie-in on Sunday? B No, probably not.

Speaking, Reading and Vocabulary

1 Work in groups. Discuss these questions.

- 1 How do people celebrate birthdays in your country?
- 2 When's your birthday? What are the advantages and disadvantages of having a birthday at that time of the year?
- 3 Where were you on your last birthday? What did you do?

2 a Before you read, check these words with your teacher or in a dictionary.

a candle    shine    seaweed    blindfold    a donkey    a stick

b Work in pairs. Look at photos A–E. What do you know about these birthday traditions?

c Read the article. Put the photos in the order they are discussed.

3 a Read the article again. Answer these questions.

- 1 Why are birthday cakes round and why do we put candles on them?
- 2 How much does Time-Warner earn from Happy Birthday to You every year?
- 3 What do people eat on their birthdays in China and Korea?
- 4 Why did people send birthday cards a hundred years ago?
- 5 What does a piñata usually look like and how do you get the sweets out of it?
- 6 What happens on Tet in Vietnam?

b Work in pairs. Compare answers. Which things in the article did you find the most interesting or surprising?

Happy birthday to you!

Margaret Robson investigates the origins of birthday traditions around the world.

For many people, you can't celebrate your birthday without a birthday cake. These have been common in Western countries since the 15th century, but people have been making them for over 2,000 years. It was the Ancient Greeks who decided to make the cakes round so that they look like the full moon. They also put candles on the cakes to make them shine like the moon. Nowadays parents tell their children to make a wish before they blow out the candles (one candle for each year, of course). In China they have small birthday cakes called sou bao, which are the same shape and colour as a peach, while in Korea, the traditional birthday food isn't cake, but seaweed soup.

In most English-speaking countries, people start singing Happy Birthday to You before the cake is cut. This is the most recognised song in the English language, but it isn't as old as you might think. It first appeared in print in 1912 and was bought by The Time-Warner Company for $5 million in 1998. The company earns over $2 million from public performances of the song every year.

Everyone likes getting birthday cards, of course, but this is also a fairly new tradition. People only began sending birthday cards about 100 years ago if they couldn't come to a person's birthday party or if they didn't remember to send a present. The British love sending birthday cards – they send about 800 million every year – but in places like Spain, sending cards still isn't very common.

For a lot of people who live in Latin America, the piñata is central to birthday celebrations. A piñata is a container, usually in the shape of a donkey, filled with sweets and hung from a tree. The birthday person is blindfolded and then tries to hit the piñata with a stick. The person keeps hitting the piñata until it breaks open and the sweets fall to the ground.

Interestingly, not everyone celebrates their birthday on the day they were born. In Vietnam, everyone celebrates their birthday on New Year's Day – or Tet, as it's called in Vietnamese. On the first morning of Tet, adults give children a red envelope containing 'lucky money' to help them celebrate becoming one year older.

Whatever your country's traditions, a birthday should always be a special day. So I hope you enjoy yourself next time someone asks you to go to a birthday party – and don't forget to buy them a present!

HELP WITH VOCABULARY

Verb patterns (1)

4 a Look at the verbs in bold in the article. Underline the verb form that follows them. Then write the infinitive form of the verbs in bold in the table.

start + verb+ing decide + infinitive with to can + infinitive tell + object + infinitive with to make + object + infinitive

b Write these verbs in the table in 4a. Some verbs can go in more than one place.

enjoy need allow would finish teach let would like will want mind plan prefer must hate continue learn pay seem would rather

c Check in VOCABULARY 5.3 p139.

5 Work in pairs. Student A p103. Student B p108.

Listening and Speaking

6 a CD1 48 Listen to four people talking about their most memorable birthdays. Which person:

- 1 got a very unusual card on his/her birthday?
- 2 was very happy to have his/her own birthday cake?
- 3 met someone special at his/her birthday party?
- 4 had three million people at his/her birthday party?

b Work in pairs. Compare answers. Explain why each person's birthday was so memorable.

HELP WITH LISTENING Fillers and false starts

- In spoken English we often use fillers (well, you know, um, etc.) and false starts (I've ... I've been, etc.) to give us time to think.

7 a Underline the fillers and false starts in these sentences.

- 1 So it's ... I mean, it's always a bit strange because people kind of forget about my birthday.
- 2 You see, my husband died um thirteen years ago, but er you know life goes on, doesn't it?
- 3 I never ... um I didn't enjoy birthdays very much when I was a kid because you know I always had to like share it with my sister.
- 4 Well, I don't like ... er I hate getting older, so I just sort of pretend that it's a normal day.

b Look at Audio Script CD1 48 p162. Listen to Ashley and Jean and notice all the fillers and false starts. Then listen to Ruby and Stuart and underline all the fillers and false starts.

8 a Think about your most memorable birthday. Make notes on these things.

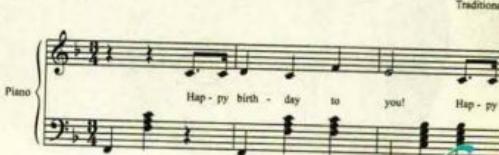

- where you were that day
- who you spent your birthday with
- what you did during the day and in the evening
- what you had to eat and drink
- what presents you got
- why your birthday was so memorable
- any other things that made the birthday special b Work in groups. Tell each other about your memorable birthdays. Which do you think is the most interesting?

c Tell the class about one of your group's memorable birthdays.

E Happy Birthday

QUICK REVIEW Verb patterns (1) Choose four of these phrases and write sentences about you: I'd like, I keep, I forgot, I might, I started, I'm planning, I've decided, I often help, I usually let. Work in pairs. Take turns to say your sentences. Ask follow-up questions.

11 Work in groups of three. Student A p103. Student B p108. Student C p113.

QUICK REVIEW make and do Write four phrases with make or do that are connected to you, or people you know. Work in pairs. Tell your partner why you chose these phrases. Ask follow-up questions: A I chose 'do exercise' because I go running quite a lot.
B How far do you run?

Speaking and Reading

1 Work in groups. Discuss these questions.

- When you were a child, what did your parents make you do? What did they let you do? Talk about these things and your own ideas: helping in the home, going out on your own, free time activities, toys and games, birthdays, homework, etc.
- Do you think parents worry too much about how well their children do at school? Why?/Why not?

2 a Before you read, check these words/phrases with your teacher or in a dictionary.

success failure develop praise make an effort good grades

b Read the article. Which sentence describes the article best?

- Children's results at school are the most important thing.
- Praise the effort that children make, not the grades they get.
- Only clever children will be successful in life.

c Read the article again. Answer these questions.

- What do pushy parents want their children to do?
- What does Graeme Atkins think children also learn at school?
- Why does Sarah Vine think parents shouldn't criticise children for not getting good grades?
- What problems can children who are frightened of failure have in the future?

d Work in pairs. Compare answers.

How to Measure Success

As everybody knows, <sup>1</sup>if you have children, you want them to be happy and successful. These days children are under more pressure than ever to do well at school, but is this helping or damaging our kids? We read a lot of stories these days about pushy parents who make their children study all the time so that they can get into the best universities. This means children spend most of their free time studying by themselves to please their parents. However, the latest research suggests that this approach can do more harm than good.

<sup>2</sup>If children study all the time, they don't develop in other ways, says Graeme Atkins, a child psychologist. "School isn't only about learning in class – it's also about learning how to get on with other children and how to become part of society. <sup>3</sup>If parents want their children to be happy, they shouldn't put too much pressure on them. It's important that they are allowed to enjoy themselves."

It's also important how parents deal with success and failure. "One of the worst things that a parent could do is to praise their child for getting an A," says Sarah Vine, a child education counsellor. <sup>4</sup>If you want to help your children, praise the effort they make – not the grades they get. Not every child can be top of the class, but <sup>5</sup>if you criticise children for not getting good grades, they can feel like they're failures – and that can lead to psychological problems when they become adults. We should also encourage children to work things out themselves, but in many classrooms a lot of students are scared of answering questions in case they get them wrong."

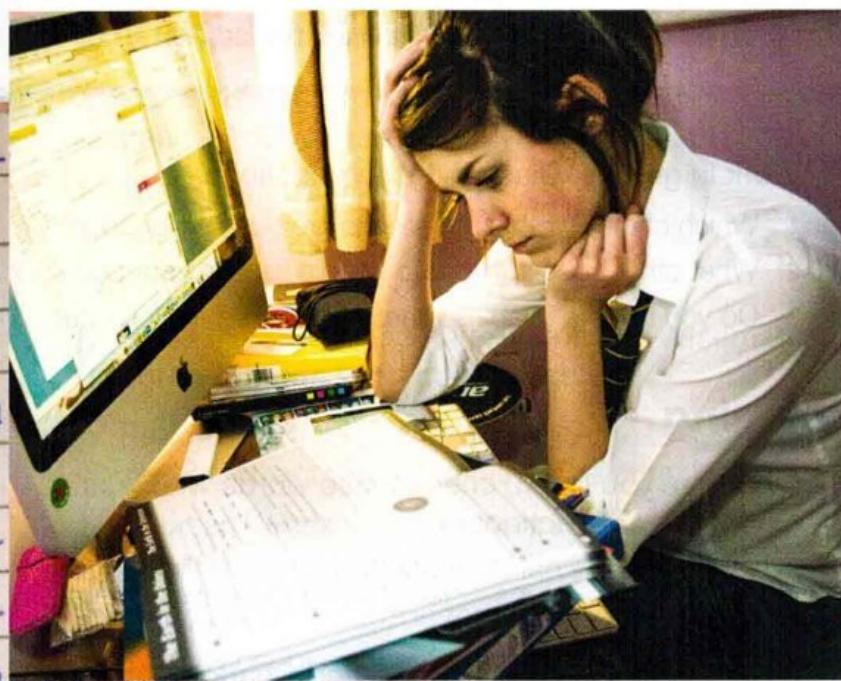

So perhaps parents should worry less about their children's grades and instead just encourage them to try hard at everything they do. As we all know, making mistakes is part of the learning process, but it seems that children who are frightened of failure will find it harder to be happy and successful in life.

HELP WITH GRAMMAR Zero conditional; conditionals with imperatives and modal verbs; in case

- a Look at sentences 1 and 2 in bold in the article. These are called zero conditionals. Choose the correct words in these rules.
  - Zero conditionals talk about things that are possible in the future/always true.
  - In zero conditionals both verbs are in the Present Simple/a future verb form.
- b Look at sentences 3–5 in the article. Answer these questions.
  - Which sentences have a modal verb in the main clause?
  - Which sentence has an imperative in the main clause?
  - Which verb form is in the if clause in each sentence?
- c Look at this sentence from the article. Then choose the correct words/phrases in the rules.

Students are scared of answering questions in case they get them wrong.

  - We use in case to talk about something that might/is definitely going to happen.
  - In case* and if have the same/different meanings.
- d Check in GRAMMAR 6.3 p142.

4 CD2 > 7 PRONUNCIATION Listen and practise. Copy the stress.

HELP WITH VOCABULARY

Reflexive pronouns

7 a Look at sentences a–c from the article. Notice the reflexive pronouns in bold. Then choose the correct words/phrases in the rules.

- a It's important that they are allowed to enjoy themselves.
- b This means children spend most of their free time studying by themselves.
- c We should also encourage children to work things out themselves.
- In sentence a, They and themselves are the same/different people.
- In sentence b, by themselves means with other people/alone.
- In sentence c, themselves emphasises that children do this with/instead of someone else.
- b What are the reflexive pronouns for I, you (singular), he, she, it, we, you (plural) and they?
- c Check in VOCABULARY 6.2 p141.

8 Fill in the gaps with the correct reflexive pronoun.

- I made my daughter's jumper myself.
- My son likes playing by himself.
- We want to educate our children themselves.
- Deborah looks after three children by herself.
- I usually cut the kids' hair myself.
- The party was great. All the kids enjoyed themselves.

The secrets of luck

In June 1980, Maureen Wilcox became one of the US lottery's biggest losers. She chose the winning numbers for both the Rhode Island and Massachusetts lotteries. But unfortunately for her, the numbers she picked for the Rhode Island lottery were the correct ones for the Massachusetts lottery, and vice versa.

Dr Richard Wiseman

We all know lucky people – they have good relationships, successful careers and are very satisfied with their lives. But what makes them so lucky? Dr Richard Wiseman has been studying luck for over ten years and has found that lucky people have a completely different approach to the world.

FOUR WAYS TO BE LUCKY

The results of his work revealed that people aren't born lucky. Instead, fortunate people behave in a way that creates good luck in their lives.

- They notice opportunities that happen by chance more often than unlucky people. They also meet more new people and have more new experiences.
- They tend to make good decisions by listening to their intuition.
- They're optimistic and are certain that the future is going to be full of good luck. This positive attitude often makes good things happen.
- They're also good at coping with bad luck and often cheer themselves up by imagining things could be worse than they are.

LUCK SCHOOL

Dr Wiseman tested his ideas by starting a luck school, where he hoped that unlucky people could learn to be lucky. 400 volunteers spent a month doing exercises to help them think and act like a lucky person. These exercises helped the volunteers spot opportunities that happen accidentally, trust their intuition more, feel sure they're going to be lucky and become better at dealing with bad luck. The results were dramatic and showed that 80% of the volunteers were now happier and more content with their lives – and most important of all, luckier.

Dr Wiseman's ideas won't help you win the lottery, but they might help you in your day-to-day life – fingers crossed!

www.haveago.com/contestants

Have a go! is a new reality TV show where members of the public have just four weeks to learn a new skill before they perform live in front of a studio audience. Here's how last week's contestants felt about the experience.

Vicky, opera singer
 Four weeks ago I didn't have a clue how to sing opera. I'd never sung in public in my life, apart from karaoke, and I'd never dreamed of singing onstage. Luckily I had a fabulous teacher, Irene, who's been an opera singer for over twenty years. She's very good at encouraging people and I was determined to make the most of the opportunity. At first I found it impossible to breathe and sing at the same time, but the more I practised, the better I got. The hardest part was learning the words, which were in Italian! I was useless at learning languages at school and I was terrified of forgetting the words. Fortunately I was able to give a good performance – and I couldn't believe it when they told me I'd won! It shows that if you put a lot of effort into something, you can achieve your goals.

Ben, magician
 I used to love magic when I was a kid, but I had no idea how to do any magic tricks. So when I had the opportunity to become a magician I jumped at the chance. My teacher, Silvio, is a very talented magician and he knows how to do some really amazing tricks. The most important part of being a magician is misdirection – making people look where you want them to. I found some of the tricks quite easy to learn, but I'm no good at doing card tricks – they always seem to go wrong! Before I went onstage yesterday I was incredibly nervous, but I managed to do all the tricks without messing them up. I was disappointed that I wasn't able to win, but I did my best and really enjoyed taking part in the programme. I'm going to continue doing magic – and I'll always be popular at kids' parties!

b Read about Zoe and Vince again. Put the verbs in brackets in the correct form.

Zoe and Vince, ballroom dancers

ZOE I was quite good at <sup>1</sup> dancing (dance) at school and Vince knows how <sup>2</sup> salsa (salsa), but neither of us had a clue how <sup>3</sup> do (do) ballroom dancing. Our teacher, Evelyn, spent four weeks trying to teach us a three-minute dance sequence. I was able to <sup>4</sup> learn (learn) the dance quite quickly, but Vince found it difficult <sup>5</sup> remember (remember) all the steps and he had no idea how <sup>6</sup> catch (catch) me correctly. We practised and practised, but unfortunately it all went wrong on the night. Halfway through the dance Vince missed a catch and I fell onto the floor. We managed <sup>7</sup> carry on (carry on) and finish the dance, but I was really upset that Vince had messed up our big opportunity to become famous. I didn't think he'd be so hopeless at <sup>8</sup> dance (dance) in public. My friends had a good laugh about it, though!

b Work in pairs. Compare sentences. Are any true for you?

Get ready ... Get it right!

8 Write three true sentences and three false sentences about things you can and can't do. Use a different phrase from 4c in each sentence.

I'm quite good at doing crosswords.

I have no idea how to ride a motorbike.

9 a Work in pairs. Take turns to say your sentences. Your partner can ask two questions about each sentence. Then guess if your partner's sentences are true or false.

b Tell the class two things your partner can or can't do. Which student has the most interesting or unusual ability?

QUICK REVIEW Ability Write one thing: you're quite good at; you're haven't got a clue how to do; you were able to do when you were a child; you know how to do; you never managed to do. Work in pairs. Tell each other about the things on your list.

Vocabulary and Speaking

Computers (1)

1 a Work in pairs. Which of these words/phrases connected to computers do you know? Check new words/phrases in VOCABULARY 7.2 p143.

a password install software back up store a hard drive a memory stick spam an attachment a virus crash copy in forward delete print scan WiFi

b Work on your own. Write five questions about computers to ask your partner. Use vocabulary in 1a.

Do you store all your photos on your hard drive?

When did you last install some software onto your computer?

c Work with your partner. Ask and answer your questions. Ask follow-up questions if possible.

Do you store all your photos on your hard drive?

No, I store them online.

Speaking and Listening

2 a Work in pairs. Look at the photos. Why do you think the internet is important to each person's company?

b CD2 17 Listen and check your answers. What disadvantage of the internet does each person talk about?

c Work with your partner. Match these sentences to the people in the photos.

- 1 If I lost my laptop, I'd probably lose my job!
- 2 If the internet didn't exist, I wouldn't have a business.
- 3 If we didn't have WiFi, this place would be empty.
- 4 We'd lose a lot of customers if our website crashed.
- 5 If they turned off their computers, they might make some new friends.
- 6 If we didn't have so many online meetings, I could get out of the office more often.

d Listen again and check.

Judy, company director

HELP WITH GRAMMAR Second conditional

3 a Look at sentences 1–4 in 2c. Choose the correct words/phrases in these rules.

- We use the second conditional to talk about real/imaginary situations.
- The second conditional talks about the present or future/the past.
- In the if clause/main clause we use the Past Simple.
- In the if clause/main clause we use 'd, would or wouldn't + infinitive.

b Look at these sentences. Then answer the questions.

A If I have enough money, I'll buy a new laptop.
B If I had enough money, I'd buy a new laptop.

- 1 Which sentence is a real possibility (the person might buy a new laptop)?
- 2 Which sentence is an imaginary situation (the person can't buy a new laptop)?

TIP • We can say If I/he/she/it was ... or If I/he/she/it were ... in the second conditional.

c Look at sentences 5 and 6 in 2c. Which modal verb can we use in the main clause to mean: would perhaps? would be able to?

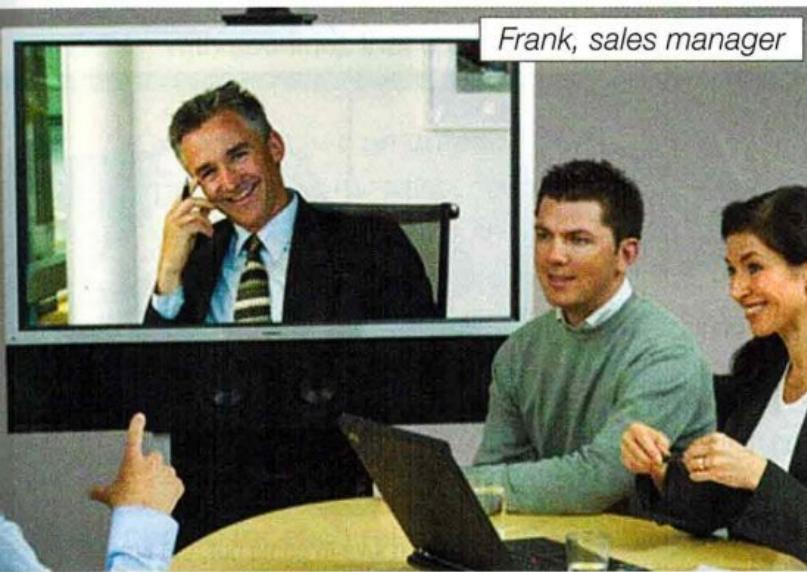

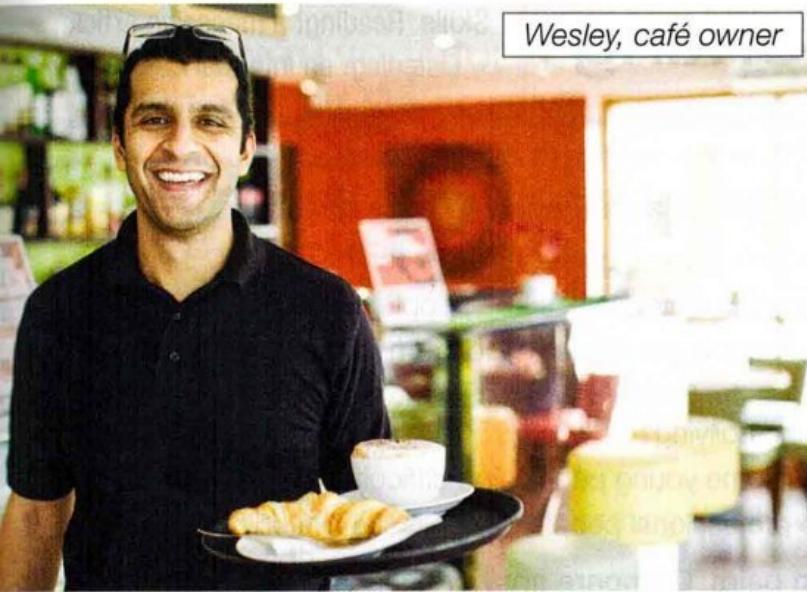

d Fill in the gaps in these questions with if, do or would. What are the short answers for question 2?

- 1 What _____ you _____ you lost your laptop?
- 2 _____ someone asked you to lend them your computer, you _____ it?

e Check in GRAMMAR 7.2 p144.

4 CD2 18 PRONUNCIATION Listen and practise. Copy the stress and contractions (I'd, etc.).

I'd probably lose my job →
If I lost my laptop, I'd probably lose my job!

5 a Fill in the gaps with the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Then complete the sentences for you.

- 1 If I win (win) a holiday anywhere in the world, I go (go) to ...
- 2 If I not live (not live) where I do, I like (like) to live in ...
- 3 If I can (can) change places with one person in the world, I choose (choose) ...
- 4 If I be (be) a film star, I like (like) to make a film with ...
- 5 If I live (live) in a different country, I miss (miss) ...
- 6 If I can (can) talk to a famous person from history, I talk (talk) to ... about ...

b Work in pairs and compare sentences. Continue the conversations if possible.

If I won a holiday, I'd go to Africa.

What would you do there?

I'd go on a safari.

6 Work in new pairs. Student A p105. Student B p110.

HELP WITH LISTENING

First or second conditional

7 a CD2 19 Listen to these sentences. Notice the difference between the verb forms. What is the difference in meaning?

If I have time, I'll help you.

If I had time, I'd help you.

b CD2 20 Listen to six pairs of sentences. Which do you hear first: the first conditional or the second conditional?

8 a Choose the correct words in these conversations.

PETE Oh, dear. I'll never finish these T-shirts by 5 o'clock.

JUDY Sorry, <sup>1</sup>I'll/I'd help you if I <sup>2</sup>don't/didn't have all these calendars to do.

PETE If Megan <sup>3</sup>is/was here, she <sup>4</sup>can/could do some of them, but she's still on holiday.

JUDY Well, don't worry. If you <sup>5</sup>don't/didn't finish them, <sup>6</sup>I'll/I'd email the customer and explain.

FRANK What time's my online meeting with the sales reps?

RUTH It's at 3.30. But Brian emailed to say that he might not be able to do it. If he <sup>7</sup>misses/missed the meeting, <sup>8</sup>I'll/I'd ask him to call you tomorrow.

FRANK Great, thanks. And can you help me back up these documents online? I <sup>9</sup>won't/wouldn't ask if I <sup>10</sup>know/knew how to do it, but I'm useless at this kind of thing.

RUTH Yes, of course. If you <sup>11</sup>give/gave me your laptop, <sup>12</sup>I'll/I'd do it now.

b CD2 21 Listen and check.

Get ready ... Get it right!

9 a Write these things on a piece of paper. Don't write them in order.

- three of your possessions that you couldn't live without
- three things you don't have, but would like to have a laptop a car

b Write second conditionals about how your life would be different with or without these things.

If I didn't have a laptop, I couldn't work on the train.

If I had a car, I'd go away for the weekend more often.

10 a Work in pairs. Swap papers. Take turns to ask and answer questions about the things on your partner's paper.

Have you got a laptop?

Yes, I have.

Why is it important to you?

Because I travel a lot for work. If I didn't have a laptop, ...

b Tell the class two things about your partner.

QUICK REVIEW Second conditional

Decide what you would do if you: won the lottery, were the leader of your country, spoke English fluently, were ten years younger.

Work in groups and compare ideas. Which students have the same ideas as you?

Vocabulary and Speaking

Computers (2)

1 a Look at these sentences. Which of the words/phrases in bold do you know? Check new words/phrases in VOCABULARY 7.3 p143.

- 1 I'm on a social networking site such as Facebook, Google+ or Twitter.
- 2 I update my status every day.
- 3 I change my profile quite often.
- 4 I've downloaded one or two new apps recently.
- 5 I sometimes upload videos to websites like YouTube.
- 6 I sometimes post comments on news sites and forums.
- 7 I'm on Twitter and I tweet quite often.
- 8 I also follow some famous people on Twitter.
- 9 I often share links to interesting websites, blogs or videos with my friends.

c Work in pairs. Compare sentences. Ask follow-up questions if possible.

Speaking and Reading

2 a Work in groups. Discuss these questions.

- 1 In what ways do social networking sites help people's social lives?
- 2 What problems can social networking sites cause?
- 3 How is social networking affecting teenagers and children, do you think?

b Before you read, check these words/phrases with your teacher or in a dictionary.

a collection lonely loneliness bullying be addicted to c Read the article. Which of the ideas that you discussed in 2a are mentioned in the article?

Vocabulary computers (2); articles:

a, an, the, no article

Skills Reading: a magazine article;

Listening: an informal conversation

3 a Read the article again. Answer these questions.

- 1 Why doesn't Robin Dunbar think we can have 1,000 friends?
- 2 Why does the writer think some people collect friends?
- 3 How did people get a free burger from Burger King?
- 4 What does the British children's charity say about loneliness and online bullying?
- 5 What do some young people find difficult to cope with?
- 6 Why do professional people use sites like LinkedIn?

b Work in pairs. Compare answers. Do you agree with the points discussed in the article? Why?/Why not?

The lonely generation?

These days, millions of people organise their lives on social networking sites like Facebook, Google+ or Twitter, and many of them can't go a day – or even an hour – without checking for status updates. But what effect is this having on society and how is it changing the way we see our friends?

The scientist Robin Dunbar suggests that the largest number of active social relationships a person's brain can deal with is 150. However, most people have hundreds, sometimes even thousands, of Facebook friends, partly because making friends online is so easy. When you receive a friend request, you just click 'Confirm' and you have a new person to add to your collection of online friends. But do you really want to be friends with the person, or are you just trying to appear more popular? To illustrate the point, the Burger King chain of restaurants in the USA offered to give people a free burger if they deleted 10 friends from their Facebook page. Amazingly, over 530,000 people did just that, which shows how little some people value many of these online friendships.

Experts are also concerned that spending so much time online is making children feel lonelier than ever before. According to a children's charity in the UK, the number of calls they receive about loneliness from teenage boys has gone up by 500% compared to five years ago. The charity also reports that online bullying is also increasing. In another report, a third of people at university said they spent too much time communicating online and not enough in person. So it's not surprising that young people who are addicted to social networking sites find it harder to form strong, long-lasting relationships. For them, to be offline is to be disconnected from their network of friends, which can be very hard to cope with.

Of course, you don't have to be at school or university to use social networking sites. Many professional people use networking sites like LinkedIn to make work contacts. And of course being part of a global professional network means that people can make the most of opportunities anywhere in the world. So if you're a designer working in Dublin or an engineer who's moving to Egypt, the online community is one of the most effective ways to help your career.

Social networking sites are one of the most amazing success stories of the internet and Facebook now has over a billion users all over the world. However, the effect these sites are having on our friendships is changing our society forever.

HELP WITH VOCABULARY

Articles: a, an, the, no article

4 a Look at the words/phrases in blue in the article. Match one word/phrase to each of these rules.

● We use a or an:

- a when we don't know, or it isn't important, which one. a day
- b with jobs.
- c to talk about a person or thing for the first time.

● We use the:

- d to talk about the same person or thing for the second/ third/fourth, etc. time.
- e when there is only one (or only one in a particular place).
- f with countries that are groups of islands or states.
- g with superlatives.

● We don't use an article:

- h for most towns, cities, countries and continents.
- i to talk about people or things in general.
- j for some public places (school, hospital, etc.) when we talk about what they are used for in general.

b Check in VOCABULARY 7.4 p143.

5 a Look at the words/phrases in pink in the article.

Match them to rules a–j in 4a. There is one word/phrase for each rule.

b Work in pairs. Compare answers.

6 Work in new pairs. Student A p104. Student B p109.

Listening and Speaking

7 a CD2 22 Look at the photo of three work colleagues, Jenny, Simon and Gary. Then listen to them talking about how they use social networking sites. Put these topics in the order they talk about them.

- videos and YouTube
- how Jenny uses Facebook
- today's office meeting
- Twitter and tweeting
- number of Facebook friends
- how often Simon goes on Facebook

b Listen again. Are these sentences true or false?

- 1 All three people went to the meeting.
- 2 Simon goes on Facebook five times a day.
- 3 Jenny doesn't use Facebook as much as she used to.
- 4 She saw her friends more often because of Facebook.
- 5 Simon says that his sister has more Facebook friends than Jenny.
- 6 Gary likes following famous people on Twitter.
- 7 Simon watches videos of baby animals on YouTube.

c Work in pairs. Compare answers. If a sentence is false, explain why.

Jenny

Gary

Simon

HELP WITH LISTENING Weak forms (2)

● Remember: in sentences we say many small words with a schwa /ə/ sound. These are called weak forms.

8 a Work in pairs. How do we say the strong and weak forms of these words?

do you at for of and to can b CD2 23 Listen and notice the difference between the strong and weak forms of these words.

	strong	weak		strong	weak
are	/a:/	/ə/	but	/bət/	/bət/
was	/wəz/	/wəz/	as	/æz/	/əz/
were	/wɜ:/	/wə/	from	/frəm/	/frəm/
your	/jɔ:/	/jə/	them	/ðəm/	/ðəm/

c Look at these sentences from the conversation. Which words do we hear as weak forms?

- 1 Here are your drinks. We were lucky to get a table, weren't we?
- 2 But I was spending hours and hours on it and it wasn't as much fun as it used to be.
- 3 No, but I like reading tweets from film stars and footballers and people like that.
- 4 Well, my wife posts videos of the children so our relatives can watch them.

d CD2 24 Listen and check.

e Look at Audio Script CD2 22 p165. Listen to the conversation again. Follow the sentence stress and notice the weak forms.

9 a Work in groups. Write a survey about the internet and social networking. Write at least five questions. Use words/phrases from 1a or your own ideas.

1 Which social networking sites are you on?

b Ask other students in the class. Write the answers.

c Work in your groups. Compare answers.

d Tell the class what you found out about other students' social networking and internet habits.

QUICK REVIEW Computers Write eight words/phrases connected to computers (update your status, blog, etc.). Work in pairs. Compare lists. Then say when you last did some of the things on both lists: I updated my Facebook status last night.

Tanya

Charlie

Rebecca

Charlie

1 a Look at the photos. Where is Charlie in each photo? What do you think the people are talking about?

b VIDEO 7 CD2 25 Watch or listen to Charlie's conversations with a colleague, Tanya, and his wife, Rebecca. Then choose the correct words/phrases in these sentences.

Conversation 1

- a Charlie and Tanya are discussing a meeting/conference next week.
- b Their clients are arriving on Monday/Tuesday from London/New York.
- c Charlie and Tanya are going to take the clients for lunch in a hotel/pub.
- d Barry Mackenzie is definitely/might be coming to the meeting.

Conversation 2

- e Harry's first birthday party is at one/three o'clock on Friday/Saturday.
- f Rebecca's parents are/aren't staying with Charlie and Rebecca.
- g They know/don't know how many people are coming to the party.
- h Charlie gets on/doesn't get on well with Rebecca's uncle.

2 a VIDEO 7 CD2 25 Watch or listen again. Put these questions in the order you hear them.

Conversation 1

- a Could you tell me what time it starts?
- b Have you any idea if he's been invited?
- c Can you tell me when they're arriving?
- d Do you know whether we've booked them a hotel room?
- e Do you think we should email everyone again?

Conversation 2

- f When are they arriving?
- g What time does it start?
- h Should we email everyone again?
- i Has he been invited?
- j Have we booked them a hotel room?

b Work in pairs. Compare answers. Then match questions a–e to questions f–j.

REAL WORLD

Indirect and direct questions

3 a Look at indirect questions a–e and direct questions f–j in 2a. Then choose the correct word in this rule.

- In more formal situations we often use indirect/direct questions because they sound more polite.

b Look again at questions a–e in 2a. Notice the phrases in blue that we use to introduce indirect questions. Then choose the correct word/phrase in these rules.

- We use if or whether in indirect questions when there is/isn't a question word.
- In indirect questions, if and whether are the same/different.
- We use/don't use if or whether with Do you think ... ?

c Look at the phrases in pink in questions a–e in 2a. Then choose the correct word in the rule.

- In indirect questions, the main verb is in the positive/question form.

d Check in REAL WORLD 7.1 p144.

HELP WITH LISTENING

Intonation (2): being polite

- We know if people are being polite by how much their voices move up and down. If their voices are flat, they often sound rude or impatient.

4 CD2 26 Listen to the same questions said twice.

Which sounds more polite, a or b?

1 a b	3 a b	5 a b
2 a b	4 a b

5 CD2 27 PRONUNCIATION Listen and practise the questions in 2a. Copy the polite intonation.

Could you tell me what time it starts?

6 Put these words in order to make indirect questions.

- 1 whether / you / this / office / is / me / Can / tell / Mr Maxwell's ?
Can you tell me whether this is Mr Maxwell's office?
- 2 think / the meeting / be / will / you / Do / Elizabeth / at / tomorrow ?
- 3 Could / been / 's / me / how long / you / he / here / tell / working ?
- 4 Ismay and Ali / holiday / you / Do / going / are / on / know / when ?
- 5 idea / Have / if / went / Wayne / you / any / away / weekend / last ?
- 6 whether / you / Manchester / me / to / Can / goes / train / this / tell ?

b Work in pairs. Compare answers.

7 a Look at these direct questions that tourists often ask. Rewrite the questions as indirect questions. Use these phrases.

- 1 Is there a bookshop near here?

Do you know ...

- 2 How do I get to the station?

Could you tell me ...

- 3 Should I give taxi drivers a tip?

Do you think ...

- 4 What time do the banks close?

Have you any idea ...

- 5 Where's the nearest post office?

Can you tell me ...

b Imagine you're a tourist in the town/city you're in now. Write three more indirect questions to ask someone who lives here.

c Work in pairs. Take turns to be the tourist. Ask and answer the questions from 7a and 7b.

Excuse me. Do you know if there's a bookshop near here?

Yes, there is. Go along this road ...

HELP WITH PRONUNCIATION

Natural rhythm

1 a CD2 28 Listen to these sentences. Notice the sentence stress, linking and weak forms in pink. These help to give English its natural rhythm.

- 1 Where would you live if you had a lot of money?
- 2 I've been living in England for one and a half years.
- 3 While I was on my way home, I met an old friend.
- 4 Who do you think I should invite to the wedding?

b Listen again and practise.

2 a Work in pairs. Mark the stress and linking in this conversation. Then circle the weak forms.

ANN Hi, Tom. What are you doing at the moment?
TOM I'm trying to download an attachment, but my laptop keeps crashing. Do you think it's got a virus?
ANN Maybe. Perhaps the software's a bit out of date.
When did you last update it?

TOM I can't remember. And it slows down every time I try to send an email.

ANN I think it's time to get yourself a new computer.
TOM I was thinking exactly the same thing!

b Look at Audio Script CD2 29 p166. Then listen and check. Listen again and practise each line of the conversation.

c Work in pairs. Practise the conversation in 2a. Check your partner's pronunciation. Take turns to be Tom.

Bad weather and natural disasters

1 Work in pairs. Which of these words do you know?

Check new words in VOCABULARY 8.1 p145.

a storm    thunder    lightning    a gale    a hurricane a tornado    a heat wave    a blizzard    a flood a tsunami    an earthquake    a drought    a landslide

2 Work in groups. Discuss these questions.

- 1 Have there been any stories about bad weather or natural disasters in the news recently? If so, where? What happened?
- 2 Have you ever experienced very bad weather? If so, tell the group what happened.
- 3 Do you think the weather where you live has changed since you were a child? If so, how?

Reading

3 a Before you read, check these words with your teacher or in a dictionary.

prevent    melt    deep    erupt    evaporate b Work in pairs. Look at questions 1–5. What do you think the answers are? Give reasons if possible.

- 1 Can people predict where and when earthquakes will happen?
- 2 What can we do to help prevent droughts?
- 3 What causes a tsunami?
- 4 Is the Earth really getting warmer?
- 5 What will happen if the North and South Poles melt?

c Read the Q&A article. Match questions 1–5 in 3b to paragraphs A–E. Were your answers correct?

d Read the article again. Answer these questions.

- 1 Why do tsunamis get stronger near the coast?
- 2 Why does cutting down trees cause droughts?
- 3 What percentage of the world's population live on or near the coast?
- 4 Which parts of the world are more likely to be hit by earthquakes?
- 5 What evidence is there for global warming?

Q&A Natural disasters

A

Tsunamis are caused by earthquakes under the ocean, or they can also be caused by a landslide or a volcano erupting. A large quantity of water is pushed to the surface of the ocean, creating waves. In the deep ocean these waves are small, but they get bigger and more dangerous as they get closer to the coast because the ocean is less deep there. The tsunami in South Asia in 2004 destroyed a large number of coastal towns and villages and about a quarter of a million people were killed.

B

A drought is caused by not enough rainfall, and of course we can't control the weather – not yet, anyway. Droughts often happen because all the trees have been cut down in a particular area. This means the rainwater evaporates because it isn't held in the ground by the trees. So part of the solution is to plant more trees. In north Africa, tens of millions of trees are going to be planted in the next decade, which may help to reduce the number of droughts in the region.

C

If this happens, the sea level will rise around the world and a lot of towns and cities on the coast will be flooded. This is a frightening thought because over half the world's population live near the coast and many of these places will be destroyed.

D

It's still not possible to make an accurate prediction of the place, time and strength of an earthquake. However, it is possible to predict which places are going to be hit by an earthquake sometime in the future. A recent report identified the five most likely places for future earthquakes as the Caribbean, Chile, Indonesia, Japan and North America.

E

Yes, it is. The world's temperature has been measured accurately for about 150 years and it shows that on average it has increased by about 1.5°C. Also, eight of the ten hottest years have been recorded in the last two decades, which is very good evidence that this increase in temperature is being caused by man-made climate change.

HELP WITH GRAMMAR The passive

4 a Look at these sentences. Then answer questions 1–4.

ACTIVE	Earthquakes under the ocean cause tsunamis.
PASSIVE	Tsunamis are caused by earthquakes under the ocean.

- 1 What is the subject of each sentence?
- 2 What is the object of the active sentence?
- 3 In which sentence is the focus on: tsunamis? earthquakes under the ocean?
- 4 In which sentence do we use by to say what does the action (the agent)?

b Look at this sentence. Then choose the correct phrase in the rule.

Droughts often happen because all the trees have been cut down.

- We often use the passive when we know/we don't know who or what did the action.

c Look at the passive forms in bold in the article. Write them in the table.

verb form	be	past participle
Present Simple	are	caused
Present Continuous
Present Perfect Simple
Past Simple
be going to
will
can

d How do we make negatives in the passive?
e Check in GRAMMAR 8.1 p146.

5 a Look again at the Q&A article. Underline other examples of the passive.

b Work in pairs. Compare answers.

6 CD2 30 PRONUNCIATION Listen and practise. Copy the stress and weak forms.

Tsunamis are /ə/ caused by earthquakes under the ocean.

7 a Read about Roy Sullivan. What happened to him?

The Earth <sup>1</sup>hits/is hit by lightning 8.6 million times a day. Scientists say there's a 1 in 3 million chance you <sup>2</sup>will hit/will be hit by lightning, but that depends on how much time you <sup>3</sup>are spent/spend outdoors. Roy Sullivan, a park ranger from Virginia, USA, <sup>4</sup>hit/was hit by lightning seven times in his lifetime. On different occasions he <sup>5</sup>lost/was lost his toenails, hair and eyebrows. The final lightning strike <sup>6</sup>happened/was happened while he was fishing and he <sup>7</sup>took/was taken to hospital with chest and stomach burns.

b Read the text again. Choose the correct verb forms.

8 a Look at the photo. Which city is it? What problems does this city have?

b Put the verbs in the correct form of the passive. There is sometimes more than one possible answer.

These days parts of Venice <sup>1</sup> _____ (flood) one day in three. People believe the water will rise another 20 cm in the next 50 years. This means that Venice <sup>2</sup> _____ (flood) much more often.

A lot of money <sup>3</sup> _____ (already collect) for the Save Venice Fund and now many old buildings <sup>4</sup> _____ (repair). However, more money must <sup>5</sup> _____ (find) quickly and some people don't think the city can <sup>6</sup> _____ (save). Most experts agree that if important work <sup>7</sup> _____ (not do) soon, some of the world's most beautiful buildings <sup>8</sup> _____ (lose) forever.

3 Work in groups. Discuss these questions.

- Are there any recycling laws in your country? If so, what are they?
- Can you recycle things where you live? If so, what do you recycle?
- What do you throw away that could be recycled?

4 a Look at the picture. Which things from 1a can you see in the kitchen?

b CD2 31 Listen to James, Val and Pete. Choose the correct answers.

- Val and Pete don't have anything/have something to eat.
- James recycles some/doesn't recycle any of his rubbish.
- The UK recycles 70%/40% of its rubbish.
- British people throw away 3/7 times their own body weight in rubbish every year.
- Parts for fridges can be made from tins/plastic bottles.
- James is/isn't going to recycle in the future.

5 a Work in pairs. Who says these sentences, Val, Pete or James?

- 1 Oh, there's a bit of pasta left if you're hungry. James
- 2 Well, I've found some coffee, but there's no sugar.
- 3 There's enough milk for two cups, but not enough for three.
- 4 There are plenty of tins of cat food in the cupboard.
- 5 Too much rubbish is just thrown away.
- 6 Hardly any people in our building recycle stuff.
- 7 And there aren't enough places to recycle in this city.
- 8 Look, there's loads of paper and several plastic bottles.
- 9 Well, there's plenty of information on the internet.
- 10 Yes, too many people just don't make the effort.
- 11 I've got a few friends who recycle things.
- 12 We made a little progress there, I think.

Quantifiers

6 a Look at the words in pink in 5a. Are they countable nouns (C) or uncountable nouns (U)?

b Look at the words/phrases in blue in 5a. Write them in the table.

quantity	plural countable nouns (bottles, tins, etc.)	uncountable nouns (rubbish, stuff, etc.)
nothing	not any no	not any
a small quantity	not many hardly any	not much a large quantity	a lot of/lots of loads of	a lot of/lots of more than we want less than we want
the correct quantity	enough

c Look at these sentences. Then choose the correct words in the rules.

I've found some coffee.

There isn't any sugar.

Is there any milk?

There's a lot of stuff here.

I haven't got many cups.

Is there much rubbish?

- We usually use some/any in positive sentences.
- We usually use some/any in negative sentences and questions.
- We don't usually use a lot of/much or many in positive sentences.

d Check in GRAMMAR 8.2 p146.

8 CD2 33 PRONUNCIATION Listen again and practise. Copy the linking.

I think there's a bit of milk in the fridge.

9 a Choose the correct words/phrases.

- 1 There are no/any recycling bins in my street.
- 2 I probably drink too much/many coffee.
- 3 I got too many/hardly any sleep last night.
- 4 I know a few/a little words in other languages.
- 5 I know a bit of/several people from the UK.
- 6 I always have many/plenty of time to do my homework.
- 7 I haven't got enough/several money to go on holiday.
- 8 I've been to some/any interesting places.
- 9 I probably eat too much/many sweets.
- 10 I usually have several/a little milk in my tea.

- What has happened in the USA?
- What are dead zones?
- What causes dead zones?
- How many dead zones are there in the world?

c Listen again. Choose the correct answers.

- There have been six/eight shark attacks in the USA this year.
- The tourist was attacked a long way from/quite near the beach.
- He was bitten on the arm/leg.
- The dead zone off the coast of Texas is quite small/very big.
- There are a lot/a few more dead zones than there were five years ago.

Linking (3): review

3 a Look at this sentence from the news report. Notice the links. Then choose the correct words in the rules.

So what turns an area of the ocean into a dead zone?

- We usually link words that end in a consonant sound with words that start with a consonant/vowel sound.
- When a word ends in a consonant/vowel sound and the next word also starts with a consonant/vowel sound, we often link these words with a /w/, /j/ or /r/ sound.

b Work in pairs. Look at these sentences from the beginning of the news report. Draw the consonant–vowel links and complete the extra linking sounds.

A British tourist has been attacked by a shark off the coast of Texas, making it the eighth shark attack in America this year. We now go over live to Andrew Evans for a special report. Andrew, I understand that the man didn't do anything unusual to cause this attack.

c Look at Audio Script CD2 ▶ 34 p166. Check your answers. Then listen to the news report again and notice the different types of linking.

Reading, Vocabulary and Speaking

4 a Before you read, check these words with your teacher or in a dictionary.

conscious      estimate      a park ranger      harm      a lifeguard      attach

b Look at the title of the article. What do you think happened to Jesse?

c Read the article. Were you correct?

Saving Jesse's Arm

Lucy Atkins describes the battle to save the life of a young boy.

At about 8 p.m. on July 6th, eight-year-old Jesse Arbogast was playing in the sea in a National Park near Pensacola, Florida. It was the end of a perfect day at the beach with his uncle and aunt. Then disaster struck. Jesse was attacked by a two-metre-long male shark, which bit off his right arm from the shoulder and also took a bite out of his leg. By the time his uncle and aunt pulled Jesse out of the water, he was unconscious and had already lost a lot of blood.

While Jesse's aunt was giving the boy the kiss of life, his uncle, Vance Flosenzier, ran into the sea and disappeared under the water. Amazingly, he managed to catch the 90-kilo shark and pull it out of the water onto the beach. Although this might sound impossible, never underestimate a man's strength when a family member's life is in danger.

At that moment two park rangers arrived to help the family and one of them shot and killed the shark. Then he held open the shark's mouth while a volunteer firefighter reached down its throat and pulled out Jesse's arm.

A few minutes later, a helicopter took the boy and his arm to nearby Baptist Hospital, Pensacola, where Dr Ian Rogers and his medical team managed to reattach Jesse's arm in an eleven-hour operation. The doctors knew the operation had been a success when Jesse's fingers turned pink. Of course, after such a terrible accident nobody wants to be over-optimistic, but the medical team are hopeful Jesse will have full use of his arm in the future.

Although Jesse's story is terrifying, it would be incorrect to think that sharks are always so dangerous. Apparently this type of attack was very unusual and sharks are usually harmless to humans. "Shark attacks are very uncommon," agrees JR Tomasovic, chief ranger at the Pensacola park. "You could go ten years without seeing another." However, he says that people shouldn't be irresponsible and should only swim on beaches where there are lifeguards.

5 Read the article again. Tick the true sentences. Correct the false ones.

- 1 The shark bit off part of Jesse's arm.
- 2 Jesse's uncle pulled the shark out of the water by himself.
- 3 Jesse's uncle shot the shark and then got Jesse's arm from inside it.
- 4 Jesse might be able to use his arm normally in the future.
- 5 The park ranger said shark attacks are very common.

HELP WITH VOCABULARY

Word building (2): prefixes and opposites, other prefixes and suffixes

6 a Look at the words in blue in the article. Underline the prefixes. Then fill in the gaps in this rule.

- We often use the prefixes un- , dis- , _____ , _____ and _____ to make opposites of words.

b Work in pairs. What are the opposites of these adjectives?

believable patient selfish honest considerate polite organised regular reliable loyal mature ambitious formal similar sensitive helpful

c Check in VOCABULARY 8.3 p145.

7 a Look at the words in pink in the article. Underline the prefixes and suffixes. Then complete the table with these meanings and the words in pink.

Just Juice

Can giving up food really improve your health?

Joanne Fullerton spent a week at a retreat centre to find out.

When I arrived at the Just Juice Retreat Centre, I was feeling a bit nervous. I was going to do a seven-day fast, drinking only fresh organic fruit and vegetable juices. I'm the type of person <sup>1</sup>that eats three meals a day and can't wake up without a cappuccino, so the idea of living on juice for a week was rather terrifying.

After checking in, I was taken to the guest house <sup>2</sup>where everyone was staying. Louise, the woman <sup>3</sup>who I was sharing a room with, had been on the retreat four times and she looked healthier than anyone I'd ever met. According to Rachel Carr-Hill, the woman <sup>4</sup>whose fasting programme we were following, going without food is one of the best things we can do for our health. The food <sup>5</sup>that we usually eat contains toxins <sup>6</sup>which stay in our bodies and stop our digestive system working properly. When we fast, our body doesn't have to digest food, so it has time to get rid of these toxins.

The first day started with yoga at seven o'clock and then we had 'breakfast' – a big glass of carrot juice. We spent the day listening to talks about health, having massages and relaxing, with a different juice meal every three hours. On the second day I had an awful headache and felt as if I was getting a cold. Apparently this was a normal reaction because my body was starting to get rid of the toxins. On day three my headache was much worse and this was also <sup>7</sup>when I started getting really hungry. I began daydreaming about cheeseburgers, pasta, chocolate – anything but more juice. However, by day five the hunger had gone and I felt more relaxed than I'd been for years. At the end of the retreat I'd lost three kilos and felt like a new woman. Now I'm much more careful about what I eat – but I still can't live without my morning cappuccinos!

Vocabulary and Speaking

Body movements and responses

1 a Work in pairs. Which of these verbs do you know? Check in VOCABULARY 9.3 → p147.

cry laugh smile yawn wave shiver blush stretch scratch crawl frown sweat

b Take turns to ask your partner when people do the things in 1a.

When do people cry?

When they're upset, in pain or very happy.

Reading

2 a Before you read, check these words with your teacher or in a dictionary.

evolve bond with someone tears an itch forgive

b Work in pairs. Match pictures A–E to these reasons why people do these things.

- 1 to bond with other people in a group
- 2 to turn off parts of the brain connected with bad feelings and memories
- 3 to show that we have broken a social rule
- 4 to increase the amount of oxygen in the brain
- 5 to release stress-related chemicals from our bodies

c Read the article. Check your answers.

3 a Read the article again. What other reasons does the article give for each body movement or response?

b Work in pairs. Compare answers. Which piece of information do you think is the most interesting or surprising?

WHY DO WE CRY?

Although we don't enjoy crying, it's actually very good for us. The tears that are produced when we're upset contain large amounts of different chemicals that are related to stress, and crying reduces the amounts of these chemicals we have in our body. This is why we always feel better after a good cry. It's also thought that crying evolved to show other humans that we are unhappy or in pain and we need help from other people in our group.

WHY DO WE YAWN?

When we're tired or bored, we don't breathe very deeply and not enough oxygen is carried to the brain. A yawn takes in more oxygen and increases your heart rate by 30%, making us feel more awake. So if people yawn when you're talking to them, don't get too upset. Despite appearing rude, they could be yawning so they can listen more closely to what you're saying. It is also thought that yawning evolved to help groups of early humans stay awake and notice danger, which may also be why we often yawn when someone else does.

WHY DO WE LAUGH?

Even though most people think we laugh because something is funny, that's usually not true. In fact, laughing at something funny accounts for only 15% of all laughter. More frequently, laughter is a way of bonding with another person or a group, and it's 30 times more common to laugh in social situations than when we're alone. It is believed that humans developed the ability to laugh so that we could signal to other humans that we're playing, or that danger has passed.

WHY DO WE SCRATCH?

The obvious answer is that we have an itch and so we automatically scratch it. Of course, we know the itch will come back in a few minutes and scratching will probably make it worse. In spite of this knowledge, we still can't stop ourselves from scratching. It seems that scratching turns off parts of the brain that are connected to unpleasant feelings and memories, and it also stimulates the parts of the brain that make us happy – which is why it feels so good!

WHY DO WE BLUSH?

People usually blush because they're embarrassed, particularly if they have broken a social rule, for example, getting someone's name wrong. Blushing has evolved to show the other person that we know we have done something wrong, and that we're sorry about this. Interestingly, scientists have shown that people are more likely to forgive you if you blush. However, people might not forgive you so easily if you don't blush at all!

HELP WITH VOCABULARY

Connecting words

4 a Look at the words in blue in the article. Then choose the correct words/phrases in these rules.

- Although, even though, despite, in spite of and however are similar in meaning to and/but.
- We use although, even though, despite and in spite of to contrast two sentences/two clauses in the same sentence.
- We use however to contrast two sentences/two clauses in the same sentence.

- We put/don't put a comma ( , ) after however.

b Fill in the gaps in these rules with although, even though, despite or in spite of.

- After _____ and _____ we usually use a noun or verb+ing.
- After _____ and _____ we usually use a clause.

c Check in VOCABULARY 9.4 p147.

5 a Rewrite these sentences using the words in brackets. Change other words in the sentence if necessary.

- 1 I went out last night. I felt really tired. (despite)
I went out last night, despite feeling really tired.
- 2 Robin slept really well. There was a lot of noise. (in spite of)
- 3 I don't get paid very much. I enjoy my job. (even though)
- 4 Erica was well-qualified. She didn't get the job. (however)
- 5 We enjoyed the concert. There weren't many people there. (even though)
- 6 They watched TV all night. They had to work the next day. (despite)
- 7 The teacher explained it twice. I still didn't understand it. (even though)

Modal verbs (2): making deductions

3 a Look at the sentences 1–10 in 2b. Are they talking about the past, the present or the future?

b Match sentences 1–10 in 2b to meanings a–e.

The speaker ...

- a knows this is definitely true. 9
- b believes this is true.
- c thinks this is possibly true.
- d believes this isn't true.
- e knows this definitely isn't true.

c Look at the verb forms in bold in 2b. Then fill in the gaps with the correct modal verbs.

- We use _____ to talk about something that we believe is true.
- We use _____, _____ or _____ to talk about something that we think is possibly true.
- We use _____ to talk about something that we believe isn't true.

d Which sentences in 2b are talking about: a state? something happening now?

e Complete these rules with verb+ing or infinitive.

- To make deductions about states we use: modal verb + _____.
- To make deductions about something happening now we use: modal verb + be + _____.

TIP • We don't use can or mustn't to make deductions: It could be him, not ~~It can be him~~. He can't be a millionaire, not ~~He mustn't be a millionaire~~.

f Check in GRAMMAR 10.2 p151.

4 CD3 4 PRONUNCIATION Listen and practise the sentences in 2b. Copy the stress.

8 Look at the picture. These things all belong to people at the party. Who do you think owns each thing?

9 a Work in groups. Discuss who you think each thing belongs to. Give reasons for your choices.

I think this book could be Karen's. She might be learning to drive.

b Look at p155. Check your answers. How many did you get right?

QUICK REVIEW Describing people Choose three people in the class. Write sentences to describe each person. Don't write the person's name: He's got short curly hair. He's wearing a striped shirt. Work in pairs. Take turns to say your sentences. Your partner guesses who the person is: It might be Johann.

Reading and Vocabulary

1 Work in groups. Discuss these questions.

- 1 What is the average cost of a wedding in your country, do you think?
- 2 Who usually pays for the wedding in your country?
- 3 What do they spend the money on?

2 a Read the magazine article. Choose the correct words in these sentences.

- 1 Tony is Olivia's third/fourth husband.
- 2 Ginny went/didn't go to Olivia's wedding.
- 3 Ginny had/hadn't been a bridesmaid for Olivia before.
- 4 Olivia has/hasn't kept in touch with her ex-husbands.
- 5 More/Fewer people in the UK are getting married these days.

b Read the article again. What does it say about these numbers? Did any of the numbers surprise you?

£20,000	six hours	£3,300	£15,000
459,000	231,000	45%	12%

3 a Look at the phrasal verbs in bold in the article. Match them to their meanings 1–10. Write the infinitive of the verbs.

- 6 decide or arrange to do something at a later time
- 7 argue with someone and stop being friendly with them
- 8 think of an idea, or a solution to a problem
- 9 end a marriage or relationship
- 10 find something by accident

b Check in VOCABULARY 10.3 p150.

For Better, For Worse

Ginny Bell looks at her friend's chances of having a happy marriage.

When Olivia first started going out with Tony, I thought it would never last. Two months later, she told me they were getting married. I thought she should put the wedding off for a few months until she knew Tony better. As soon as he had proposed to her, Olivia called me and said, "He really is the one." She'd said the same thing about her last three husbands, but I didn't like to point this out to her.

When Olivia asked me to be her bridesmaid, I tried to get out of the whole thing because I didn't want to see her make the same mistake again. However, I couldn't come up with a good excuse, so there I was again, standing outside the church wondering how much Olivia's parents had spent this time. A typical wedding in the UK costs about £20,000 and lasts six hours, so that's about £3,300 an hour. Olivia must be a very expensive daughter to have.

At the church Olivia introduced me by saying, "This is Ginny. She's been a bridesmaid at all my weddings." And indeed I had. I hoped that Olivia and Tony would never split up, which could cost another £15,000 – the average cost of a divorce if you have to go to court. Fortunately, Olivia got over her last three divorces quickly and is still friends with all her ex-husbands.

So what are their chances of a successful marriage these days? The week before Olivia's wedding I came across a newspaper report which said that the number of divorces in the UK is still going up, while the number of people getting married is falling. I looked some figures up and found out that in 1971 there were 459,000 weddings in the UK, but in 2009 there were only 231,000 – the lowest figure since 1861. And as for divorce, where you live makes a huge difference. For example, the divorce rate in the UK is about 45%, but in Italy it's only 12%.

When my husband and I were leaving the reception, Olivia came up to say goodbye and said, "You two have never fallen out, have you? How can I make this marriage last?" Well, Olivia, what can I say? Move to Italy!

HELP WITH VOCABULARY

Phrasal verbs (3)

4 a Read about the four types of phrasal verbs.

- TYPE 1 phrasal verbs don't have an object.
You two have never fallen out.
- TYPE 2 phrasal verbs always have an object. This is always after the phrasal verb.
Olivia got over her divorces quickly.
Olivia got over them quickly.
- TYPE 3 phrasal verbs always have an object. If the object is a noun, you can put it in the middle or after the phrasal verb.
I looked some figures up.
I looked up some figures.

If the object is a pronoun, you must put it in the middle of the phrasal verb.

I looked them up. not I looked up them.

- TYPE 4 phrasal verbs have three words and always have an object. The object is always after the phrasal verb.
I tried to get out of the whole thing.
I tried to get out of it.

b Work in pairs. Look at the other phrasal verbs in bold in the article. Are they type 1, 2, 3 or 4?

c Check in VOCABULARY 10.4 p150.

5 Look at the words in brackets. Where can they go in these sentences? Put a tick or a cross in the gaps.

- 1 Jeanette never got   X   over   ✓  .
(her divorce)
- 2 He always puts    off    until the last minute.
(his homework)
- 3 You can't put    off    any longer.
(it)
- 4 Dylan didn't want to go, but he couldn't get out    of   .
(it)
- 5 Look    up    in a dictionary.
(these words)
- 6 If you don't know the answer, look    up   .
(it)
- 7 I came    across    when I was cleaning.
(this)
- 8 The teacher pointed    out    to him.
(the mistake)
- 9 I knew Mark was wrong, but I didn't want to point    out   .
(it)

Listening and Speaking

7 a Work in pairs. Look at wedding traditions A-F. Which do you have in your country? What do you know about them?

b Before you listen, check these words/phrases with your teacher.

ancestors	propose to someone	kidnap	a vein	a leap year
-----------	--------------------	--------	--------	-------------

c CD3 Listen to a radio programme about wedding traditions. Put photos A-F in the order the people talk about them.

8 a CD3 Work in pairs. Listen again. Student A, make notes on the wedding traditions in photos A, B and C. Student B, make notes on the wedding traditions in photos D, E and F.

b Work with your partner. Take turns to explain the origins of the wedding traditions in the photos. Did you remember anything that your partner didn't mention?

HELP WITH LISTENING /t/ and /d/ at the end of words

- We don't usually hear /t/ or /d/ sounds at the end of words when the next word starts with a consonant sound.

9 a Look at these sentences. Circle each t and d in bold that you think you will hear. Cross out the ones you don't think you will hear.

Wendy, first t of all, we should d start with the most obvious question. When did our ancestors start getting married to each other? Well, I'm pleased that things have moved on a bit since then. And what about wedding rings? Where did they originate?

b CD3 Listen and check your answers.

c Look at Audio Script CD3 p169. Listen again and notice when we say and don't say /t/ and /d/ at the end of words.

10 a Think of a wedding you've been to. Make notes on these things.

• when and where	• the ceremony
• the bride and groom	• the reception/meal
• the other guests	• other interesting points

b Work in groups. Take turns to describe the weddings. Which wedding do you think was the most interesting?

QUICK REVIEW Phrasal verbs Make a list of five phrasal verbs.

Work in pairs and swap papers. Take turns to say a sentence that includes a phrasal verb on your partner's list. Listen to your partner's sentences. Are they correct?

1 Work in groups. Discuss these questions.

- 1 When did you last stay with relatives or friends? Why did you visit them? How long did you stay?
- 2 When was the last time relatives or friends came to stay with you? Were there any problems? If so, what were they?
- 3 What are the best and worst things about staying in someone else's house or flat?

2 a VIDEO 10 CD3 8 Look at the photos. Then watch or listen to the conversations. Answer these questions.Conversation 1

- a How long has Ella been asleep?
- b How long does Rebecca say that Ella and Mike can stay?
- c Why does Rebecca suggest that Ella should talk to Charlie?

Conversation 2

- d How long were Mike and Ella away for?
- e How far away does Mike's brother live?
- f Why can't Mike phone his parents on his mobile?

b Work in pairs. Try to fill in the gaps in Ella and Mike's questions with these words.

jumper car washing machine landline breakfast laptop

- 1 Can I make myself some _____?
- 2 May I use your _____?
- 3 Do you mind if I borrow a _____?
- 4 Is it OK if I use your _____ to upload some photos?
- 5 Would you mind if I borrowed your _____ some time this week?
- 6 Do you think I could use your _____ to call my parents?

c Work in the same pairs. Try to match these responses to the questions in 2b. Which are: giving permission? refusing permission?

- a Yes, of course. Go ahead. The phone's in the front room, by the window.
- b Yes, of course you can. Help yourself. You know where everything is.
- c No, not at all. They're in the bottom drawer in our bedroom.
- d Sorry, it's only insured for Rebecca and myself.
- e Actually, I was just going to put some washing in.
- f Sorry, I left mine at work.

d Watch or listen again. Check your answers to 2b and 2c.

REAL WORLD

Asking for, giving and refusing permission

3 a Look at the ways of asking for permission in bold in 2b. Which verb form comes after each phrase: infinitive, Present Simple or Past Simple?

- 1 Can I + infinitive ... ?
- 2 May I + _____ ... ?
- 3 Do you mind if I + _____ ... ?
- 4 Is it OK if I + _____ ... ?
- 5 Would you mind if I + _____ ... ?
- 6 Do you think I could + _____ ... ?

b Choose the correct way to give permission for these questions. After which other phrase in 3a do we say No, not at all. to give permission?

- 1 A Can I make myself some breakfast?
B Yes, of course./No, not at all.
- 2 A Do you mind if I make myself some breakfast?
B Yes, of course./No, not at all.
- c Look at sentences 4–6 in 2c. Answer these questions.
- 1 Do we usually say no when we refuse permission?
- 2 Do we usually give a reason to say why we refuse permission?
- 3 Which words do we use to be polite when we refuse permission?

d Check in REAL WORLD 10.1 p151.

Linking in phrasal verbs

1 CD3 11 Listen to these phrasal verbs. Notice the different types of linking. Listen again and practise.

look_it_up	get_out_of_it	get_over_it put_it_off	give_it_away	clear_it_out give_it_up	go_up	see_it_off point_it_out	throw_it_out	tidy_it_up

2 a Work in pairs. Read the conversation. Add the consonant-vowel links and extra linking sounds.

ROB Hi, Sue. What are you doing at the weekend?

SUE We're planning to go away.

R Really? Where are you off to?

S We're off to Dublin for a wedding. We have to check in at ten, so we're setting off at eight.

R Well, this weekend I'm going to tidy up my office. I've been putting it off for ages, but I really need to sort it out.

S So are you going to be in all weekend?

R Yes, I am. Do you want me to look after your cat while you're away?

S That'd be great, thanks. See you on Monday!

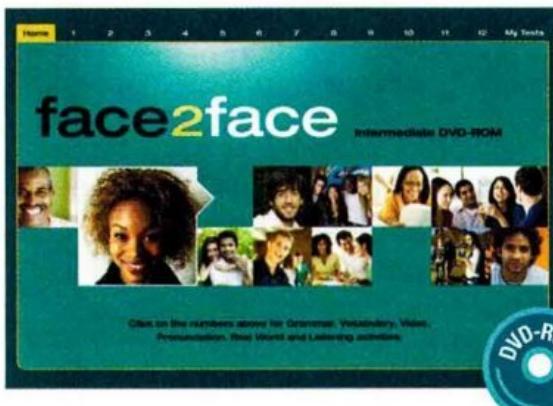

b Look at Audio Script CD3 12 p170. Then listen and check. Listen again and practise each line of the conversation.

c Practise the conversation in 2a with your partner.

2 a Write the names of two people you know who have jobs. Think what these people do in their jobs. Use phrases from 1 or your own ideas.
b Work in groups. Tell each other about the people you chose in 2a. Ask follow-up questions if possible.

Listening

3 CD3 13 Gabi is a PA (personal assistant) for On The Box, a company that makes TV programmes. Listen to Gabi talking to Fiona, an actress. Answer these questions.

- 1 Where is Gabi's boss, Max?
- 2 Where is Fiona?
- 3 What has happened to Fiona?
- 4 What is Gabi going to ask Max to do?

4 a Work in pairs. Try to fill in the gaps in these sentences from Gabi and Fiona's conversation with one word.

- 1 I can't come to the meeting on Monday.
- 2 I was in a car accident.
- 3 I won't be able to walk on it for a month.
- 4 I've already had one operation.
- 5 I'm having another operation on Friday.
- 6 I still want to be in the programme.
- 7 They're going to start filming soon.
- 8 You must talk to Max.

b CD3 13 Listen and check.

5 a CD3 14 Look at the photo. Gabi is talking to Max the next day. Read sentences a-h. Then listen and put these sentences in the order Gabi says them.

- a She said that she'd been in a car accident. 1
- b She said she still wanted to be in the programme.
- c I told her that she had to talk to you.
- d She told me that she'd already had one operation.
- e She said that she was having another operation on Friday.
- f I told her they were going to start filming soon.
- g She told me she couldn't come to the meeting on Monday.
- h She said she wouldn't be able to walk on it for a month.

b Match sentences 1-8 in 4a to sentences a-h in 5a.

HELP WITH GRAMMAR

Reported speech: sentences

6 a Look at the sentences in 4a and 5a. Notice how the verb form changes in reported speech. Then fill in the table with these verb forms. Use one verb form twice.

Past Simple	Past Perfect	Past Continuous would	could	had to was/were going to

verb form in direct speech	verb form in reported speech
Present Simple	Past Simple
Present Continuous
Present Perfect Simple
Past Simple am/are/is going to will can must

b Look again at the sentences in 5a. Then choose the correct words in these rules.

- We always/never use an object (me, her, etc.) with say.
- We always/never use an object (me, her, etc.) with tell.
- We have to/don't have to use that after say and tell in reported speech.
- Pronouns (I, he, etc.) and possessive adjectives (my, his, etc.) usually/never change in reported speech.

TIP • The modal verbs could, should, would, might and ought to don't change in reported speech.

c Check in GRAMMAR 11.1 p153.

7 CD3 15 PRONUNCIATION Listen and practise the sentences in 5a. Copy the stress, weak forms and contractions.

She said that /ðət/ she'd been in a car accident.

8 a Gabi also took some other messages for Max yesterday. She is now giving Max the messages. Write what she says in reported speech. Use the verbs in brackets.

- 1 MR HALL I must talk to Max. (say)
Mr Hall said (that) he had to talk to you.
- 2 CARL I'm going to be in New York next week. (tell)
- 3 SID I didn't understand your email. (say)
- 4 LINDA WISE I can't come to Monday's meeting. (say)
- 5 MRS LEE The designs will be ready on Monday. (tell)
- 6 TED BLACK I'm having a party on Saturday. (say)

HELP WITH LISTENING

/h/ in he, his, him and her

9 a CD3 16 Listen to the beginning of the conversation again. Circle each h in bold you hear. Cross out each h you don't hear.

GABI Well, Mr Hall said he had to talk to you.

MAX OK, I'll call him later. What's his number?

GABI He only gave me his mobile number. Here it is.

MAX What does he want, anyway? I talked to him last week.

GABI Apparently his wife wants her script back.

b Choose the correct words in these rules.

- We usually hear /h/ in he, his, him and her if it follows a consonant/vowel sound.
- We don't usually hear /h/ in he, his, him and her if it follows a consonant/vowel sound.

c Look at Audio Script CD3 16 p171. Listen to Gabi and Max's conversation again. Notice when we say and don't say /h/ in he, his, him and her.

Get ready ... Get it right!

10 Write eight sentences about yourself. Four sentences should be true and four should be false. Use these phrases and your own ideas.

• I can/can't ...	• I'm ... this weekend.
• I really like ...	• I ... last year.
• I've been to ...	• I think I'll ...
• I've never ...	• Next year I'm going to ...

I can play golf quite well.

I really like going to art galleries.

11 a Work in pairs. Tell each other your sentences. Your partner guesses if they're true or false. You can write one word only to help you remember each of your partner's sentences.

b Work with a new partner. Tell each other your first partner's sentences. Use reported speech. Your new partner guesses if they are true or false.

Bulent said he could play golf quite well.

I think that's false.

No, it's true!

c Tell the class two things you found out about your first partner.

QUICK REVIEW Reported speech Think of four things that people have said to you this week. Work in pairs. Tell your partner who the people are and what they said, using reported speech. Ask follow-up questions. A My sister Annette told me she was going on holiday. B Where's she going?

Vocabulary and Speaking

Adjectives (3): jobs

1 a Work in pairs. Which of these adjectives do you know? Check new words in VOCABULARY 11.2 p152.

demanding well-paid badly-paid stressful challenging rewarding repetitive lonely glamorous dull

b Write two jobs that you would like to do and two that you wouldn't like to do. Think of adjectives from 1a to describe each job.
 c Work in groups. Take turns to say which jobs you chose and why you chose them.

Speaking and Listening

2 a Work in pairs. Discuss these questions.

- 1 What's the best way to find a job in your town/city?
- 2 Have you ever had a job interview? If so, how did it go?
- 3 Which questions are people usually asked at a job interview?

b CD3 17 Look at the photo. Eva is having an audition at On The Box. Listen and fill in the gaps with one or two words.

- 1 Are you working at the moment?
- 2 Do you have any acting work in the next three months?
- 3 And what was your last acting job?
- 4 What other parts have you had recently?
- 5 And where did you last work?
- 6 Are you available to start next week?

c Listen again. What are Eva's answers to the questions in 2b?

d Work in pairs. Compare answers.

3 a CD3 18 Eva is telling her boyfriend, Joe, about the audition. Read sentences a-f. Then listen and put these sentences in order.

- First he asked me if I was working at the moment. 1
- He wanted to know where I'd studied acting.
- He asked what my last acting job had been.
- He wanted to know whether I was available to start next week.
- He asked me what other parts I'd had recently.
- He also asked if I had any acting work in the next three months.

b Match Max's questions in 2b to Eva's sentences in 3a.

HELP WITH GRAMMAR Reported speech: questions

4 a Look at the reported questions in 3a. Choose the correct words/phrases in these rules.

- We use/don't use the auxiliaries do, does or did in reported questions.
- We use if or whether to report questions with/without a question word.
- We always/sometimes/never use an object (me, him, etc.) with ask.
- The changes in the verb forms in reported questions are the same as/different from reported sentences.

b Look again at the reported questions in 3a. Then fill in the gaps with asked, wanted, whether, question word, subject or verb.

REPORTED WH- QUESTIONS

He/She asked (me) + to know + subject + verb

REPORTED YES/NO QUESTIONS

He/She wanted (me) + if or whether + to know + verb

10 Can I come back when I find my glasses?

She wanted to know ...

b Work in pairs. Compare answers. Which question do you think is the funniest?

7 CD3 20 Max phones Eva later that day. She's got the job! Listen and answer these questions.

- 1 Where does Eva have to go on Monday?
- 2 What time does she have to be there?
- 3 Who is she going to meet?
- 4 How long is the job going to last?

HELP WITH GRAMMAR

Reported speech: requests and imperatives

8 a Look at these sentences. Which is a request? Which are imperatives?

Can you come to a meeting on Monday?

Be at our offices at ten.

Don't accept any more work.

b Look at how Eva reported what Max said. Then complete the rules with imperatives and requests.

He asked me to come to a meeting on Monday.

He told me to be at their offices at ten.

He told me not to accept any more work.

● To report _____, we use:
asked + object + (not) + infinitive with to.

● To report _____, we use:

9 Eva and Joe are talking later that day. Write Eva's sentences in reported speech.

1 Could you give me a lift tomorrow?

She asked him to give her a lift tomorrow.

2 Call me at lunchtime.

3 Will you pick me up after the meeting?

4 Don't worry about me.

5 Can you book a table at our favourite restaurant?

6 Don't tell anyone about the job yet.

7 Do you think you could help me learn my lines?

Get ready ... Get it right!

10 Choose a partner, but don't work with him/her yet. Write six questions to ask your partner. Choose questions you don't know the answer to. Use these phrases and your own ideas.

- What are you doing ...
- How often do you ...
- When did you last ...
- Do you usually ...
- Have you ever ...
- Can you ...

11 a Work with your partner. Ask and answer your questions. Make notes on your partner's answers.

b Work with a new partner. Tell him/her about your conversation with your first partner. Use reported speech.

Francesca asked me if I'd ever been to the UK. I told her I'd been there once.

c Tell the class two interesting things you found out about your first partner.

QUICK REVIEW Adjectives to describe jobs

Write five adjectives to describe jobs (challenging, repetitive, etc.). Then think of a job for each adjective. Work in pairs. Tell your partner your jobs and adjectives. Do you agree with your partner's adjectives?

Speaking, Reading and Vocabulary

1 Work in groups. Discuss these questions.

- 1 What kinds of TV programmes do you watch? What don't you watch?
- 2 What's your favourite programme at the moment? Why do you like it?
- 3 Do you ever watch police dramas? If so, which ones?

2 a Before you read, check these words/phrases with your teacher or in a dictionary.

an undercover cop    a smuggler    a bug a statue    a warehouse    a trap

b Read the review of the new TV cop show Undercover. Match the people's names to their roles. Who are the people in the photos?

1 Kat	a Rupert's wife
2 Rupert	b other cops
3 Gloria	c an undercover cop
4 Dom	d an artist
5 Glenn and Darren	e the art gallery owner
6 Hendrik	f Rupert's son

c Read the review again. Answer these questions.

- 1 Where is Kat working undercover?
- 2 Why can the police hear Rupert's phone calls?
- 3 Who saw Kat go into Rupert's study?
- 4 Are Kat and Dom in love with each other?

Undercover's success is no secret

Undercover is already the best drama we've seen on TV this year. It stars Eva West as Kat Winters, an undercover cop who works for the SCS (Serious Crime Squad). If you didn't see the last episode, here's what you missed.

EPISODE 4: plot summary

Kat is working undercover as a salesperson at a London art gallery owned by Rupert Wilde, who the police believe is an international diamond smuggler. After Kat had worked in the gallery for a while, Rupert and his wife, Gloria, invited her to have dinner with their family in their luxury flat above the gallery. Just before dinner, Kat managed to put a bug in the phone in Rupert's private study. However, she didn't know that Gloria had seen her leave the study.

HELP WITH VOCABULARY

Verb patterns (2): reporting verbs

4 a Look at the verbs in bold in the review and underline the verb form that follows them. Then write the infinitive form of the verbs in bold in the table.

invite

+ object + (not) + infinitive with to offer

(+ not) + infinitive with to admit

+ verb+ing

b Check in VOCABULARY 11.4 p152.

After dinner, Rupert's son, Dom, offered to give Kat a lift home. While they were in the car, Dom admitted being madly in love with Kat. She was rather shocked by this, particularly when Dom refused to drive her home until she promised to go out on a date with him. However, Kat needed an opportunity to find out more about the Wilde family, so she agreed to have dinner with Dom on Tuesday evening. Dom suggested meeting at the gallery at seven.

The next day, two other SCS cops, Glenn and Darren, sat in a van outside the art gallery listening to Rupert's phone calls. They heard him call Hendrik Petersen, a famous Dutch artist. Hendrik agreed to deliver three of his statues to Rupert's warehouse at 7.30 p.m. on Tuesday, and reminded Rupert to bring the money in used ten-pound notes. Rupert warned Hendrik not to tell anyone about their plan and threatened to kill him if anything went wrong.

Is Kat walking into a trap? What's going to happen at Rupert's warehouse? Find out in EPISODE 5!

5 a Look at these conversations from episode 4 of Undercover. Put the sentences in bold in reported speech. Use the verbs in brackets.

DOM <sup>1</sup>Why don't we go to the Ritz? (suggest)

1 Dom suggested going to the Ritz.

KAT That sounds nice. I've never been there before.

DOM <sup>2</sup>Shall I book a table? (offer)

KAT Good idea.

DOM <sup>3</sup>would you like to come to Paris next weekend? (invite) KAT Hey, slow down! We haven't even had dinner yet!

DOM Yes, I know, I'm sorry. <sup>4</sup>I say some stupid things sometimes. (admit)

KAT OK. <sup>5</sup>Let's talk about Paris after dinner. (agree)

6 a Work in pairs. What do you think is going to happen in episode 5 of Undercover?

I think Hendrik might steal Rupert's money.

b CD3 <sup>21</sup> Listen to the beginning of the next episode. Were any of your ideas correct?

c Listen again. Are these sentences true or false?

- 1 Glenn and Darren are outside the warehouse.
- 2 They call Kat to tell her what's happening.
- 3 Rupert and Hendrik meet at the warehouse.
- 4 Rupert phoned Hendrik earlier that afternoon.
- 5 Hendrik hasn't got the statues.
- 6 Gloria threatens to shoot Kat.
- 7 Gloria agrees to help the police.
- 8 Dom arrives to take Kat on their date.

HELP WITH LISTENING Missing words

• In informal spoken English we often miss out words when the meaning is clear.

7 a Read the beginning of episode 5 of Undercover. Notice the missing words in brackets. What kind of words do we often miss out?

DARREN [Are you] Sure this is the place, Glenn?

GLENN Yeah. [The] Warehouse on Tudor Street.

[At] Seven thirty.

DARREN [It] Looks closed to me. [Do you] Want a cigarette?

GLENN No, thanks, mate. [I] Gave up last week.

DARREN Yeah, right. [Have you] Heard from Kat recently?

b Look at Audio Script CD3 <sup>21</sup> p172. Listen to the first two parts of episode 5 again. Notice the missing words in brackets.

8 Work in pairs. Look again at Audio Script CD3 <sup>21</sup> p172. Take turns to say sentences 1–10 in bold in reported speech.

Darren agreed to wait and see what happened.

9 a Work in pairs. Decide what happens at the end of episode 5 of Undercover. Try to include all the characters. Make notes on your ideas.

b Work in groups of four with another pair. Compare ideas and discuss the best way to end the episode.

c Tell the class your group's ideas. Which ideas are the best, do you think?

QUICK REVIEW Reporting verbs Work in pairs.

Who were the characters in the TV drama Undercover?

What can you remember about episodes 4 and 5?

Use reporting verbs (invite, admit, etc.) where possible:A Dom invited Kat to have dinner with him. B Yes, and he also admitted falling in love with her.

1 Work in pairs. Discuss these questions.

- 1 Which three people do you phone the most? What do you talk about?
- 2 Do you ever talk in English on the phone? If so, who do you speak to?

2 a VIDEO 11 CD3 22 Look at the photo. Ella has got a new job as a PA at Getaway Holidays. Watch or listen to two phone conversations. Then answer these questions.

- 1 Why can't the first caller talk to Tanya Wilson?
- 2 Why does he want to talk to her?
- 3 How long is he going to be in the UK?
- 4 Where and when is Andy going on holiday?
- 5 Why does he want Ella to contact someone at The Times?
- 6 What else does he want Ella to do?

HELP WITH GRAMMAR Wishes

3 a Look at the sentences in 2c. Then answer the questions.

- Do these sentences talk about real or imaginary situations?
- Do they talk about the past or the present/future?

b Look at this sentence. Then answer the questions.

I wish we had a car.

- Has Juliet got a car?
- Would she like to have one?

c Look again at the sentences in 2c. Then fill in the gaps with Past Continuous, Past Simple, didn't have to or could.

- To make wishes about states we use: wish + _____.
- To make wishes about activities happening now we use: wish + _____.
- To make wishes about abilities or possibilities we use: wish + _____ + infinitive.
- To make wishes about obligations we use: wish + _____ + infinitive.

TIPS • We can say I wish I/he/she/it was ... or I wish I/he/she/it were ...: I wish I was/were on a beach somewhere.

HELP WITH LISTENING

Sentence stress and weak forms: review

3 a Work in pairs. Look at the beginning of the interview. Mark the stressed words and circle the weak forms.

Hello and welcome to the programme. Stories of superheroes have entertained us for nearly eighty years, and one of the most popular of these is Spider-Man. Today I'm talking to the author Robin Baker, whose new book, Superhero, tells the story of Spider-Man's creator, Stan Lee. Welcome to the programme, Robin.

b Look at Audio Script CD3 35 p174. Read and listen to the beginning of the interview. Check your answers.

c Listen to the whole interview again. Follow the sentence stress and weak forms.

Reading and Vocabulary

4 a Look at the photo on p99. What is the man doing? Why is he doing this, do you think?

b Before you read, check these words with your teacher or in a dictionary.

a coma a rope equipment a skyscraper

c Read about Alain Robert. Match these topics to paragraphs 1-6.

- a A childhood adventure
- b The real Spider-Man 1
- c Danger and police
- d A terrible fall
- e Why he likes climbing
- f Three amazing climbs

d Read the article again. Answer these questions.

- 1 Why did he climb up the side of the building where his family lived?
- 2 Why were the doctors wrong?
- 3 Why is his style of climbing so dangerous?
- 4 Why does he usually get arrested?
- 5 What did he do for the first Spider-Man movie?
- 6 What happened after he climbed the Jin Mao Building?
- 7 Why does he climb?

The real Spider-Man

1 Alain Robert has climbed about 100 of the world's tallest buildings, including the Empire State Building in New York, the Eiffel Tower in Paris and the Petronas Twin Towers in Malaysia. It's not surprising people call him 'The real Spider-Man'.

2 Alain began climbing on the cliffs near where he lived in Valence, France. One day, when he was 12, he got home and realised that he'd forgotten his keys. So he climbed up the side of the building and into his family's flat through the window – which was eight floors up. That was when he decided to become a professional climber.

3 In his teens he climbed all the difficult mountains in the Alps and found them "rather disappointing". However, he did have a few bad falls. In 1982 he fell 15 metres and was in a coma for five days. Doctors said he'd never climb again. Alain was back on a mountain after only six months.

4 In 1994 he climbed his first skyscraper, in Chicago, and realised he enjoyed doing what seemed impossible. He climbs without ropes or protective equipment – just with his hands and feet. He's always very careful, of course, but admits that the danger is part of the attraction. Also he usually climbs without permission, which means he often gets arrested. "That's no problem," says Alain. "I prefer staying in prison to staying in hospital."

5 For the release of the first Spider-Man film in 2002, Alain climbed the tallest skyscraper in Venezuela wearing a Spider-Man costume and was watched live on TV by over 10 million people. He also climbed the 88-storey Jin Mao Building in Shanghai in 2007, again dressed as Spider-Man, after which he was arrested and held in prison for five days. And in 2011 he climbed the tallest building in the world, the 828-metre Burj Khalifa Tower in Dubai, in just over six hours.

6 However, Alain doesn't climb buildings just to provide entertainment for the public. For him, climbing is a form of relaxation, but there's also a deeper meaning to what he does. "It gives me a sense of what is important on Earth," he says. "When you're facing your own death, money is not that important."

3B 7 p25

a Work on your own. Read about Polly Kirby's job.

I've been writing guide books for <sup>1</sup> years. I've written three books and now I'm working on a book about Kenya. I've been living in Africa since <sup>2</sup> and I really love it here. I've been travelling around Kenya for two weeks and I've visited <sup>3</sup> different places so far. At the moment I'm on a guided tour to Mount Kilimanjaro. I've wanted to climb this mountain since I arrived in Africa. We've <sup>4</sup> and I'm absolutely exhausted. We've travelled about 15 km today and I've seen <sup>5</sup> elephants! My guide, Shola, has been doing this job for 30 years. He's climbed Kilimanjaro <sup>6</sup> times this year. I've only known him for three days, but we're already good friends.

b Work with a student from group A. Make questions with How long ... ? or How many ... ? to complete the text. Use the Present Perfect Continuous and Present Perfect Simple.

1 How long has Polly been writing guide books?

c Work with a student from group B. Ask and answer the questions. Fill in the gaps in the text. You start.

d Compare your texts and check your answers.

2D 8 p21

a Work on your own. Imagine you have this problem. Then think of one thing you've tried to do to solve the problem.

Your cousin got divorced recently and moved out of his house, so you invited him to stay for a few days.

It's now six weeks later and he's still living with you.

He isn't working at the moment, so he just stays at home and watches TV all day. He's driving you crazy and you want him to move out.

Who does most of the cooking in your home?

b Work with a student from group B and group C. Take turns to explain your problems, show concern and give advice. Whose advice is the best, do you think?

I've got a bit of a problem.

Oh, dear. What's the matter?

Well, my cousin got divorced recently ...

c Tell the class the best piece of advice you received.

3A 7 p23

Your name is Alex Smith and you work for a travel company called FlyTours in Southampton, England. You are going to call a company called Miami Hotels in the USA. You want to speak to Bob Krane, who is the sales director there. You are flying to Miami on the 30th of next month and would like to meet Mr Krane to discuss a new contract for next year. He can call you back on your mobile (0044 7655 443229) between 9.15 and 4.30 tomorrow.

- 1 You are Tanya Wilson's PA at Getaway Holidays in the UK. Tanya is out of the office today. Answer the phone and take a message for her. Check information when you need to.
- 2 Look again at the information you underlined in a, then phone Bob Krane. If he isn't there, leave a message with his PA.
- 3 Work with your partner. Check his/her message. Is it correct?

Pair and Group Work: Other activities

1A 3 p6

a Read the rest of the article. Compare the top ten list in the article with your list from 2b. How many reasons are in the same place in both lists?

The top ten reasons for happiness

1 YOUR GENES

Some people are simply born happier than others. In a study of 4,000 adult twins, differences in their genes were the main reasons for their different levels of happiness.

2 BEING MARRIED

All studies show that married couples are happier than single people. Just living together without being married doesn't have the same effect.

3 FRIENDS AND FAMILY

People with large families and lots of close friends are usually happier than people who have a lot of money and live on their own.

4 NOT WANTING MORE THAN YOU'VE GOT

People who expect to have a successful career, lots of money and the perfect relationship aren't as happy as people who accept what they've got.

5 HELPING OTHERS

Studies by psychologists in different countries show that when you help other people, it's not only good for them, it also makes you feel happier.

6 RELIGION

Four out of five studies show a positive link between religion and happiness. Very religious people usually live longer too.

7 BEING ATTRACTIVE

Attractive people believe they're very happy – maybe because they also have good genes and are therefore healthier. Cosmetic surgery does not have the same effect!

8 GROWING OLD

Studies show that old people are happy as often as young people and are unhappy less often. This is probably because they spend more time doing the things they enjoy.

9 MONEY

When you're poor, money can buy you some happiness. However, when people have enough money to live comfortably, more money doesn't make them happier.

10 INTELLIGENCE

Surprisingly, this has very little effect on happiness. Being able to get on well with people is much more important than how intelligent you are.

b Work in groups. Discuss these questions.

- 1 Are the reasons in the article true for people you know? Give examples if possible.
- 2 Do you disagree with anything in the article? If so, why?
- 3 Are there any other reasons for happiness that you think should be in the article?

1C 8 p11

a Work with your partners. You are going to start a club for your school, university or local community. Discuss what sort of club you would like to start. Use one of these ideas or your own.

drama	singing and dancing books	animation film art
sports	nature TV English
food and drink	travel
video games	cycling hiking

b Work with the same partners. Decide on these things. Make notes on what you have decided.

- the name of the club
- what people are going to do in the club
- when, where and how often you'll meet
- why people should join your club
- how you're going to advertise the club
- any other ideas

c Work in new groups or with the whole class. Take turns to talk about your club. Use your notes and ideas from b.

d Decide which of the other clubs you want to join. Which club is the most popular?

2D 8 p21

a Work on your own. Imagine you have this problem. Then think of one thing you've tried to do to solve the problem.

Your husband/wife goes out with friends a lot in the evenings. You often have to work late and he/she is usually out when you get home, so you have to cook dinner and eat on your own. You'd like him/her to stay at home more often in the evenings so you can spend some time together.

b Work with a student from group A and group B. Take turns to explain your problems, show concern and give advice. Whose advice is the best, do you think?

I've got a bit of a problem.

Oh, dear. What's the matter?

My husband/wife goes out with friends a lot ...

c Tell the class the best piece of advice you received.

6A 11 p47

a Work on your own. Read about a problem you have. Think of three ways you can deal with the problem and decide what will happen if you choose each of these options.

You work for a big company that has offices all over the country. You're very good at your job and you like your colleagues, but your new boss, Colin, never gives you any interesting work. Your old boss, Maria, is now Colin's manager.

look for another job → might have to move house

b Work with a student from group A and group B. Take turns to talk about your problem and your options. Discuss what will happen if you choose each option. Your partners can also suggest other options.

If I look for another job, I might have to move house.

Why don't you ... ?

If I do that, ...

c Decide what to do. Does your group think you've made the right decision?

3C 7 p27

a Read the fact file about a voluntourism holiday. You are going to tell the other students in your group about the holiday. Make notes on the main points.

PLACE

Fiji, south Pacific

TYPE OF WORK

teach English to children aged 6–11 with help from local teachers; help with art classes, sports and school trips

ACCOMMODATION

stay in school buildings; share a room with 3 people; food provided by school

AND FOOD

go swimming, diving or snorkelling to the coral reefs; climb volcanoes with a guide

FREE TIME

Many of the children are from poor families so your work will make a real difference in their lives.

OTHER INFORMATION

b Work in your groups. Close your books. Take turns to tell your group about the holiday.

c Choose which holiday you'd like to go on. Give reasons for your choices.

d Tell the class which holiday you've chosen. Which holiday is the most popular?

4A 10 p31

a Work on your own. Think of your best ever musical experience. Make notes on what happened. Use these ideas or your own.

- what the experience was (a concert, a club night, etc.)
- where and when this happened
- where you were living at the time
- what you were doing around that time (work, studies, etc.)
- who you were with on that day
- the main events of the story
- what you did afterwards
- any other interesting information

b Work in your groups. Take turns to talk about your experience. Ask questions to find out more information. Which experience is the most interesting?

1D 7 p13

a Work with your partner. Write questions with question tags to check information you think you know about six other students in the class.

SILVIO → You live near the school, don't you?

ISMAY → You didn't study here last year, did you?

b Ask the students your questions. Is your information about them correct? Ask follow-up questions if possible.

Silvio, you live near the school, don't you?

Yes, I do.

Whereabouts exactly?

c Tell the class two things you found out about other students.

4B 10 p33

a Work on your own. Think of an interesting journey you've been on. Make notes on these things. Think about when you can use the Past Simple, Past Continuous and Past Perfect.

- when the story happened
- the reason for the journey
- where the journey started
- what you had done before you set off
- what happened on the journey
- what you were doing during the journey
- what you did when you arrived
- any other interesting things about the story

b Work in your groups. Take turns to tell your story. Ask questions to find out more information. Which story is the most interesting?

c Tell the class about the most interesting story in your group.

9C 9 p75

a Work on your own. Think of two things that you've done that are true and two things that are false. Write one or two words only to help you remember each thing.

b Work in your groups. Take turns to tell the group your things from a. You can ask each person one question about each thing. What is each person lying about, do you think?

c Tell the class who was the worst liar in the group. How did you know he/she was lying? Who was the best liar in the group?

12C 8 p99

a Work in your groups. Create your own superhero! Choose your hero's superpowers. Use these ideas or your own.

has super strength/speed	can read minds has X-ray vision	can become invisible can travel in time	can turn into an animal is indestructible	can breathe underwater

b Make notes on these things.

- your superhero's name and where he/she lives
- how he/she got his/her superpowers
- what he/she wears
- what his/her normal life is like
- any weaknesses he/she has
- his/her enemies

c Work with students from different groups. Take turns to describe your superhero. Which is the best?

GRAMMAR

1.1 Question forms 1A 5 p7

AUXILIARIES

- We usually use an auxiliary (does, are, did, has, etc.) to make questions.

	question word	auxiliary	subject	verb
PRESENT SIMPLE	How often	does	Fiona	teach	yoga classes?
PRESENT CONTINUOUS	What	is	Fiona's son	doing	at the moment?
PAST SIMPLE	What	did	Fiona	do	last Sunday?
PRESENT PERFECT SIMPLE	How many songs	has	Maxie	written	?

- We use the auxiliaries do and does to make questions in the Present Simple: Who do you work for? What does he do in his free time?
- We use the auxiliaries am, are and is to make questions in the Present Continuous: Where am I going? What are you watching? What's he doing?
- We use the auxiliaries have and has to make questions in the Present Perfect Simple: Where have you been? Has he called yet?

SUBJECT QUESTIONS

- Most questions with auxiliaries ask about the object of a sentence: A How many songs has Maxie written? B He's written about 25 songs.
- Subject questions ask about the subject of a sentence: A What makes her husband happy? B Cooking makes him happy.
- We don't use do, does or did in Present Simple and Past Simple subject questions: Who visits them most weekends? not Who does visit them most weekends?
- Subject questions have the same word order as positive sentences.
- We can make subject questions with Who, What, Whose and Which.

QUESTIONS WITH PREPOSITIONS

- We often put prepositions at the end of questions: How many countries has he been to? Who does Caroline go to art galleries with?

TIP • We don't usually put prepositions at the beginning of questions: What are you talking about? not About what are you talking?

REAL WORLD

1.1 Question tags 1D 4 p13

- We usually use question tags (don't you?, etc.) to check information that we think is correct.
- We usually use the auxiliary in question tags: You live next door to Lisa, don't you?
- We only use pronouns in question tags: Barbara went to Liverpool University, didn't she?
- If the main verb is positive, the question tag is usually negative: It was a great match yesterday, wasn't it?
- If the main verb is negative, the question tag is usually positive: You haven't ordered any food yet, have you?

- We often use short answers (Yes, I do. No, I don't., etc.) to say that the information is correct.
- When the information isn't correct, we often use actually after the short answer to sound more polite, then give more information: A You've been diving, haven't you? B No, I haven't, actually. It sounds a bit too dangerous to me.

TIPS • We can also use Yes, that's right. to say that the information is correct: A You're from London originally, aren't you? B Yes, that's right./Yes, I am.

- If the main verb is in the positive form of the Present Simple or Past Simple, we use don't, doesn't or didn't in the question tag: Jim lives in the USA, doesn't he?
- We say aren't I? not amn't I?: I'm late, aren't I?

1.2 Positive and negative verb forms, words and phrases 1B 5 p9

	positive	negative
PRESENT SIMPLE	I know	you don't want
PRESENT CONTINUOUS	you're waiting	I'm not feeling
PAST SIMPLE	I waited	I didn't get
PRESENT PERFECT SIMPLE	I've seen	she hasn't flown

I DON'T THINK ...; THERE IS/ARE NO ...

- We often make negative sentences with I don't think ...: I don't think that's right. not I think that isn't right. I don't think I could do that. not I think I couldn't do that.
- We can use no to make negatives with there is/there are: There aren't any traffic jams. = There are no traffic jams. There isn't a better way to travel. = There's no better way to travel.

WORDS AND PHRASES

positive	negative	positive	negative
love	hate	everyone	no one always	never	all	none
usually	hardly ever	both	neither

TIPS • We can say don't always/usually/often, but not don't sometimes/hardly ever/never.

- We can say everyone or everybody and no one or nobody.
- We don't usually use double negatives. We say: I didn't see anyone. not I didn't see no one.
- We use plural verb forms with both: Both of my sisters have got cars. We use singular verb forms with neither: Neither of them likes driving.

have a dream have stories and pictures in your head while you are sleeping: I had a very strange dream last night.

have a nightmare have a frightening dream: I had a terrible nightmare last night.

be a light/heavy sleeper be someone who wakes up easily/doesn't wake up easily: Carla's a very heavy sleeper – nothing can wake her up.

have a nap have a short sleep in the day: My dad always has a nap after lunch. Also: take a nap

GRAMMAR

2.1 → be able to, be supposed to, be allowed to, modal verbs (1) 2A 4 p15

- can, must, have to, should and ought to are modal verbs.
- We use can and be able to to talk about ability or possibility: People can get their best ideas when they're doing nothing. We're able to continue working when we're travelling.
- We use be supposed to to say a person is expected to do something: In the UK people are supposed to have a break every four hours.
- We use be allowed to and can to say we have permission to do something: Some French employees are allowed to begin their weekend at 3 p.m. on Thursday. In some American companies, employees can sleep whenever they want.
- We use must and have to to say something is necessary: Rob says he must take more time off work. Lots of people have to take work home.
- We use should and ought to to give advice: People should only work 35 hours a week. We ought to spend more time relaxing.

TIPS • We can use have to or have got to to say that something is necessary: I have to work tonight. = I've got to work tonight. Have got to is very common in spoken English.

- Must and have to have very similar meanings in their positive form: I must go. = I have to go. Have to is more common than must.
- We can't use must in the past. To say something was necessary in the past, we use had to: I had to go to three meetings yesterday.

POSITIVE, NEGATIVE AND QUESTION FORMS

- We use the infinitive after can, must, have to, should, ought to, be able to, be allowed to and be supposed to.
- Can, must, should and ought to are the same for all subjects.

positive	negative	question
I can go.	I can't go.	Can I go?
You must go.	You mustn't go.	(Must you go?)
He should go.	He shouldn't go.	Should he go?
We ought to go.	We ought not to go.	(Ought we to go?)

- We make negatives and questions of have to by using the auxiliaries do and does: I don't have to go.; Does she have to go?, etc.
- We make negatives and questions of be able to, be allowed to, be supposed to by changing the form of the verb be: He isn't able to come. You aren't allowed to go. What are we supposed to do?

TIP • We don't usually use ought to in its question form. We usually use Do you think ... instead: Do you think I ought to call him?

MUSTN'T OR DON'T HAVE TO

- We use don't have to to say something isn't necessary: You don't have to wear a suit to work, but you can if you want to.
- We use mustn't to say something is not allowed: You mustn't send personal emails from the office. You can only send work emails.

TIP • To say something wasn't necessary in the past, we use didn't have to: I didn't have to work yesterday. not I hadn't to work yesterday.

2.2 Present Continuous and Present

Simple 2B 4 p17

- We use the Present Continuous for things that:
  - a are happening at the moment of speaking: I'm blogging from a busy street food market. I'm sitting in one of Mexico City's busy parks.
  - b are temporary and happening around now, but maybe not at this exact moment: Now I'm writing a book about street food. We're working in Mexico for a few days.
  - c are changing over a period of time: My blog is becoming more popular every year. More and more people are visiting Thailand on holiday these days.
- We use the Present Simple for:
  - a habits and routines with always, sometimes, never, every day, every year, etc.: I always try the street food wherever I go. I come here every year.
  - b things that are permanent, or true for a long time: I live in London. People still eat a lot of street food in Indonesia.
  - c verbs that describe states (be, have got, want, etc.): The country's capital has got some fantastic street food. If you want to make the perfect burrito, start with a freshly-made flour tortilla.

ACTIVITY AND STATE VERBS

- Activity verbs talk about activities and actions. We can use activity verbs in the Present Simple and the Present Continuous (and other continuous verb forms): I watch TV every evening. I'm watching TV now. Typical activity verbs are: watch, talk, spend, eat, learn, buy, cook, take, happen.
- State verbs talk about states, feelings and opinions. We don't usually use state verbs in the Present Continuous (or other continuous verb forms): I like burritos. not I'm liking burritos.
- Learn these common state verbs.

'be and have' verbs	'think and know' verbs	'like and hate' verbs	senses	other verbs be	think	like	see	hope have (got)	know	love	hear	seem own	believe	hate	taste	need belong	understand	prefer	smell	cost remember	want	touch	agree forget			weigh mean			contain

TIPS • We often use can with verbs that describe the senses to talk about what is happening now: I can hear a noise outside. I can't see anything.

- Some verbs can be both activity verbs and state verbs: I'm having dinner at the moment. (activity)
They have two children. (state)
What are you thinking about? (activity)
I think football is boring. (state)
- We often use still with the Present Simple and Present Continuous to mean something that started in the past and continues in the present: People still eat a lot of street food in Indonesia. I'm still waiting for him to call me.

Present Continuous

- We make the Present Continuous positive and negative with: subject + be + (not) + verb+ing
  - I'm (not) working* at the moment.
  - You/We/They are/aren't writing a blog.
  - He/She/It's/isn't becoming more popular.
- We make Present Continuous questions with: (question word) + am, are or is + subject + verb+ing
  - What am I doing* here?
  - Who are* you/we/they talking to?
  - Is* he/she/it working today?

Present Simple

- For I/you/we/they, the Present Simple positive is the same as the infinitive.
- For he/she/it, we add -s or -es to the infinitive: he lives; she goes; it works.
- We make the Present Simple negative with: subject + don't or doesn't + infinitive
  - I/You/We/They don't live* here.
  - He/She/It doesn't work.
- We make Present Simple questions with: (question word) + do or does + subject + infinitive
  - Where do I/you/we/they live?*
  - Does* he/she/it work?

REAL WORLD

2.1 Showing concern, giving and responding to advice 2D 4 p20

showing concern

Oh, dear. What's the matter?
I can see why you're upset.
Oh, how awful!

Oh, I'm sorry to hear that.
Yes, I see what you mean.
Oh, dear. What a shame.

giving advice

Have you tried talking to him about it?
Perhaps you ought to spend more time together.
Maybe you should sleep in separate rooms.
Why don't you talk to her about it?
I'd take her out for a really nice meal.

responding to advice

Yes, you could be right.
Well, it's worth a try, I guess.
I've tried that, but ...

Yes, that's a good idea.
I might try that.

- After Have you tried ... we use verb+ing: Have you tried talking to him about it?
- After you ought to ..., you should ..., Why don't you ..., and I'd (= I would) ... we use the infinitive: Perhaps you ought to spend more time together.
- We often use What should I do? or What do you think I should do? to ask for advice.

VOCABULARY

3.1 Phrasal verbs (1): travel 3A 1 p22

look forward to sth feel happy and excited about something that is going to happen: I'm really looking forward to my holiday.

set off

see off

pick up check in

TIPS • You also check in at an airport (or online) before you fly somewhere.

• We say get (back) home not get (back) to/from home.

• We often use verb+ing after look forward to: I'm looking forward to seeing you.

3.2 Phrases with travel, get and go on 3B 1 p24

3B 1 p24

travel

on your own independently first/business/economy class together/separately light

get

a cruise /kruːz/ a holiday on a ship when you sail from place to place: We're going on a Mediterranean cruise next month.

a package /'pækɪdʒ/ holiday a holiday where everything is included in the price: A lot of British people go on package holidays to Spain every summer.

TIPS • Travel is usually a verb. When we want to use a noun, we usually use journey or trip: How was your journey/trip? not How was your travel?

- Get has many different meanings in English: get back = arrive back; get a taxi = take a taxi, etc.

- You can also get on/off a bike, a scooter and a motorbike.

- By + time means 'at or before': I'll get there by 2.30. = I'll get there at 2.30 or earlier.

3.3 Word building (1): suffixes for adjectives and nouns 3C 5 p27

- We sometimes make adjectives from nouns, or nouns from adjectives, by adding an ending (a suffix), for example happy → happiness.

adjective	noun	suffix	noun	adjective	suffix kind	kindness	-ness	danger	dangerous	-ous sad	sadness		adventure	adventurous lazy	laziness		fame	famous patient	patience	-ce	comfort	comfortable	-able confident	confidence		knowledge	knowledgeable important	importance		fashion	fashionable difficult	difficulty	-y	nature	natural	-al honest	honesty		tradition	traditional modest	modesty		music	musical popular	popularity	-ity	health	healthy	-y
active	activity		noise	noisy possible	possibility		tourist	touristy

TIP • When the adjective or noun ends in -t, -y or -e, we sometimes have to change the spelling: patient → patience, lazy → laziness, nature → natural, etc.

GRAMMAR

3.1 Present Perfect Simple 3A 3 p23

- We use the Present Perfect Simple for experiences that happened some time before now, but we don't know or don't say when they happened: I've worked in the USA and in Europe. We've been away together a few times. To give more information about an experience we use the Past Simple: I really enjoyed my time there too. Each time there was a problem back at the hotel.
- We use the Past Simple to say when something happened: My wife and I started working in the hotel industry 19 years ago. Three days ago a guy set off on his own into the mountains.
- We use the Present Perfect Simple for something that started in the past and continues in the present: I've lived in this country for about three years. We've had this place since 2008.
- We use the Present Perfect Simple for something that happened a short time ago, but we don't say exactly when: I've just been to Banff to pick him up from the hospital. My wife's gone to see some friends off at Manchester airport.

POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE

- We make the Present Perfect Simple positive and negative with: I/you/we/they + 've, have or haven't + past participle
he/she/it + 's, has or hasn't + past participle
I/You/We/They've/haven't worked in Canada.
He/She/It's/hasn't been to South America.

QUESTIONS

- We make Present Perfect Simple questions with: (question word) + have or has + subject + past participle
How long have I/you/we/they lived here?
Has he/she/it been there before?

FOR AND SINCE

- We use for with a period of time (how long): I've lived in this country for about three years.
- We use since with a point in time (when something started): We've had this place since 2008.

TIPS • We can also use for with the Past Simple: I lived in Colombia for six years. (I don't live there now.)

- We don't usually use during with the Present Perfect Simple: I've been here for a week. not I've been here during a week.

BEEN AND GONE

- Go has two past participles, been and gone.
- We use been to mean 'go and come back': I've just been to Banff to pick him up from the hospital. (I'm back at the place I started from now.)
- We use gone to mean 'go, but not come back yet': My wife's gone to see some friends off at Manchester airport. (She's not back yet.)

ADVERBS AND TIME PHRASES

- We can use these words/phrases with the Present Perfect Simple: never, ever, recently, lately, before, this week, just, yet, already: I've never been to Russia., etc.
- We must use the Past Simple with phrases that say a definite time (two years ago, in 1997, last week, at 10 o'clock, etc.): I went there two years ago. not I've been there two years ago.
- We use just to say something happened a short time ago. We don't use just in negative sentences: Jo's just phoned. Has Jo just phoned? not Jo hasn't just phoned. We put just before the past participle.
- We use yet to say something hasn't happened, but we think it will happen in the future. We don't use yet in positive sentences: He hasn't finished it yet. Have you finished it yet? but not I've finished it yet. We put yet at the end of the sentence or clause.
- We use already to say something happened some time in the past, maybe sooner than we expected. We don't use already in negative sentences: We've already seen it. Have you already seen it? but not I haven't already seen it. We put already before the past participle.
- Recently and lately mean 'not long ago': I haven't been to London recently/lately.
- After this is the first time, this is the second time, etc. we use the Present Perfect Simple: This is the first time we've been here. not This is the first time we are here.

TIP • We also use the Present Perfect Simple with this week/month/year, etc. and with this morning, this afternoon, etc. if it is still that time of day. Compare these sentences:

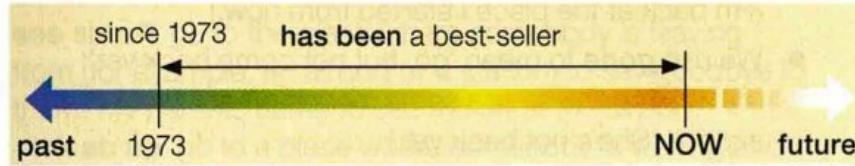

- A Have you seen Bob this morning? (It is still morning.)*
- B Did you see Bob this morning? (It is now afternoon or evening.)*

3.2 Present Perfect Continuous and Present Perfect Simple 3B 5 p25

- We usually use the Present Perfect Continuous to talk about an activity that started in the past and continues in the present: The company has been publishing guide books for 40 years.

- We usually use the Present Perfect Simple to talk about a state that started in the past and continues in the present: The book has been a best-seller since it was published in 1973.

TIPS • We often use the Present Perfect Continuous with verbs that talk about longer activities: learn, rain, try, play, work, read, wait, etc.: I've been learning English for five years.

- We don't usually use the Present Perfect Continuous with verbs that talk about short actions: start, find, lose, break, buy, stop, etc.: I've started a course. not I've been starting a course.
- With some verbs, both verb forms are possible: I've lived/been living here for five years. He's worked/been working in Australia since 2011.

Present Perfect Continuous

- We make the Present Perfect Continuous positive with: I/you/we/they + 've or have + been + verb+ing
he/she/it + 's or has + been + verb+ing
They've been travelling since 1972.
The company has been publishing guide books for 40 years.
- We make the Present Perfect Continuous negative with: I/you/we/they + haven't + been + verb+ing
he/she/it + hasn't + been + verb+ing
I haven't been sleeping very well lately.
He hasn't been working here for very long.

TIPS • We often use the Present Perfect Continuous to talk about the activity we have been doing: I've been doing my homework. (We don't know if the homework is finished or not.)

- We often use the Present Perfect Simple to say an activity is finished: I've done my homework. (The homework is finished now.)

HOW LONG ... AND HOW MANY ...

- We usually use the Present Perfect Continuous to say how long an activity has been happening: Their television company, Lonely Planet TV, has been making programmes since 2004.
- We usually use the Present Perfect Simple to say how many things are finished: Lonely Planet has published over 650 guidebooks since the company began.

Questions with How long ... ? and How many ... ?

- We make Present Perfect Continuous questions with How long ... ? with:
How long + have + I/you/we/they + been + verb+ing
How long + has + he/she/it + been + verb+ing
How long have you been waiting here?
How long has Lonely Planet been publishing guide books?
- We make Present Perfect Simple questions with How many ... ? with:
How many + have + I/you/we/they + past participle
How many + has + he/she/it + past participle
How many countries have you visited?
How many books has Lonely Planet published?

TIP • We can also make questions with the Present Perfect Simple and How much (+ noun) ... ?: How much money have you spent so far?

REAL WORLD

4.3 ➤ Guessing meaning from context

4C 3 p35

- Sometimes you can guess the meaning of a word by:
  - deciding which part of speech it is (noun, verb, adjective, etc.).
  - understanding the rest of the sentence and the general meaning of the text.
  - recognising a similar word in your language, or another language you know.

1 wandered (regular verb) walked around slowly: Have you ever wandered around an art gallery?

2 well-known (adjective) famous: We looked at paintings by well-known artists.

3 bizarre /bɪ'zɑ:/ (adjective) strange: Nothing is too bizarre for this museum.

4 highlight (noun) most interesting part: The highlight of this museum is Imelda Marcos's massive shoe collection.

track (noun) The long pieces of metal on the ground that a train travels on: The museum has 13,000 metres of track.

impressive (adjective) admired and respected, often because it's special, important, or very large: It's an impressive sight.

GRAMMAR

4.1 ➤ Past Simple and Past Continuous 4A 5 p31

- We use the Past Simple for:
  - a single completed action in the past. My boyfriend bought tickets to see her play live. Then I moved to London.
  - a repeated action or habit in the past. I listened to her second album all the time. I practised for hours every day.
  - a state in the past. My boyfriend wanted to sell it on eBay. I loved dance music.
- We use the Past Continuous for:
  - an action in progress at a point of time in the past. Five years ago I was living in New York. Twenty minutes later I was standing in front of 1,000 people.
  - the background events of a story. All the fans were singing along. All the clubbers were dancing and having a good time.
  - an action in progress when another (shorter) action happened. While I was playing my last track, the manager came over and congratulated me. While she was doing an encore, she threw her shoes into the crowd. Look at this diagram.

TIPS • We can also use the Past Continuous when the longer action is interrupted: While we were having a picnic, it started to rain.

• We can use when or while with the Past Continuous: He phoned me when/while I was waiting for the train. We don't usually use while with the Past Simple: While he phoned me, I was waiting for a train.

Past Simple

- We usually make the Past Simple positive of regular verbs by adding -ed or -d to the infinitive: work → worked, live → lived, etc. There are no rules for irregular verbs. There is an Irregular Verb List on p175.
I stayed at home and watched TV.
- We make the Past Simple negative with: subject + didn't (= did not) + infinitive
He didn't go to work yesterday.
- We make Past Simple questions with: (question word) + did + subject + infinitive
What time did he call you?

Past Continuous

- We make the Past Continuous positive and negative with: subject + was, were, wasn't or weren't + verb+ing
I/He/She/It was/wasn't working when you called.
We/You/They were/weren't living in Australia in 2010.
- We make Past Continuous questions with: (question word) + was or were + subject + verb+ing
Was I/he/she/it waiting for you?
What were you/we/they doing at 2 p.m. yesterday?

4.2 → used to 4A 6 p31

- We can use used to or the Past Simple to talk about repeated actions, habits or states in the past:
I went/used to go to a lot of gigs.
I listened/used to listen to her second album all the time.
Back then I was/used to be one of Lady Gaga's biggest fans.
- We can't use used to to talk about one action in the past:
That night she sang for over two hours. not That night she used to sing for over two hours.

TIP • We can only use used to to talk about the past. To talk about habits or repeated actions in the present, we use usually + Present Simple. Compare these sentences:

I used to work at the weekend. (I don't work at the weekend now.)

I usually work at the weekend. (I work at the weekend now.)

POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE

- We make positive sentences with used to with:
subject + used to + infinitive

He used to live in Dublin when he was a teenager.

- We make negative sentences with used to with:
subject + didn't + use to + infinitive

We didn't use to go clubbing very often.

QUESTIONS

- We make questions with used to with:
(question word) + did + subject + use to + infinitive
Did you use to go out a lot when you lived in New York?
Where did you use to live when you were young?

TIPS • Used to is the same for all subjects:

I/You/He/She/We/They used to live in Ireland.

- Notice how we spell the negative and question forms: didn't use to not didn't used to; did you use to not did you used to.
- In the negative we can say didn't use to or never used to:
I never used to go to gigs when I was young.
- The short answers to yes/no questions with used to are:
Yes, I did./No, I didn't.; Yes, he did./No, he didn't., etc.

4.3 → Past Perfect 4B 5 p32

- When there is more than one action in the past, we often use the Past Perfect for the action that happened first.

second action (Past Simple) | first action (Past Perfect)

Cho joined the expedition after He also read messages that Ed calculated that	Luke had gone back to the UK. people had sent him. he'd walked about 6,000 miles.
--	--

- Compare these sentences:

- 1 When I turned on the TV, the programme started.
First I turned on the TV, then the programme started almost immediately.
- 2 When I turned on the TV, the programme had started.
First the programme started, then I turned on the TV.

TIPS • If the order of past events is clear from the context, we don't usually use the Past Perfect: We had dinner, watched TV and then went to bed.

- We don't always use the Past Perfect with before and after because the order of events is clear: We (had) finished eating before they arrived. I went home after the meeting (had) finished.

POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE

- We make the Past Perfect positive with:
subject + had or 'd + past participle

They had planned to do the whole walk together.

- We make the Past Perfect negative with:
subject + hadn't + past participle

He hadn't been to the Amazon jungle before.

TIP • The Past Perfect is the same for all subjects: I/You/He/She/It/We/They had already arrived when John got home.

QUESTIONS

- We make Past Perfect questions with:
(question word) + had + subject + past participle
What had he done before he became an explorer?

TIPS • The short answers to Past Perfect yes/no questions are:
Yes, I had./No, I hadn't., etc.

- We often use the Past Perfect after realised, thought, forgot and remembered: I realised I'd left my wallet at home.
- We often use by the time, when, as soon as, because and so to make sentences with the Past Perfect and Past Simple:
The party had finished by the time he arrived.
- We use the same adverbs and time phrases with the Past Perfect as we do with the Present Perfect Simple: Tracy had just/already finished it. See GRAMMAR 3.1 p133 for more information on adverbs and time phrases.

REAL WORLD

4.1 → Softening opinions and making generalisations 4D 3 p36

- Sometimes English speakers soften the way they express their opinions so that they don't sound rude or offensive.
- We often use these phrases in bold to soften our opinions:

Some of them can be quite aggressive at times.

On the whole, most fans just want to see a good game.

Footballers tend to earn rather a lot of money.

That's not very sensible behaviour, is it?

Generally speaking, most footballers are just normal people.

Perhaps some people can take it a bit too seriously.

- After tend to we use the infinitive: He tends to be a bit mean.
- Rather, quite, not very and a bit usually come before an adjective: They can get quite/rather/a bit noisy at times.
- We often put generally speaking and on the whole at the beginning of a sentence: Generally speaking/On the whole, most football fans aren't violent at all.
- We often use not very + positive adjective to criticise someone or something politely:
That's not very sensible behaviour. (That's stupid behaviour.)
He wasn't very polite. (He was rude.)

VOCABULARY

5.1 → Homes 5A 1 p38

HOMES AND BUILDINGS

an apartment block

a cottage /'kɒtɪdʒ/

a detached /dɪ'tætʃt/ house

a terraced /'terɪst/ house

TIP • We can say an apartment block, an apartment building or a block of flats.

PARTS OF A HOME

a balcony

a garage /'gærɑ:ʒ/

a loft

a study

a roof

stairs

TIP • We can also say upstairs and downstairs to talk about the floor above or below where we are now: I think you left your wallet upstairs. If you're going downstairs, can you make some tea?

LOCATION

in the city centre in the country in the suburbs

in a quiet/lively/friendly neighbourhood in a residential area on the ground/first/top floor

a suburb /'sʌbɜ:b/ an area where people live outside the centre of a city: They lived in a suburb of New York. People who live in the suburbs have to commute into the city.
a neighbourhood /'neɪbəhʊd/ the area of a town or city that is around someone's home: I live in a quiet neighbourhood.
lively /'laɪvli/ a lively neighbourhood has a lot of places to go (cafés, restaurants, clubs, etc.) and a lot of interesting things happening in it: We live in a very lively neighbourhood.
a residential area a part of town with a lot of houses or flats, but no offices, big shops or factories: My parents live in a residential area just outside the city centre.

TIPS • In the UK the suburbs often have a lot of detached houses and are usually quite expensive places to live.

- the ground floor [UK] = the first floor [US]; the first floor [UK] = the second floor [US], etc.
- We can also say a ground-floor flat, a top-floor flat, etc.

5.2 → Phrasal verbs (2) 5B 2 p40

clear sth out tidy a room, cupboard, etc. and get rid of the things in it that you don't want any more: I'm going to clear out the garage this weekend.

sort sth out arrange or organise things that are not in order or are untidy: I need to sort out my notes – I can't find anything!

give sth away give something to someone without asking for money: I didn't need my old TV so I gave it away.

throw sth away or throw sth out put something in the rubbish bin that you don't want any more: A What should I do with this lamp? B Throw it away/out, it's broken.

take sth out remove something from a place: Can you take the rubbish out for me, please?

tidy (sth) up make a room or place tidy by putting things back in the place where you usually keep them: I always tidy up before I go to bed.

put sth away put something in the place where you usually keep it: Don't leave your clothes on the floor – put them away.

come back return to a place: John's on holiday, but he's coming back tomorrow afternoon.

go through sth carefully look at things to find something or to see if you want to keep them: I went through everything in these boxes and threw away a lot of junk.

throw away/out put away

5.3 Verb patterns (1) 5C 4 p43

- When we use two verbs together, the form of the second verb usually depends on the first verb: start singing; decided to make; can't celebrate; tell their children to make; make it shine, etc. This is called a verb pattern.

start like begin love keep enjoy finish mind prefer hate continue	+ verb+ing (doing) decide remember forget try start like begin love need would like want plan prefer hate continue learn seem	+ infinitive with to ( to do ) can might could should would will must would rather	+ infinitive ( do ) tell ask help allow teach would like want pay	+ object + infinitive with to ( sb/sth to do ) make help let	+ object + infinitive ( sb/sth do )

TIPS • The verbs in blue in the table have more than one verb pattern. Both verb patterns have the same meaning: I started to write an email. = I started writing an email.

- In British English, like/love/hate + verb+ing is more common: I like/love/hate watching golf. In American English, like/love/hate + infinitive with to is more common: I like to watch golf.

5.4 Materials 5D 1 p44

GRAMMAR

5.1 Making comparisons 5A 5 p39

COMPARATIVES AND SUPERLATIVES

- We use comparatives (bigger, more expensive, etc.) to compare two things.
- We use superlatives (biggest, most expensive, etc.) to compare three or more things.

1-syllable adjectives; 2-syllable adjectives ending in -y

adjective	comparative	superlative old	older	oldest small	smaller	smallest
nice	nicer	nicest
big	bigger	biggest
noisy	noisier	noisiest

TIPS • When the adjective ends in -e, we only add -r or -st: safe → safer, safest.

- When the adjective ends in consonant + vowel + consonant, we double the final consonant: thin → thinner, thinnest.
- When a two-syllable adjective ends in -y, we change the -y to -i and add -er or -est: funny → funnier, funniest.

other 2-syllable adjectives; long adjectives

adjective	comparative	superlative spacious	more spacious	most spacious amazing	more amazing	most amazing patient	more patient	most patient expensive	more expensive	most expensive

- Good, bad and far are irregular: good → better, best; bad → worse, worst; far → further/farther, furthest/farthest.
- The opposites of more and most are less and least: It's a bit less expensive than the Redland house. It's the least expensive place we've seen.
- We use much, far or a lot before a comparative to say there's a big difference: That place was much/far/a lot noisier than the other two.
- We use slightly, a little or a bit before a comparative to say there's a small difference: It seemed slightly/a little/a bit bigger than where we live now.

TIPS • We use the, possessive 's or a possessive adjective before a superlative: It had the most amazing view. He's Peter's best friend. That's their oldest daughter. The most common form is 'the + superlative'.

- When we compare two things we use than after the comparative: The back garden was far smaller than I'd expected.
- We can also use more and most with nouns: It's got more space. It's got the most rooms.

OTHER WAYS TO MAKE COMPARISONS

- We can use the same + (noun) + as to say two people or things are the same: It's the same size as our house.
- We can also use as + adjective + as to say two people or things are the same: It was as small as the one we've got now.
- We can use similar to + noun to say two people or things are nearly the same: It's very similar to where we live now.
- We can use not as + adjective + as to say two people or things are not the same: It's not as big as the other two places.
- We can also use different from + noun to say two people or things are not the same: It was different from anything else we've seen.

TIP • We can say different from or different to: It was different from/to anything else we've seen.

5.2 The future: will, be going to, Present

Continuous 5B 6 p41

- We use will when we decide to do something at the time of speaking: OK, I'll throw those away.
- We use be going to when we already have a plan or an intention to do something: I'm going to sort out the rest of them at the weekend.
- We use the Present Continuous when we have an arrangement with another person: He's picking them up tomorrow evening after work.
- We use be going to for a prediction that is based on present evidence (something we can see now): It's going to break the first time she uses it!
- We use will for a prediction that is a personal opinion and is not based on present evidence: But you'll never listen to them again.

TIPS • When we use the Present Continuous for future arrangements, we usually know exactly when the arrangements are happening. They are the kind of arrangements we can write in a diary: I'm having dinner with Richard on Saturday.

- For how to make the positive, negative and question forms of the Present Continuous, see GRAMMAR 2.2 p131.
- We can also use be going to to talk about future arrangements: What are you going to do tomorrow?

will

POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE

- We make the positive and negative forms of will with: subject + 'll, will or won't (= will not) + infinitive
I'll give you a ring next week.
He won't talk to anyone about it.

TIP • Will/won't is the same for all subjects: I/you/he/she/it/we/they will/won't do it.

QUESTIONS

- We make questions with will with: (question word) + will + subject + infinitive
Will you use that old printer again?
What will he decide to throw away?

TIPS • We often use Do you think ...? to make questions with will: Do you think your sister will like this dress?

- We often use probably or definitely with will: He'll probably/definitely call you back tomorrow.
- We often use might to mean 'will possibly': I might finish it this weekend.
- We also use will to talk about future facts and for offers: I'll be 45 next birthday. I'll help you clear out the study.

be going to

POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE

- We make the positive and negative of be going to with: subject + am, are or is + (not) + going to + infinitive
I'm/m not going to keep this jumper.
You/We/They're/aren't going to use it again.
He/She/It's/isn't going to work any more.

QUESTIONS

- We make questions with be going to with: (question word) + am, are or is + subject + going to + infinitive
When am I going to see you again?
Are you/we/they going to move house?
What's he/she/it going to do tomorrow?

TIP • With the verb go, we usually say I'm going to the cinema. not I'm going to go to the cinema. But both are correct.

REAL WORLD

5.1 Explaining what you need 5D 3 p44

saying you don't know the name of something

I'm sorry, I've forgotten what it's called.
I don't know what it's called in English.
I can't remember what they're called.
I'm sorry, I don't know the word for them.

describing what something is used for

It's a thing for (making soup).
It's stuff for (getting marks off your clothes).
You use it when (you get coffee on your shirt).
You use them to (mend your clothes).

describing what something looks like

It's a type of (liquid).
They're made of (metal).
They've got (a hole in the end).
They look like (headphones).

checking something is the right thing

Is this what you're looking for?
Do you mean (a blender)?
Oh, you mean (stain remover).

- We often use stuff to talk about uncountable nouns we don't know the name of.
- After It's a thing for ... and It's stuff for ... we use verb+ing.
- After You use it/them ... we use the infinitive with to.

VOCABULARY

6.1 make and do 6A 1 p46

make	do
a decision	the cleaning
a mistake	a course
money	homework
friends	nothing
a noise	exercise
dinner	the washing-up
an excuse	the shopping
someone laugh/cry	some work
up your mind	the washing
progress	a degree
a cake	an exam
an appointment	the housework
a mess of something	someone a favour

make	do
a decision	the cleaning
a mistake	a course
money	homework
friends	nothing
a noise	exercise
dinner	the washing-up
an excuse	the shopping
someone laugh/cry	some work
up your mind	the washing
progress	a degree
a cake	an exam
an appointment	the housework
a mess of something	someone a favour

make an excuse give a reason to explain why you did something wrong (often used in the plural): You need to stop making excuses and be more responsible.

make up your mind make a decision: I can't make up my mind where to go on holiday.

make progress get closer to achieving or finishing something: We haven't finished yet, but we're making good progress.

make an appointment arrange a time and place to meet someone, particularly a doctor, dentist, etc.: I've made an appointment to see the doctor.

make a mess of something (informal) do something badly or make a lot of mistakes: I made a mess of my exam. I only got 23%.

do the housework do things like washing, cleaning, etc. in order to keep the house clean and tidy: I can't stand doing the housework.

do someone a favour do something to help someone: Could you do me a favour and help me with my homework?

do the washing-up

do the washing

TIPS • We often use make for 'food' words: make lunch, make dinner, make a cake, etc.

- We often use do for 'study' words: do homework, do a degree, do an exam, etc.
- We usually use do for jobs connected to the house: do the cleaning, do the washing, etc.
- do the washing-up [UK] = do the dishes [US]

6.2 Reflexive pronouns 6B 7 p49

- We use reflexive pronouns (myself, yourself, etc.) when the subject and object are the same people: It's important that they are allowed to enjoy themselves.
- We use by myself, by yourself, etc. to mean alone: This means children spend most of their free time studying by themselves.
- We also use reflexive pronouns to emphasise that we do something instead of someone else doing it for us: We should also encourage children to work things out themselves.

subject pronouns	reflexive pronouns	subject pronouns	reflexive pronouns
I	myself	it	itself
you (singular)	yourself	we	ourselves
he	himself	you (plural)	yourselves
she	herself	they	themselves

TIPS • Some verbs that are reflexive in other languages aren't reflexive in English, for example meet, relax and feel.

- We can say on my own, on your own, etc. instead of by myself, by yourself, etc.: I enjoy living by myself/on my own. We don't say by my own.
- Notice the difference between themselves and each other:

Nicky and Alice are looking at themselves.

Nicky and Alice are looking at each other.

6.3 Synonyms 6C 6 p51

- We often use synonyms when we are speaking or writing so that we don't repeat words.

choose	pick	concerned	worried satisfied	content	frightened	scared
lucky	fortunate	make a decision	make up your mind
behave	act	try to do	have a go at doing notice	spot	talk to someone	chat to someone by chance	accidentally	nice	pleasant attitude	approach	enormous	huge sure	certain	pleased	glad deal with	cope with	wonderful	brilliant show	reveal	terrible	awful

TIP • Many synonyms in English have small differences in meaning or use. For example, chat to someone is more informal than talk to someone.

6.1 First conditional 6A 5 p47

- Look at this first conditional. Notice the different clauses.

if clause (if + Present Simple)	main clause ('ll, will or won't + infinitive)
If I start teaching again,	I'll be exhausted after a year.

- The first conditional talks about the result of a possible event or situation in the future.
- The if clause talks about things that are possible, but not certain: If I start teaching again, I'll be exhausted after a year. (maybe I will start teaching again). The main clause says what we think the result will be in this situation (I'm sure I will be exhausted after a year).
- The if clause can be first or second in the sentence: I'll be exhausted after a year if I start teaching again.
- We make first conditional questions with: (question word) + will + subject + infinitive + if ... : What will you study if you do another degree?
- We often use might in the main clause to mean 'will perhaps': You might not get in this year if you don't apply soon.
- We can use unless to mean 'if not' in the first conditional: Unless I do it now, I'll be too old. = If I don't do it now, I'll be too old.

6.2 Future time clauses 6A 6 p47

- We can also use sentences with before, as soon as, after, until and when to talk about the future: I'll ask them before they go on holiday.
- In these sentences we use will/won't + infinitive in the main clause: I'll make a decision after I talk to him.
- We use the Present Simple in clauses beginning with before, as soon as, after, until and when: I won't say anything to them until you decide what to do.

TIP • We use when to say we are certain that something will happen. Compare these two sentences:

A I'll tell Jo when I see her. (I'm certain I will see Jo.)
 B I'll tell Jo if I see her. (Maybe I will see Jo.)

6.3 Zero conditional; conditionals with modal verbs and imperatives; in case 6B 3 p48

ZERO CONDITIONAL

- Zero conditionals talk about things that are always true: If you have children, you want them to be happy.
- In zero conditionals both verbs are in the Present Simple: If children study all the time, they don't develop in other ways.

TIP • If and when have the same meaning in zero conditionals: If/When I'm stressed, I don't sleep very well.

ZERO OR FIRST CONDITIONAL

- Compare these sentences:

A If my children get good grades, I take them to the beach.

This sentence is a zero conditional. It talks about something that is always true. (I take my children to the beach every time they get good grades at school.)

B If my children get good grades, I'll take them to the beach.

This sentence is a first conditional. It talks about one specific time in the future. (I'll take my children to the beach if they get good grades in their next exam.)

CONDITIONALS WITH MODAL VERBS AND IMPERATIVES

- We can use modal verbs (should, can, etc.) in the main clause of conditionals: If parents want their children to be happy, they shouldn't put too much pressure on them. If you criticise children for not getting good grades, they can feel like they're failures.
- We can also use imperatives (praise, don't give, etc.) in the main clause of conditionals: If you want to help your children, praise the effort they make.
- In these conditionals we use the Present Simple in the if clause: If you need some help, ask me.

TIP • We can use other modal verbs (must, have to, might, etc.) in conditionals: If you don't understand, you must ask the teacher.

IN CASE

- We use in case to say that we are prepared for something that might happen: Students are scared of answering questions in case they get them wrong. I'll take an umbrella in case it rains.
- In case* and if have different meanings. Compare these sentences:
MIKE I'll buy some food in case I get hungry.
 Mike is definitely going to buy some food so that he is prepared if he gets hungry in the future.
JAMES I'll buy some food if I get hungry.
 James might buy some food, but only if he gets hungry in the future.

REAL WORLD

6.1 Discussion language 6D 4 p52

asking to speak	ways of agreeing
May I make a suggestion? Can I make a point here? Can I just say something here?	Yes, that sounds like a good idea. Well, it's (definitely) worth a try. Yes, that's not a bad idea. Yes, that could work. What a great/brilliant idea!
making suggestions
How about (having some live music)? We could (hire some professional musicians). What about (charging people five pounds each)? Have you thought of (asking the school to put on a musical)? I suggest we (have some competitions).
ways of disagreeing
	I'm not sure about that. For one thing, ... Sorry, I don't think we should do that. I'm not sure that's a good idea.

VOCABULARY

7.1 Goals and achievements 7A 1 p54

achieve your goals succeed in doing the things that you want to do in life, especially after a lot of work: If you work hard, you will achieve your goals.

put a lot of effort into sth use a lot of physical or mental activity in order to achieve something: She puts a lot of effort into everything she does. Also: make an effort to do sth do your best make the greatest effort possible: It doesn't matter if you don't win, just try to do your best.

have an opportunity be in a situation that makes it possible for you to do something that you want to do: Henry was very happy to have the opportunity to work in Hollywood.

mess sth up (informal) do something wrong or badly: I really messed up that job interview.

dream of sth imagine something that you would like to happen: I've always dreamed of living on a beautiful island.

encourage /ɪn'kʌrɪdʒ/ talk or behave in a way that makes somebody else more confident to do something: My friends encouraged me to write a novel.

take part in sth be involved in an activity with other people: All the children took part in the competition.

make the most of sth get the maximum use, benefit or enjoyment from something, often because it may not last long: It's a beautiful day – let's make the most of it.

go wrong change or end in a bad or negative way: Whatever I try to do, it always goes wrong.

TIP • We say have an/the opportunity to do something not have a/the possibility to do something.

7.2 Computers (1) 7B 1 p56

a password a secret combination of letters or numbers which you use when you log onto a computer website.

install software (onto a computer) put a computer program onto a computer so that the computer can use it.

back sth up copy documents, files, etc. from a computer onto a memory stick, another computer, online, etc.

store put or keep things in a particular place so you can read or use them in the future.

a hard drive part of a computer that stores information.

a memory stick a small piece of equipment that you use for storing information or photos. Also a USB drive or a USB stick spam unwanted emails, usually advertisements.

a virus /'vaɪrəs/ a computer program which can make copies of itself and stops a computer from working normally.

crash when a computer or a website suddenly stops working.

copy sb in (on an email) send somebody a copy of an email that you are sending to somebody else.

forward sth to sb send an email you have received to somebody else's computer.

delete remove a document, email, etc. from a computer.

print (out) produce a copy of a document, etc. on paper.

scan use a machine to put a document, etc. into a computer.

WiFi a wireless way of connecting computers to the internet in a public place (a café, a train, etc.).

7.3 Computers (2) 7C 1 p58

A social networking site is a website such as Facebook, Google+, etc. that is designed to help people communicate and share information, photos, etc. with a group.

When you update your status, you add a new comment to your page on a social networking site. Also: update your (Facebook) page and a status update

A profile is the personal information (interests, married, etc.) you add to your page on a social networking site.

When you upload something, you copy or move photos, documents, etc. to a website. (opposite: download)

A forum is a website or part of a website where people can discuss particular topics. Also: a message board

When you post a comment on a website, forum, etc. you write something for other people to read.

When you tweet, you write a message on Twitter for other people to read. Also: a tweet (noun)

When you follow somebody on Twitter, you are automatically sent messages from this person when they tweet.

A link is a connection between two pages on the internet.

7.4 Use of articles: a, an, the, no article

7C 4 p59

• We use a or an:

- a when we don't know, or it isn't important, which one: Many of them can't go a day without checking for status updates.
- b with jobs: If you're a designer working in Dublin ...
- c to talk about a person or thing for the first time: ... you have a new person to add to your collection of friends.

• We use the:

- d to talk about the same person or thing for the second/ third/fourth, etc. time: But do you really want to be friends with the person?
- e when there is only one (or only one in a particular place): Social networking sites are one of the most amazing success stories of the internet.
- f with countries that are groups of islands or states: According to a children's charity in the UK ...
- g with superlatives: The largest number of active social relationships is 150.*

• We don't use an article:

- h for most towns, cities, countries and continents: ... or an engineer who's moving to Egypt ...
- i to talk about people or things in general: But what effect is this having on society?
- j for some public places (school, hospital, university, college, prison, etc.) when we talk about what they are used for in general: You don't have to be at school or university to use social networking sites.

TIP • We use the with public places when we talk about the building: She works in the school opposite the park. He's gone to the hospital to visit his father.

7.1 Ability 7A 4 p55

- These phrases talk about things you can or could do:
 be quite/very/really good at (doing sth): She's very good at encouraging people.
be able to (do sth): I was able to give a good performance.
know how (to do sth): He knows how to do some really amazing tricks.
find sth quite/very/really easy (to do): I found some of the tricks quite easy to learn.
manage to (do sth): I managed to do all the tricks without messing them up.
- These phrases talk about things you can't or couldn't do:
 not have a clue how (to do sth): I didn't have a clue how to sing opera.
find sth impossible (to do): I found it impossible to breathe and sing at the same time.
be useless at (doing sth): I was useless at learning languages at school.
have no idea how (to do sth): I had no idea how to do any magic tricks.
be no good at (doing sth): I'm no good at doing card tricks. not be able to (do sth): I was disappointed that I wasn't able to win.

TIPS • We use manage to do sth to talk about something you do successfully, but is difficult.

- We can also say be brilliant/great/excellent/not bad at doing sth and be hopeless/bad/terrible/awful/rubbish at doing sth.
- We can also say find something difficult/hard to do.

+ infinitive (do)	+ infinitive with to (to do)	+ verb+ing (doing)
(not) be able to can could	not have a clue how find something impossible/ quite easy have no idea how know how	be quite/very/ really good at be useless at be no good at manage

TIP • We can also use a noun or a pronoun after be good at, be useless at, etc.: Tim's hopeless at tennis, but Ian's brilliant at it.

7.2 Second conditional 7B 3 p56

- We use the second conditional to talk about imaginary situations: If I lost my laptop, I'd probably lose my job! (I don't think this will ever happen to me.)
- The second conditional talks about the present or future.
- We often use the second conditional to talk about the opposite of what is true or real: If we didn't have WiFi, this place would be empty. (But we have WiFi, so this is an imaginary situation.)

POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE

if clause (if + Past Simple)	main clause ('d, would or wouldn't + infinitive)
If I lost my laptop, If the internet didn't exist ,	I'd probably lose my job! I wouldn't have a business.

- Compare these sentences:

A If I have enough money, I'll buy a new laptop.
This is a real possibility (the person might buy a new laptop).

B If I had enough money, I'd buy a new laptop.
This is an imaginary situation (the person can't buy a new laptop).

TIPS • The if clause can be first or second in the sentence:
We'd lose a lot of customers if our website crashed.
If our website crashed, we'd lose a lot of customers.

- We can say If I/he/she/it was ... or If I/he/she/it were ... in the second conditional: If I was/were rich, I'd buy a big house.
- We can use might + infinitive in the main clause of the second conditional to mean 'would perhaps': If they turned off their computers, they might make some new friends.
- We can use could + infinitive in the main clause of the second conditional to mean 'would be able to': If we didn't have online meetings, I could travel a bit more.

QUESTIONS

- We often make questions in the second conditional with What would you do if ... ?: What would you do if you lost your laptop?
- We can also make yes/no questions in the second conditional: If someone asked you to lend them your computer, would you do it?
- The short answers to these yes/no questions are: Yes, I would./No, I wouldn't. We can also say (Yes,) I might.

REAL WORLD

7.1 Indirect and direct questions 7D 3 p60

- In more formal situations we often use indirect questions because they sound more polite: Could you tell me what time it starts? sounds more polite than What time does it start?

indirect question phrase	question word or if/whether	main clause (positive verb form)
Could you tell me	what time	it starts?
Have you any idea	if	he's been invited?
Can you tell me	when	they're arriving?
Do you know	whether	we've booked them a hotel room?

- We use if or whether in indirect questions when there isn't a question word. If and whether are the same: Have you any idea if/whether we asked him to come?
- We don't use if or whether with Do you think ... ?: Do you think we should email everyone again? not ~~Do you think if/whether we should email everyone again?~~
- In indirect questions, the main verb is in the positive form. We say: Can you tell me when they're arriving? not ~~Can you tell me when are they arriving?~~

VOCABULARY

8.1 Bad weather and natural disasters

8A 1 p62

a storm very bad weather with lots of rain, snow, wind, etc.: There was a terrible storm last night.

lightning a bright light in the sky caused by electricity during a storm, usually followed by thunder: A man was hit by lightning last night.

a gale a very strong wind: There will be gales in the south tonight.

a hurricane (= a typhoon /taɪ'fu:n/ or a cyclone) a violent storm with extremely strong winds: Dozens of houses were destroyed by last night's hurricane.

a tornado (US: a twister) an extremely strong and dangerous wind that blows in a circle and destroys buildings: There are often tornados in the Caribbean in the summer.

a heat wave a period of unusually hot weather that continues for a long time: The heat wave in Texas has been going on for over a month.

a blizzard a very bad snow storm with strong winds: We got stuck in a blizzard for six hours.

a flood /flʌd/ when a lot of water covers an area that is usually dry, especially when it rains a lot or a river becomes too full: There have been floods in many parts of India.

an earthquake /'ɜ:θkweɪk/ a sudden violent movement of the Earth's surface, often causing a lot of damage: In 1906 parts of San Francisco were destroyed by a huge earthquake.

a tsunami an extremely large wave that can cause a lot of damage when it hits the coast: The tsunami in Asia was one of the most powerful ever recorded.

a drought /draʊt/ a long period of time with no rain and not enough water for plants and animals: The drought in north Africa has continued for over six months.

a landslide when a large quantity of rocks and earth falls down the side of a mountain: The landslide closed the road through the mountains for over a month.

TIPS • The adjective for storm is stormy: It was a very stormy night.

• We say thunder and lightning not lightning and thunder.

• Flood is a noun and a verb: The whole village was flooded.

8.2 Containers 8B 1 p64

a bottle

a bag

a tin a box

a can a carton

a jar

a packet

COMMON COLLOCATIONS

a bottle of milk, beer, ketchup, olive oil, lemonade

a bag of sweets, potatoes, crisps [US: chips]

a tin of tuna, biscuits, cat food, soup, beans

a box of chocolates, tissues

a can of beer, lemonade

a carton of milk, orange juice, soup

a jar of honey, jam, marmalade

a packet of biscuits, sweets, soup, beans, tissues, crisps

TIPS • We usually use a tin for food (a tin of tomatoes) and a can for drink (a can of cola).

• Marmalade is made from citrus fruit (oranges, etc.). Jam is made from soft fruit (strawberries, etc.).

8.3 Word building (2): prefixes and opposites 8C 6 p67

• We often use the prefixes un-, dis-, im-, in- and ir- to make opposites of words.

prefix	examples
un-	unconscious unusual uncommon unbelievable unselfish unreliable unambitious unhelpful dis-	disappear dishonest disorganised disloyal dissimilar
im-	impossible impatient impolite immature
in-	incorrect inconsiderate informal insensitive
ir-	irresponsible irregular

TIPS • We can use these prefixes to make opposites of adjectives and verbs: unconscious, dishonest (adjectives); undo, disappear (verbs).

• Adjectives beginning with p usually take the prefix im-: patient → impatient.

• Adjectives beginning with r usually take the prefix ir-: responsible → irresponsible.

8.4 Word building (2): other prefixes and suffixes 8C 7 p67

• We often use other prefixes and suffixes to change the meaning of words.

prefix/ suffix	meaning	examples
under-	not enough	underestimate underpaid undercharge underuse
re-	do something again	reattach repaid rewrite recharge remarry replay reuse over-	too much	over-optimistic overpaid oversleep overcharge overuse
-ful	with	hopeful painful careful successful playful useful
-less	without	harmless painless sleepless careless useless

8.1 The passive 8A 4 p63

- In active sentences the focus is on the person or thing doing the action (earthquakes under the ocean). In passive sentences the focus is on the result of the action (tsunamis).
- In passive sentences we can use 'by + the agent' to say what or who does the action.
- We often use the passive when we are more interested in what happens to someone or something than in who or what did the action: Droughts often happen because all the trees have been cut down.
- We make the passive with: subject + be + past participle

verb form	be	past participle
Present Simple	am/are/is	caused
Present Continuous	am/are/is being	caused
Present Perfect Simple	have/has been	cut down
Past Simple	was/were	killed
be going to	am/are/is going to be	hit will	will be	flooded
can	can be	caused

- We make negative passive sentences by using the negative form of be: it isn't caused, they haven't been cut down, etc.

TIP • We can use other modal verbs (could, must, should, etc.) in passive verb forms: Many people could be made homeless.

8.2 Quantifiers 8B 6 p65

quantity	plural countable nouns (bottles, tins, etc.)	uncountable nouns (rubbish, stuff, etc.)
nothing	not any no	not any no
a small quantity	not many hardly any several a few	not much a bit of hardly any a little a large quantity	a lot of/lots of loads of plenty of	a lot of/lots of loads of plenty of more than we want	too many	too much less than we want	not enough	not enough
the correct quantity	enough	enough

- Not many, hardly any and not much* have a negative meaning. Several, a few, a bit of and a little have a positive meaning. Several is usually more than a few.

SOME, ANY, MUCH, MANY

- We usually use some in positive sentences: I've found some coffee.
- We usually use any in negative sentences and questions: There isn't any sugar. Is there any milk?
- We don't usually use much or many in positive sentences: There's a lot of stuff here. not There's much stuff here. I've got lots of old books. not I've got many old books.

TIPS • We use some and any with plural countable nouns (biscuits, beans, etc.) and uncountable nouns (pasta, milk, etc.).

- We often use some in questions with Would you like ...?: Would you like some coffee?

REAL WORLD

8.1 Warnings and advice 8D 3 p68

- We give warnings when we think something might be dangerous.

asking for advice

Could you give me some advice?
What (else) do you think we should take with us?
What should we do if we get lost?
Do you think it's a good idea to tell someone where we're going?

giving advice

If I were you, I'd buy a new tent.
Make sure you take plenty of warm clothes.
It's a good idea to take some waterproof clothing in case it rains.
Don't forget to take a map.
It's worth taking a compass, just in case.
You'd better take a torch in case you have to walk in the dark.

giving warnings

Don't wear new boots or else you'll get blisters.
Whatever you do, don't lose sight of each other.
Be careful when you're crossing rivers.
Watch out for wolves.

responding to advice or warnings

That's really useful, thanks.
That's a good idea. I hadn't thought of that.
Right, thanks. That's really helpful.
That sounds like good advice.

- After If I were you, I'd ... and You'd better ... (= you had better) we use the infinitive: If I were you, I'd buy a new tent. You'd better take a torch.
- After It's a good idea ... and Don't forget ... we use the infinitive with to: It's a good idea to take some waterproof clothing. Don't forget to take a map.
- After It's worth ..., we use verb+ing: It's worth taking a compass.
- After Whatever you do, ... we use the imperative (usually the negative imperative): Whatever you do, don't lose sight of each other.

call sth off cancel something that was planned: The match was called off because of bad weather.

TIP • People who take part in a demonstration are called demonstrators. People who protest against something are called protesters.

9.3 Body movements and responses

9C 1 p74

TIP • If you have an itch, you want to scratch it.

9.4 Connecting words 9C 4 p75

- Although /ɔ:lðəu/, even though /ɪ:vənðəu/, despite, in spite of and however are similar in meaning to but.
- We use although, even though, despite and in spite of to contrast two clauses in the same sentence: Although/Even though we don't enjoy crying, it's actually good for us. Despite/In spite of appearing rude, they could be yawning so they can listen more closely to what you're saying.
- We use however to contrast two sentences. We put a comma ( , ) after however: Scientists have shown that people are more likely to forgive you if you blush. However, people might not forgive you so easily if you don't blush at all!
- After despite and in spite of we usually use a noun or verb+ing: In spite of this knowledge, ...; Despite appearing rude, ...
- After although and even though we usually use a clause: Although/Even though we don't enjoy crying, ...

TIPS • Even though is usually stronger than although.

- We can put although, even though, despite and in spite of at the beginning or in the middle of a sentence. We usually put however at the beginning of a sentence.
- In spoken English, we often use though /ðəu/ instead of although or even though. We usually put though at the end of a sentence: A I enjoyed the film. B Me too. I didn't like the ending, though.

9.5 Health problems, symptoms and treatment 9D 1 p76

health problems	asthma an allergy hay fever flu a migraine an infection a virus food poisoning a cold symptoms	a runny nose a blocked-up nose wheezy sneeze be sick throw up a sore throat /θrəut/ a temperature /'temprətʃə/ a cough /kɒf/ a rash diarrhoea a stomach ache /'stʌməkeɪk/
treatment	antibiotics penicillin painkillers paracetamol cough medicine

hay fever	an illness with symptoms similar to a cold that is caused by flowers or grass in the spring and summer.
a virus /'vaɪrəs/	a very small living thing which can cause illnesses, disease and infections.
food poisoning	when you eat some food that is bad and makes you ill.
a runny nose	when your nose produces liquid all the time, usually when you have a cold.
a blocked-up nose	when you can't breathe through your nose.
wheezy	when you breathe noisily and with difficulty, particularly when you have asthma or an allergy.
sneeze	when you blow air down through your nose suddenly, for example when you have a cold.
throw up (informal)	be sick, vomit.
diarrhoea /daiə'rɪə/	when you have to go to the toilet all the time.

penicillin /penə'sɪlɪn/	a type of antibiotic.
paracetamol /pærə'si:təmɒl/	a type of painkiller.

TIPS • We can say I've got a stomach ache, or I've got stomach ache. We can also say I've got a toothache, or I've got toothache, and I've got a headache, but not I've got headache.

- We can use be sick to mean 'be ill' or 'vomit/throw up'. In American English, be sick is more common than be ill: Sorry, I can't come to work today. I'm ill. (UK) I'm sick. (US)
- Sneeze is a noun and a verb. When a person sneezes, we often say Bless you!

hay fever

a sore throat

a temperature

a stomach ache

painkillers cough medicine

GRAMMAR

9.1 Relative clauses with who, that, which, whose, where and when 9A 4 p71

- We often use relative clauses to say which person, thing, place, etc. we are talking about.
- In relative clauses we use:
  - a who or that for people: The woman who I was sharing a room with ... I'm the type of person that eats three meals a day.
  - b that or which for things: The food that we usually eat contains toxins which stay in our bodies.
  - c where for places: I was taken to the guest house where everyone was staying.
  - d whose for possessives: The woman whose fasting programme we were following ...
  - e when for times: This was also when I started getting really hungry.

TIPS • We usually use who for people (that is also correct).

- We usually use that for things (which is also correct).
- We don't use what in relative clauses: The food what we usually eat ... We can use what to mean 'the thing/things that': Now I'm much more careful about what I eat. (= the things that I eat).

LEAVING OUT WHO, THAT, WHICH

- We can leave out who, that or which when it isn't the subject of the relative clause.
- Compare the relative clauses in these sentences:
  - A I'm the type of person that eats three meals a day.
In this sentence we must use that because it is the subject of the relative clause.
  - B The food (that) we usually eat contains toxins.
In this sentence we can leave out that because it is the object of the relative clause (we is the subject).

TIPS • We never leave out whose in relative clauses.

- We can usually leave out where if we add a preposition at the end of the relative clause: That's the café where I met my wife.
→ That's the café I met my wife in.
- We can only leave out when if the time reference is clear: Monday's the day (when) I play tennis.

That's the man who stole my phone!

That's the house where I was born.

9.2 Present Perfect Simple active and passive for recent events 9B 4 p73

- We use the Present Perfect Simple for giving news about something that happened a short time ago, but we don't say exactly when.
World leaders have met to discuss the global economy.
A new report on the environment has just been published.
- We make the Present Perfect Simple active with:
I/you/we/they + 've, have or haven't + past participle
he/she/it + 's, has or hasn't + past participle

The UK has failed to meet its targets.
We haven't met our targets yet.
- We make the Present Perfect Simple passive with:
I/you/we/they + 've, have or haven't + been + past participle
he/she/it + 's, has or hasn't + been + past participle

At least forty people have been arrested.
Some of the items still haven't been examined.
- We often use passive verb forms in radio and TV news reports and newspaper articles.
- When we say the exact time something happened, we must use the Past Simple active or passive: Gareth Jones found the treasure five days ago.

JUST, YET, ALREADY, STILL

- We use just to say something happened a short time ago. We put just after the auxiliary: The ministers have just had a meeting. A new report has just been published.
- We use yet to say something hasn't happened, but we think it will happen in the future. We put yet at the end of the sentence or clause: We haven't met our targets yet. Why haven't we heard anything from the government yet?
- We use already to say something happened some time in the past, maybe sooner than we expected. We put already after the auxiliary: Experts have already examined most of the items. CO<sub>2</sub> has already been reduced by 2.7%.
- We use still to say something started in the past and continues in the present. We put still before the auxiliary: Some of the items still haven't been examined.

TIPS • We don't use just or already in negative sentences: I've just seen him. not ~~I haven't just seen him.~~; The meeting has already finished. not ~~The meeting hasn't already finished.~~

- We don't use yet in positive sentences: She hasn't told him yet. Has she told him yet? but not ~~She's told him yet.~~
- We only use still in negative sentences with the Present Perfect Simple: Some of the items still haven't been examined. not ~~Some of the items still have been examined.~~

REAL WORLD

9.1 What doctors say 9D 2 p76

Now, what seems to be the problem?
How long have you been feeling like this?
Do you know if you're allergic to anything?
What have you eaten recently?
Come back if you're not feeling better in two days.
Have you been taking anything for them?
Have you got any other symptoms?
Right, let me have a look at you.
I'm just going to take your temperature.
Here's a prescription for some painkillers.

9.2 What patients say 9D 5 p76

I'm not feeling very well.
I haven't been feeling very well recently.
I've got a terrible stomach ache.
My chest hurts.
I keep getting really bad headaches.
I can't stop sneezing.
I'm allergic to penicillin.
Do I need some antibiotics?
How often should I take them?
Do I need to make another appointment?

- We use I keep ... and I can't stop ... for things that happen lots of times. We don't want these things to happen.
- After I keep ... and I can't stop ... we use verb+ing: I keep waking up at night. I can't stop sneezing.

TIPS • We can use -ache to talk about a pain in your head, tooth, stomach, back or ear (headache, toothache, stomach ache, backache, earache): I've got a terrible headache.

- For other parts of the body, we use My ... hurts: My knee hurts. not ~~I've got kneeache.~~
- We can also say I've got a pain in my ...: I've got a pain in my knee.

VOCABULARY

10.1 Contacting people 10A 1 p78

get hold of sb contact somebody, often with difficulty: Did you manage to get hold of Mrs Edwards?

let sb know sth tell somebody some information: Let me know when you get there.

be in touch /tʌtʃ/ with sb communicate regularly with somebody by phone, email, letter, etc.: Are you still in touch with any of your old school friends?

lose touch with sb not be in touch with somebody any more, usually because they have moved house, changed job, etc.: I lost touch with Tim after he moved to Australia.

keep in touch with sb or stay in touch with sb not lose touch with somebody: I hope we keep in touch while you're in the USA.

get in touch with sb contact somebody by writing, emailing or phoning them: I'm trying to get in touch with somebody from the office.

- We can say be/keep/lose/get in touch with somebody or be/keep/lose/get in contact with somebody: I'm still in touch/contact with my old boss.
- We can also say get back in touch with somebody, which means 'communicate with somebody again after a long time'.

10.2 Describing people 10B 1 p80

APPEARANCE

AGE

- We often use in his/her teens/early twenties/mid-thirties/late forties, etc. to talk about someone's approximate age.

TIP • We use The person/man/woman/one with ... + (red) hair, glasses, a beard, etc., but The person/man/woman/one in ... + clothes: She's the woman with long wavy hair and glasses. He's the one in a blue suit.

10.3 Phrasal verbs (3): meanings

10C 3 p82

get out of sth avoid doing something you don't want to do: I tried to get out of the whole thing.

get over sth feel better after you have been unhappy or ill: Olivia got over her last three divorces quite quickly.

go up increase or rise: The number of divorces in the UK is still going up.

look sth up find some information in a book or on a computer: I looked some figures up.

point sth out tell someone some information you think that they don't know or have forgotten: I didn't like to point this out to her.

put sth off decide or arrange to do something at a later time: She should put the wedding off.

fall out (with sb) argue with somebody and stop being friendly with them: You two have never fallen out.

come up with sth think of an idea or a solution to a problem: I couldn't come up with a good enough excuse.

split up (with sb) end a marriage or relationship: I wondered how long it would be before Olivia and Tony split up.

come across sth find something by accident: I came across a newspaper report.

10.4 Phrasal verbs (3): grammar

10C 4 p83

• Phrasal verbs have two or three words: wake up, look after, get on with, etc. Look at the differences between the four types of phrasal verbs.

TYPE 1 phrasal verbs don't have an object (fall out, split up, go up, etc.):
You two have never fallen out.

TYPE 2 phrasal verbs always have an object (get over sth, come across sth, etc.). The object is always after the phrasal verb:
Olivia got over her divorces quickly.
Olivia got over them quickly.

TYPE 3 phrasal verbs always have an object (look sth up, put sth off, point sth out, etc.). If the object is a noun, you can put it in the middle or after the phrasal verb:
I looked some figures up.
I looked up some figures.

If the object is a pronoun, you must put it in the middle of the phrasal verb:
I looked them up. not I looked up them.

TYPE 4 phrasal verbs have three words and always have an object (get out of sth, come up with sth, etc.). The object is always after the phrasal verb:
I tried to get out of the whole thing.
I tried to get out of it.

TIP • We can sometimes add a preposition to some type 1 phrasal verbs to make them type 4 phrasal verbs: I've never fallen out with my brother. Georgina has just split up with her boyfriend.

10.1 was/were going to, was/were ## supposed to 10A 5 p79

- We use was/were going to to talk about plans we made in the past which didn't happen, or won't happen in the future. Look at these sentences.

We were going to visit the Bradleys later that year, but we didn't go for some reason.

(They planned to visit the Bradleys, but they didn't.)

We were going to spend our anniversary in the cottage in Wales where we had our honeymoon, but it was already booked.

(They planned to spend their anniversary in the cottage in Wales, but now they aren't going to go there.)

- We use was/were supposed to to talk about things we agreed to do, or other people expected us to do, but we didn't do. Look at these sentences.

Tom was supposed to book the cottage months ago, but he forgot.

(Tom agreed to book the cottage, but he didn't book it.)

I was supposed to call you back, wasn't I? Sorry, Leo, I was out all day.

(Leo expected his mother to call him back, but she didn't.)

- After was/were going to and was/were supposed to we use the infinitive: It was going to be a surprise party.

I was supposed to call you back.

TIP • We often use was/were going to or was/were supposed to to apologise for not doing something. We usually give a reason: Sorry, I was going to call you back last night, but I didn't get home until late.

10.2 Modal verbs (2): making deductions

10B 3 p81

- We often use the modal verbs must, might, could, may and can't to make deductions in the present.
- We use must to talk about something that we believe is true: He must be talking to some guests in the other room. He must know that speech by now.
- We use could, may or might to talk about something that we think is possibly true: He might be in the bathroom. He may want to be on his own for a bit. He could be picking people up from the station. It could be the guy that moved to New York.
- We use can't to talk about something that we believe isn't true: That can't be her real hair colour. He can't be having a cigarette.
- When we know something is definitely true, or is definitely not true, we don't use a modal verb: He's practising his speech in front of the mirror. No, that isn't Derek Bradley.
- To make deductions about states we use: modal verb + infinitive

He must know that speech by now.

- To make deductions about something happening now we use: modal verb + be + verb+ing

He must be talking to some guests in the other room.

TIP • We don't use can or mustn't to make deductions: It could be him. not It can be him. He can't be a millionaire. not He mustn't be a millionaire.

REAL WORLD

10.1 Asking for, giving and refusing ## permission 10D 3 p84

ASKING FOR PERMISSION

Can I (make myself some breakfast)?

May I (use your washing machine)?

Do you mind if I (borrow a jumper)?

Is it OK if I (use your laptop to upload some photos)?

Would you mind if I (borrowed your car some time this week)?

Do you think I could (use your landline to call my parents)?

- After Can I ...?, May I ...? and Do you think I could ...? we use the infinitive: May I use your phone?
- After Do you mind if I ...? and Is it OK if I ...? we use the Present Simple: Do you mind if I watch TV? Is it OK if I borrow your bike?
- After Would you mind if I ...? we use the Past Simple: Would you mind if I used your motorbike this weekend?

GIVING PERMISSION

- We usually give permission by saying: Yes, of course.; Sure, go ahead.; Help yourself., etc.
- Do you mind if I ...? and Would you mind if I ...? mean 'Is it a problem if I do this?'. To give permission for these phrases, we usually say: No, not at all. (= It's not a problem for me if you do this.) Compare these conversations.

1 A Can I make myself a sandwich?

B Yes, of course.

2 A Do you mind if I make myself a sandwich?

B No, not at all.

REFUSING PERMISSION

- We don't usually say no to refuse permission because it isn't polite.
- To refuse permission politely, we often say Sorry, ... or Actually, ... then we give a reason: Actually, I was just going to put some washing in. Sorry, it's only insured for Rebecca and myself.

TIPS • We can also ask permission for other people to do things: Can John stay for dinner? Is it OK if Luis uses your computer?

- Would you mind if I ...? is a very polite way to ask for permission. We often use this phrase if we don't know the other person very well or if we have a big favour to ask: Would you mind if I stayed for a few days?
- We can also use Could I ...? or Is it all right if I ...? to ask for permission: Could I borrow your pen? Is it all right if I sit here?

VOCABULARY

11.1 Things people do at work 11A 1 p86

have a lot of responsibility

a shift a period of work in a hospital, factory, etc.: Ambulance drivers usually have to work shifts.

be in charge of sth be responsible for a group of people, or an activity: He's in charge of 15 people in his department.

TIP • You can do overtime or work overtime.

11.2 Adjectives (3): jobs 11B 1 p88

A demanding job needs a lot of time and energy.
 In a well-paid job you earn a lot of money.
 In a badly-paid job you don't earn very much money.
 You have a temporary job for just a short time.
 You have a permanent job for a long time.
 If you have a full-time job, you work every day in the working week (usually Monday to Friday).
 If you have a part-time job, you only work part of the week.
 If you have a stressful job, you worry about it a lot.
 A challenging job is very difficult, but in an enjoyable way.
 A rewarding job makes you feel satisfied when you do it well.
 In a repetitive job you do the same things again and again.
 If you have a lonely job, you work on your own and don't see or talk to many people.
 A glamorous job is very exciting and attractive because it is connected with fame or success.
 A dull job is very boring.

TIP • We can also say I work full-time. and I work part-time.

a stressful job

a repetitive job

11.3 Reporting verbs 11C 3 p90

invite ask somebody to go to an event (a meal, a concert, etc.): "Would you like to have dinner with us tonight?" → He invited her to have dinner with them.

offer ask someone if they would like you to do something for them: "Can I give you a lift home?" → He offered to give her a lift home.

admit agree that something is true, especially when you don't want to: "It's true. I'm madly in love with you." → He admitted being madly in love with her.

refuse say you won't do or accept something: "I won't drive you home." → He refused to drive her home.

promise tell somebody you will certainly do something: "I'll go on a date with you." → She promised to go on a date with him.

agree accept a suggestion or idea: "OK, I'll have dinner with you." → She agreed to have dinner with him.

suggest say a possible plan, action or idea for other people to think about: "Let's meet at the gallery at seven." → He suggested meeting at the gallery at seven.

remind make somebody think of something they have forgotten: "Don't forget to bring the money." → He reminded him to bring the money.

warn tell somebody about a possible problem or danger, often in the future: "Don't tell anyone about our plan." → He warned him not to tell anyone about their plan.

threaten tell somebody you will hurt, kill or cause problems for them if they don't do what you want: "I'll kill you if anything goes wrong." → He threatened to kill him if anything went wrong.

11.4 Verb patterns (2): reporting verbs

11C 4 p90

- We often use verbs like offer, invite, etc. to report what people say. These verbs are followed by different verb patterns.

invite remind warn

+ object + (not) + infinitive with to (sb/sth (not) to do)

offer refuse promise agree threaten

+ (not) + infinitive with to ((not) to do)

admit suggest

+ verb+ing
 (doing)

Rupert invited her to have dinner with his family.

Dom offered to give Kat a lift home.

Dom admitted being madly in love with Kat.

TIPS • We don't have to report every word people say. It's more important to report the idea: "OK, it's true. I was the one who crashed your car." → He admitted crashing her car.

- Some reporting verbs can have more than one verb pattern. For example, after promise, agree, admit and suggest we can also use that + clause: Kat promised (Dom) that she would go out with him. Dom admitted that he was in love with Kat.
- We often use not with warn: Rupert warned Hendrick not to tell anyone about their plan.

GRAMMAR

11.1 Reported speech: sentences 11A 6 p87

- We use reported speech to tell someone what another person said.
- We usually change the verb form in reported speech. Look at the table.

verb form in direct speech	verb form in reported speech
Present Simple I still want to be in the programme.	Past Simple She said she still wanted to be in the programme.
Present Continuous I'm having another operation on Friday.	Past Continuous She said that she was having another operation on Friday.
Present Perfect Simple I've already had one operation.	Past Perfect She told me she'd already had one operation.
Past Simple I was in a car accident.	Past Perfect She said that she'd been in a car accident.
am/are/is going to They're going to start filming soon.	was/were going to I told her they were going to start filming soon.
will I won't be able to walk on it for a month.	would She said she wouldn't be able to walk on it for a month.
can I can't come to the meeting on Monday.	could She told me she couldn't come to the meeting on Monday.
must You must talk to Max.	had to I told her that she had to talk to you.

SAY AND TELL

- To introduce reported speech we usually use say or tell.
- We never use an object (me, her, etc.) with say: He said (that) ...
- We always use an object (me, her, etc.) with tell: He told me (that) ...
- We don't have to use that after say and tell in reported speech.
- Subject pronouns (I, he, etc.) and possessive adjectives (my, his, etc.) usually change in reported speech: "We can't come to your party." → *She told me that they couldn't come to my party.*

TIPS • The modal verbs could, should, would, might and ought to don't change in reported speech.

- The Past Simple doesn't have to change to the Past Perfect. It can stay the same: "I met him in 2011." → She said she (had) met him in 2011.
- We don't have to change the verb form if the reported sentence is about something general, or something that is still in the future: "I love classical music." → I told him I love classical music.
- We often change time expressions in reported speech: tomorrow → the next day; next week → the following week; last week → the week before, etc.

11.2 Reported speech: questions 11B 4 p88

- We use reported questions when we want to tell someone what another person asked us.
- We don't use the auxiliaries do, does or did in reported questions: He asked if I had any acting work. not ~~He asked if I did have any acting work.~~
- We use if or whether when we report yes/no questions: "Are you working at the moment?" → He asked me if/whether I was working at the moment.

- We sometimes use an object (me, him, etc.) with ask: He asked (me) whether I was available to start next week.
- The changes in the verb forms in reported questions are the same as reported sentences: "What other parts have you had recently?" → He asked me what other parts I'd had recently.

REPORTED QUESTIONS

He/She asked (me)	question word	subject + verb
He/She wanted to know	if/whether

He wanted to know where I'd studied acting.
He asked me if/whether I was working at the moment.

TIP • The word order in reported questions is the same as in positive sentences: I asked her where her brother was. not ~~I asked her where was her brother.~~

11.3 Reported speech: requests and imperatives 11B 8 p89

- To report requests, we use:
asked + object + (not) + infinitive with to
He asked me to come to a meeting on Monday.
- To report imperatives, we use:
told + object + (not) + infinitive with to
He told me to be at their offices at ten.
He told me not to accept any more work.

REAL WORLD

11.1 Checking information

11D 3 p92

asking someone to repeat information

Sorry, what did you say (your name) was again?
Sorry, I didn't get all of that.
Could you say it again, please?
And could you tell me (his surname) again?
Sorry, I didn't quite catch that.
Can you give it to me again, please?

checking the information you have is correct

Is that (Crane) with a (C)?
Do you mean (this Wednesday)?
Is that spelt (N-i-e-l-s-e-n)?
Are you talking about (the UK sales conference)?

TIP • We can say I didn't quite catch that. or I didn't quite get that.

VOCABULARY

12.1 Informal words and phrases

12A 1 p94

fancy (doing sth) want to do something: I really fancy going away this weekend.

can't be bothered (to do sth) not want to do something because you don't have enough energy or interest: I can't be bothered to cook this evening.

(not) feel up to (doing sth) not feel well enough or have enough energy to do something: I don't feel up to going out after class.

be (completely) broke not have any money: I'm completely broke at the moment.

hang around spend time somewhere, usually for no particular reason: I often hang around for a bit after class.

rubbish very bad quality: The last film I saw was rubbish.

be (really) into sth enjoy or like something: I'm really into yoga at the moment.

be up to sb it's your decision: It's up to me when I take a holiday.

reckon think, have an opinion: I reckon I'll do quite well in my next English test.

could do with want or need (food, drink, etc.): I could do with a few days off.

be sick of (doing sth) be fed up with doing something: I'm sick of working so hard.

be off (to somewhere) go to a place: I'm off to the cinema later.

TIP • I'm off. = I'm leaving now. Right, I'm off. See you tomorrow.

OK, I'm off.

See you later.

 I reckon we need a holiday.

12.2 Phrases with get 12B 1 p96

get = receive/obtain get something to eat/drink get a job get a message get a present get a phone call get = become get lost get depressed/angry get fed up with something get better/worse at something get older

get = travel/arrive get home get here/there get around get back from somewhere get to work

other phrases with get get on well with someone get to know someone get in touch with someone get rid of something get into trouble

TIPS • We can use other adjectives with get: get upset/tired/annoyed, etc.
• We also use get to mean buy: Could you get me some bread from the shops?

12.3 Word building (3): word families (1) 12C 5 p99

- We often make nouns and adjectives by adding suffixes (-ment, -ing, etc.) to verbs.

verb	noun	adjective
disappoint	disappointment	disappointed, disappointing
enjoy	enjoyment	enjoyable
protect	protection	protective care	care	careful, careless attract	attraction	attractive prefer	preference	preferable
entertain	entertainment	entertaining
relax	relaxation	relaxing, relaxed

- We use these suffixes to make nouns: -ment, -ion, -ence, -ation.
- We use these suffixes to make adjectives: -ing, -ed, -able, -ive, -ful, -less.

TIPS • Sometimes the verb and the noun are the same: They really care about the environment. (verb); He puts a lot of care into his work. (noun)

- We often use -able to mean 'can': It's an enjoyable film. = People can enjoy it.
- We use -ful to mean 'with'. We use -less to mean 'without'.

12.4 Word building (3): word families (2) 12C 6 p99

verb	noun	adjective
create	creation	creative
pollute	pollution	polluted, polluting employ	employment	employed, employable
embarrass	embarrassment	embarrassed, embarrassing depend	dependence	dependable harm	harm	harmful, harmless predict	prediction	predictable confuse	confusion	confusing, confused reserve	reservation	reserved

12.1 Wishes 12A 3 p94

- We often use I wish ... to talk about imaginary situations in the present or the future.
- We often use sentences with I wish ... to talk about the opposite of what is true or real: I wish we had a car. (The woman hasn't got a car, but she would like to have one.)
- To make wishes about states we use wish + Past Simple:
I wish we had a car. I wish I was on a beach somewhere.
- To make wishes about activities happening now we use wish + Past Continuous:
I wish you were coming to the theatre with me.
- To make wishes about abilities or possibilities we use wish + could + infinitive:
I wish I could come with you.
- To make wishes about obligations we use wish + didn't have to + infinitive:
I wish we didn't have to go to this party.

TIPS • We can say I wish I/he/she/it was ... or I wish I/he/she/it were ... :
I wish I was taller. = I wish I were taller.

- We often use the second conditional to give reasons for wishes: I wish we had a car. If we had one, I wouldn't spend half my life waiting for buses.
- Notice the difference between I wish ... and I hope ... :
  - A I wish you were coming to the party.
(I know that you aren't coming = imaginary situation)
  - B I hope you're coming to the party.
(I think that you might come = real possibility)
- We can also make sentences with wish with you/he/she/we/they: He wishes he lived somewhere hotter. We wish we could afford a holiday.

12.2 Third conditional 12B 5 p97

- We use the third conditional to talk about imaginary situations in the past.
- We often use third conditionals to talk about the opposite of what really happened:
If I'd stayed at home, I wouldn't have met my husband. (She didn't stay at home and so she went to a party and met her husband.)
If I hadn't lost my job, I wouldn't have started my own business. (He lost his job so he decided to start his own business.)

POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE

if clause (if + Past Perfect)	main clause ('d, would or wouldn't + have + past participle)
If I'd stayed at home, If I hadn't started doing this,	I wouldn't have met my husband. I'd have got into a lot more trouble.

TIPS • As with other conditionals, in the third conditional the if clause can be first or second in the sentence. We use a comma ( , ) when the if clause is first:
If I hadn't won that race, I'd never have become a serious athlete.
I'd never have become a serious athlete if I hadn't won that race.

- We can use could have in the main clause of the third conditional to talk about ability:
If I'd been there, I could have helped you.
- We can also use might have in the main clause of the third conditional to mean 'would have perhaps': If you hadn't got lost, we might have got there on time.
- We don't usually use would in the if clause: If I'd known, I'd have told you. not ~~If I would have known, I'd have told you.~~
- In spoken English we can say I'd have /'aɪdəv/ or I would've /aɪ 'wudəv/ in the main clause: "I would've got into a lot more trouble if I hadn't started doing this."

Answer Key

6C 8 p51

HOW LUCKY ARE YOU?

16–18 points

You're very positive about life and probably think that you're already a very lucky person. When things go badly, you don't worry too much because you know something good is going to happen soon. Why don't you do the lottery next weekend – you might win!

13–15 points

You're quite a lucky person and tend to look on the bright side of life. You know lots of people and have a very busy social life. Try to do something new every month and make sure you have some time to yourself as well.

9–12 points

You think you're lucky in some parts of your life, but not in others, and maybe you worry about the past and the future too much. Try to enjoy the present a little more and listen to your heart when you make decisions, not just your head.

6–8 points

You're not very lucky at the moment and probably expect things to get worse, not better. Why not try to meet some new people and take a few more chances in life? What's the worst that could happen?

FIONA What makes me happy? Well, I love doing yoga, that's very important to me and I do it every day. I'm also a yoga teacher and I teach classes three times a week. I really enjoy teaching and it never really feels like work. And I love spending time with my son Leo, of course. He's nearly seven now and it's wonderful watching him grow up. At the moment he's playing a video game – it's amazing how good he is, he's much better than I am and he beats me every time. Er, what else? Well, I love having a lie-in, which doesn't happen very often, as you can imagine! But last Sunday Leo stayed with his grandparents, so my husband and I didn't get up till midday. It was heaven!

MAXIE Well, um, playing guitar makes me happy. I got my first guitar when I was twelve and now I'm in a band at uni. I started writing my own songs about two years ago and, er, so far I've written about twenty-five songs. Our band isn't famous or anything, but we play every weekend, usually at local pubs or parties, and there's always a really good atmosphere. Oh, and last month I put a video of the band on YouTube and so far it's got over 20,000 hits, which is fantastic! Er, what else? Well, I love visiting new places – that makes me happy too. I've been to six countries so far, and maybe one day we'll play gigs all over the world – now that would be amazing!

CAROLINE What makes me happy? Well, I really enjoy going to art galleries with my twin sister, Mary. We go to an exhibition together once or twice a month and we always have a wonderful time. Another thing that makes me really happy is working in the garden. I've always loved growing plants and flowers, ever since I was a little girl, and this year I've started a small vegetable garden. We often have friends round for dinner and it's nice to eat things we've grown ourselves. But I don't do the cooking, my husband does all that – it's one of the things that makes him happy. I just do the eating! Hm, what else? Well, seeing our grandchildren, of course. They visit us most weekends and we love every minute we spend with them.

SALLY Sorry I'm late. Did you get my text? PETER Hi, Sally. Yes, I've ordered you the vegetarian pizza.

S Great, thanks a lot.

ERIC Were you working late?

S No, I go to a drama club on Mondays.

ALICE I didn't know you've joined a drama club.

S I only joined a few weeks ago, but I'm really enjoying it.

P So what do you do exactly?

S Well, first we choose a play, then three months later we put it on at the local theatre. We don't get paid or anything, it's just for fun.

A And what play are you working on at the moment?

S It's a comedy called The Best Years of our Lives. It's very funny. I play a confused old lady who's fed up with her husband.

P Well, that shouldn't be too difficult.

S Hey!

E I'd love to come and see you onstage.

A Yeah, me too.

S Hm, I'm not sure about that. I'd feel very nervous if I knew you were all watching me. Anyway, how's your book club going, Eric?

E Oh, it's going very well, thanks.

P So what do you do in your book club?

E Well, every month someone chooses a book and we all read it. Then we meet up a month later at someone's house and talk about what we thought of the book.

S With lots of food and drink, probably.

E Yes, of course. That's the best bit!

A Do you always read the books?

E Yes ... well, I try to, but I don't always finish them. Sometimes I just read the last page to see what happened in the end.

P Well, my brother runs an animation club, which is quite interesting.

S What's that about?

P It's for people who like making animated films – you know, short cartoons, things you might see on YouTube.

A Are you a member?

P No, but I've been to a couple of meetings. They're great fun. People watch each other's films and then talk about how they made them.

S You're interested in that sort of thing, aren't you, Eric?

E Yes, I do some animation on my laptop. Maybe I should go sometime.

P Sure. I'll let you know when the next meeting is.

E Great, thanks.

A Well, I've just joined a glee club.

P Er, what's a glee club?

A Basically it's a club for people who like singing and dancing. We choose some songs and then learn the words and dance steps, and at the end of the year we're going to put on a performance for charity.

P Oh. Are you any good?

A Well, I'm OK at singing, but I'm not the best dancer in the world. They always put me near the back!

E Go on, give us a song, then.

A No, I couldn't sing here, I'd be too embarrassed. Oh, look, here comes the food.

S That was lucky!

REBECCA I'm really looking forward to meeting Lisa's new boyfriend. She was telling me all about him last weekend. He sounds really nice. They're very late, though.

CHARLIE They'll be here soon, I'm sure.

LISA Ah, here they are. Hi, Rebecca. Hello, Charlie. How are you?

R We're fine, thanks.

L And how's the most beautiful baby in the world?

C Hi, you must be Daniel. I'm Charlie and this is Rebecca.

DANIEL Hi, nice to meet you. You live next door to Lisa, don't you?

C Yes, I do.

D How long have you lived in this village?

C Oh, about three years now. It's a really nice place to live – apart from the noisy neighbours, of course.

L Hey! You're the ones with the baby that cries all night.

R Yeah, that's true. So, Daniel, you're from London originally, aren't you?

D Yes, that's right. I moved out to the country about two years ago.

R So where do you live now?

D In Renfield – you know, about 20 miles away.

C Yes, I know it.

And how did you and Lisa meet?

D Well, my brother Alex used to share a flat with Lisa's sister Barbara when they were students.

C Barbara went to Liverpool university, didn't she?

L Yes, she did. Anyway, last month Alex invited me and my sister to his birthday party, which is where I met Daniel.

R And what do you do, Daniel?

D I work for a water sports company. I teach sailing, canoeing, diving – that sort of thing.

L You've been diving, haven't you?

C No, I haven't, actually. It sounds a bit too dangerous to me.

D Oh, it's not really, not if you know what you're doing. And what do you do, Charlie?

C I work for Getaway Holidays, you know, the package tour company. It's a boring office job, really, but the money's OK.

D Oh, right.

L Well, I know something you two have got in common.

D Oh, what's that?

L You both support Manchester United.

C Really? Well, you'll have to come round and watch a match sometime.

D That would be nice, thanks. It was a great match yesterday, wasn't it?

C Yes, it was. They played really well – and three brilliant goals.

R Isn't it amazing? You put two men together, and after five minutes they're already talking about football.

D It's how we communicate.

C Yeah, and it means we never have to talk about our feelings.

R Very funny.

L I'm getting hungry. You haven't ordered any food yet, have you?

R No, we haven't. We were waiting for you. Shall we go and get some menus?

L Yeah, good idea. You two can talk about football while we're gone.

R And keep an eye on Harry.

C Yeah, of course ... Why does that always happen? You don't have any kids, do you?

D No, I don't. One day, maybe.

C Well, I wouldn't hurry if I were you. I haven't had a good night's sleep for six months. What's the matter, little man? Do you want mummy to change you when she gets back? Do you?

PRESENTER Welcome to Cover to Cover. Today we're talking about Carl Honoré's book In Praise of Slow, which tells us that we're all living too fast and working too hard, and that we should all just slow down. With me are two journalists, Kim Mayhew and Rob Davis – both workaholics, of course. Kim, what did you think of the book?

KIM I thought it was very interesting and quite funny in places too.

P And what about you, Rob?

ROB Well, as soon as I finished it, I decided that I must take more time off work.

K Yes, me too. Honoré says people should only work 35 hours a week.

P And do you think that's a good idea?

K Yes, definitely. Firstly, a lot of people are unemployed these days, as we know, so if everyone worked fewer hours, it might create more jobs.

R But according to Honoré, people are already working less in some countries. For example, Germans spend 15% less time at work now than in 1980.

P Honoré also believes that we ought to spend more time with our families.

K And that's already happening in some countries too, isn't it? It says in the book that some French employees are allowed to begin their weekend at 3 p.m. on Thursday.

R Yes, and Honoré also says people can get their best ideas when they're doing nothing. Albert Einstein was famous for just looking into space at his office at Princeton University. And you can't say he didn't have a few good ideas!

P Absolutely. Kim, what else interested you about the book?

K Well, I was interested to read that Americans work 350 hours a year more than Europeans, but in some American companies, employees can sleep whenever they want. Apparently they have special rooms where people can go and relax if they're tired.

P Really? If we had one here, I'd be in there every afternoon!

R Actually, by law people in the UK are supposed to have a break every four hours, but a lot don't, of course. I was also surprised to read that 20% of British people work more than 60 hours a week. We work the most hours in Europe and it's certainly not making us happier.

K Yes, and lots of people have to take work home because they're under a lot of pressure to meet deadlines. Apparently 60% of British people who were interviewed said they didn't take all their paid holiday. Now that's just crazy!

R And these days of course we're able to continue working when we're travelling. You know, on the train or on a plane or whatever.

K Yes, the Japanese even have a word for it – karoshi – which means 'death from working too hard'.

P On that happy note, we'll leave it there.

[words in pink = weak forms]

MAN How many people do you know who have trouble sleeping at night? For many of us insomnia's part of life, and not being able to get to sleep isn't just annoying, it can also be very dangerous.

WOMAN Yes, and with us today is sleep scientist, Doctor Angela Moore. Welcome to the programme.

ANGELA Thank you.

W Doctor Moore, how much of a problem is this, do you think?

A Well, we know tiredness can cause accidents. More than fifty per cent of road accidents in the USA are because of people driving when they're tired.

M That's amazing!

A Yes, it is, isn't it? And when you think thirty per cent of people in the UK can have problems getting to sleep or staying asleep, and ten per cent have serious insomnia – that's a lot of accidents waiting to happen.

W So how much sleep do you think people are getting these days?

A Well, a hundred years ago, before electricity, people went to sleep when it got dark and woke up when it got light. But now in our twenty-four-hour society we sleep about an hour and a half less than we did a century ago.

W Well, I've got two teenagers and no one can say they're sleeping less!

A I'm sure a lot of parents would say that. Actually, scientists now believe teenagers need about an hour more sleep than adults.

W Really?

A Yes, it's because their bodies are still growing. Of course, teenagers don't need as much sleep as babies and small children – they need the most sleep. It's actually older people who generally need the least amount of sleep.

W That's very interesting.

A Yes, and another interesting thing about teenagers is their body clock is different, so they naturally want to go to bed and wake up about two hours later than adults.

W So that's why our children aren't very bright in the morning.

A And because they have to get up early for school, this means they can feel exhausted when they get there. Recently a school in the north of England decided to start lessons at ten rather than nine. With a later starting time, fewer students missed school and the exam results in English and maths were much better than the previous year.

M So do you think all schools should start later?

A Well, that's certainly what a lot of sleep experts think nowadays.

M So why do we need sleep?

A We don't really know. Scientists used to think sleep was the only time you had complete rest, but in fact we use about the same amount of energy when we're asleep as when we're sitting on the sofa relaxing.

M Really? That's very surprising.

A Yes, and our brains are very active for some of the time we're asleep. Apparently that's when our brains can organise information they've collected during the day.

W Well, it's been absolutely fascinating talking to you. Thank you for coming in today.

A My pleasure.

REBECCA Here you are, Lisa. One sugar.

LISA Thanks, Rebecca. Where's Harry?

R Oh, he's having his afternoon nap.

L Right. You look a bit stressed. Is everything OK?

R Well, Charlie and I are having a difficult time at the moment.

L Oh, dear. What's the matter?

R Harry isn't sleeping very well. He wakes up four or five times every night, which means Charlie and I wake up too, of course. The trouble is, Charlie finds it difficult to get back to sleep, so he's always absolutely shattered the next day.

L Hmm, I can see why you're upset. That must be really difficult.

R Yes, it is. And when Charlie gets home from work he's really exhausted and fed up. So we're arguing a lot more than we usually do.

L Oh, dear. What a shame.

R What should I do, Lisa?

L Well, have you tried talking to him about it?

R Yes, but we just end up having another argument. Then he tells me I'm spending too much money and starts getting really angry at me.

L Oh, how awful!

R But I only buy things we need for the house – and for the baby, of course.

L Perhaps you ought to spend more time together – you know, just the two of you. I think you need at least one evening off a week.

R Yes, you could be right. I'll talk to Charlie when he gets home.

L I'd be happy to babysit for you, if you like.

R Oh, that's very kind of you, Lisa, thanks a lot. Uh oh. Sounds like someone's woken up. Back in a minute.

Conversation 2

ANDY Charlie? Have you got the file for the Bradley account?

CHARLIE Oh, er, yeah, here it is.

A Thanks. Are you OK? You look exhausted.

C Yeah, I'm fine. Just having trouble sleeping these days, that's all.

A I'm sorry to hear that. What's the problem?

C Well, Harry isn't sleeping very well. He wakes us up in the middle of the night then we can't get back to sleep.

A Maybe you should sleep in separate rooms. You know, just till Harry's sleeping better. Then you won't wake up so often.

C Well, it's worth a try, I guess. But it's not just that. Rebecca's spending too much money. Not on herself, but she buys lots of things for the house and the baby that we just don't need.

A Well, why don't you talk to her about it?

C I've tried that, but we just start arguing again, and then she tells me I'm working too hard, which is probably true. But I've heard that some people are going to lose their jobs soon, and I don't want to be one of them.

A Yes, I see what you mean. But I really don't think you're going to lose your job. The company needs you.

C Thanks, Andy, that's good to hear. So what do you think I should do?

A Well, I'd take her out for a really nice meal, you know, just the two of you. That's what Fiona and I do when we're having problems and it's always really helpful.

C Yes, that's a good idea. I might try that. Thanks, Andy.

A No problem. Good luck.

C Cheers. Actually, I'll call her now.

REBECCA Hi.

C Hi honey, it's me. Look, do you think we could get a babysitter this evening?

ED It's called Getaway Holidays. I work for the owner.

J Really? I'm thinking of going on holiday soon. Do you think you can get me a cheap flight?

E Yes, maybe I can. Where do you want to fly to?

J Well, my brother's working at a hotel in the Caribbean and I'd like to go and see him.

E Which hotel is he working at?

J It's called The Island Palace. Do you know it?

E Yes, I do. How long do you want to go for?

MEGAN I'm a guide for a company that organises hiking tours in the Rocky Mountains in Canada. I'm actually American, not Canadian, but I've lived in this country for about three years and I really love working here. I've worked in the USA and in Europe and I really enjoyed my time there too, but for me there's nowhere like the Canadian Rockies. A lot of our customers have been hiking before, but when they get back to the hotel they often say it's the best experience they've ever had, which is very satisfying. It's not always an easy job – you have to deal with difficult weather conditions and sometimes it can be quite dangerous. Also I have to put up with a few people who do stupid things. For example, three days ago a guy set off on his own into the mountains without telling anyone. He got lost, then fell and broke his leg. Luckily he had GPS on his phone and we were able to rescue him. Actually, I've just been to Banff to pick him up from the hospital. He can't do any more hiking, of course, but at least he'll have a good story to tell his friends when he gets back home.

CLIVE My wife and I started working in the hotel industry 19 years ago, but this is the first time we've run a hotel in a touristy place like the Lake District. We've had this place since 2008 and I'm a bit fed up with it, to be honest. Running a tourist hotel is quite stressful, particularly when people complain about things. It can be difficult for tourists to get around in the summer because of all the cars, but I don't know why they complain to me about it! Also some people think they can check in and out whenever they want. We have to clean the rooms, of course, so if guests don't check out on time it makes life very difficult for us. Another problem is that one of us always has to be here. For example, my wife's gone to see some friends off at Manchester airport, so I have to stay and look after the hotel. And because we're open all year, it's difficult for us to have a holiday together. We've been away a few times, but each time there was a problem at the hotel so we had to come back early. But this December we're closing the hotel and going to South America – we're really looking forward to it.

PRESENTER Good afternoon and welcome to Take a Break. Today we're taking a look at the rise in voluntourism around the world. I'm here with Alison Armstrong from the travel website voluntours.net. Alison, first of all, can you tell all our listeners what voluntourism is?

ALISON Well, er ... it's when people go to another part of the world on holiday, or on a longer trip, and volunteer to work for free in the place they're visiting.

And at the moment it's one of the fastest growing types of tourism in the world.

P And what kind of holidays are we talking about?

A They can be almost anything, really. Typical examples are helping to build a school in Asia, planting trees in a national park in Australia, or perhaps working on an organic farm in Spain.

P And what sort of people go on these holidays?

A Oh, all sorts of people. These days a lot of students take a gap-year – that is to say, a year off between school and university – and about twenty-five per cent of people in the UK take a year off work between the ages of seventeen and twenty-five. These young people often want to travel the world and do something useful at the same time.

P But it isn't just young people going on these holidays, is it?

A Oh no, absolutely not. There's a huge increase in the number of volunteers in their thirties and forties, and also a lot of retired people too.

P And why do you think this type of holiday's becoming so popular?

A Well, we get so much information about all the problems in the world these days and a lot of people want to do something practical to help. It's also a great way to get to know the people and culture of the place you're visiting.

P Yes, that's a good point.

A And a lot of older people want more from their holiday than just sitting on a beach or going on guided tours. But it can be difficult to meet local people when you stay in tourist hotels, and eat in tourist restaurants.

P OK, but do the volunteers really help the countries they visit?

A If the holiday's well organised, yes, definitely. Tourists still have to pay to go on these holidays, of course, and some of that money is used to help the local community. The tourists also do useful work while they're there and local people enjoy sharing their culture with people from different countries.

P And what about the tourists? Do they have a good time?

A Yes, most of them do, and a lot of people say that it's the best holiday they've ever had. If you read some of the blogs on our website, you'll find that for many people, voluntourism is a life-changing experience.

P Well, it seems like everybody wins. Perhaps I should take my family on one of these holidays next year. Alison, thanks very much for coming in today. Not at all.

REBECCA Mmm, these samosas are nice. Try one.

ELLA Mmm, yeah, they're delicious.

CHARLIE So, are you two looking forward to your trip to India?

MIKE Yeah, we can't wait.

R Where are you flying to?

M New Delhi. It was the cheapest flight we could get.

E You've been to Delhi, haven't you?

R Yes, we went there about 18 months ago.

M Well, maybe you can give us some tips.

C Sure. What do you want to know?

E Well, firstly, do you know any good places to stay?

C Um, well, there are lots of good hotels in Connaught Place – that's right in the centre of New Delhi.

R Yes, the place we stayed in is called The Raj Hotel. It's not too expensive and very comfortable. You can book rooms online.

M Great, thanks. We'll check it out. And what's the best way to get around?

R In Delhi it's probably best to use rickshaws. They're quicker than taxis, and quite cheap.

E OK.

C And to travel to other cities I'd recommend the trains. They're a lot safer than the buses, especially at night.

E Hmm, that's good to know. So what should we go and see – are there any good museums?

R Oh no, don't bother going to the museums. They're not that interesting and there are much better things to see in Delhi.

C Yeah, but you should definitely see the Red Fort in Old Delhi. It was built in the 17th century and it's absolutely huge.

M Right, the Red Fort in Old Delhi. What else is worth visiting?

R Well, there's the Jami Masjid, of course. That's well worth seeing. It's the biggest mosque in India and it's only a few minutes from the Red Fort.

E OK, that sounds good.

C And there's a much older fort about half an hour from the centre.

R Yes, but it isn't really worth visiting, I don't think.

M OK. And what about places outside Delhi?

C Well, it's probably already on your list, but you really must go to Agra to see the Taj Mahal. It's only three hours away by train – you can do it in a day if you start early.

E Yes, we're planning to go there. And, er, what about the food? Do you know any good places to eat in Delhi?

C Yes, there are lots of really good restaurants in Connaught Place. Oh, what was the name of that place we used to go to?

R Oh, yes, I know the place you mean ... I think it's called The Shanti.

C Yes, that's right. It's only a few minutes from the Raj Hotel and the food there was amazing!

M Thanks, that's really useful. Er, have you got any other tips?

R Well, only drink bottled water, of course. And don't drink anything with ice in it. Ice is usually made with tap water, which isn't very safe.

E Yes, I've heard that before.

C And I wouldn't eat any salads because they're often washed in tap water too.

M Yes, that sounds like good advice.

R All this talk of India is making me want to come with you.

C Yeah, me too. Perhaps we can ask Lisa and Daniel to babysit for a month!

E Oh look, here comes our food.

PAUL What are you working on at the moment, Josie?

JOSIE I've been making a TV series called Modern Adventurers.

P That sounds interesting.

J Yes, it's fascinating. The first episode is about a man called Ed Stafford, who became the first person to walk the length of the River Amazon in 2010.

P Wow, that sounds like hard work. How long did it take him?

J About two-and-a-half years.

P You're joking! Why didn't he go by boat?

J Very funny. But that's the point of the series. Why do some people go on these crazy adventures? Just to be the first person to do something?

P Good question. So did this guy – what was his name again?

J Ed Stafford.

P Right. So did Ed Stafford walk the Amazon on his own?

J No, he set off with a friend called Luke Collyer. They'd planned to do the whole walk together, but Luke went home after 68 days.

P I'm not surprised. I wouldn't last 68 minutes!

J No, me neither. Anyway, a Peruvian guide called Cho joined the expedition after Luke had gone back to the UK. Cho had planned to walk with Ed for only five days, but ended up staying with him until the end.

P And what did they eat?

J They mainly lived on rice and beans, which they bought in villages and carried with them. But they also went to parts of the forest that nobody had ever been to before. So they sometimes ran out of food and had to eat whatever they could find.

P So did they just disappear into the jungle for two-and-a-half years?

J No, not really. Every day Ed wrote his blog or uploaded a video of his journey onto his website, and of course he also read messages that people had sent him.

P So how far did he walk in total?

J Well, the River Amazon is about 4,000 miles long, but Ed calculated that he'd walked about 6,000 miles.

P I hope he took some insect repellent.

J Well, if he did, he didn't take enough. He says that during the trip he got 200,000 mosquito and ant bites.

P Really? That's amazing!

J Yes, and he also got 600 wasp stings and 12 scorpion stings.

P Ouch! So what did he do when he'd finished the journey?

J He flew back to England, had a rest, and then a few weeks later he ran four marathons in 27 hours!

P Wow! This guy makes me feel exhausted just hearing about him.

J Well, if you think he's extreme, the second programme is about another modern adventurer called Martin Strel. He was the first person to ...

PRESENTER ... and with the weekend just around the corner, I have with me /j/ in the studio Gabrielle Wallace, from the /j/ excellent website londonfornothings.com, to tell us how to /w/ enjoy London for free.

GABRIELLE Hi there.

P Welcome to the programme, Gabrielle. To /w/ a lot of people, London appears to be /j/ a very /j/ expensive city to visit.

G Well, it can be, but there /r/ are /r/ actually /j/ a lot of things you can do /w/ in the city for free.

P Such as?

G Well, of course you don't have to pay to visit many /j/ of London's museums or /r/ art galleries, such as the British Museum or the National Gallery.

P Right.

G And if you'd prefer to wander /r/ around the city /j/ on your /r/ own, you can download free walking tours onto your phone. My favourite is the tour /r/ of the /j/ area /r/ around London Bridge, which is really /j/ interesting. And all the tours come with a free downloadable map so you don't get lost.

P OK. And is there /r/ anywhere you can hear some free music?

G Yes, there /r/ is, actually. For /r/ example, there's free jazz at the National Theatre six days a week, and if you go to the Royal Opera House at lunchtime on Mondays, you can enjoy some free /j/ opera.

P Really? I didn't know that.

G Yes, and you can also go /w/ and see /j/ a radio /w/ or TV programme being recorded. I've seen a few TV comedies and chat shows being made, and they're /r/ always great fun – and the /j/ audience always gets in for free.

P And how do you get tickets?

G You normally have to w apply j online. There r are various websites that specialise in free tickets.

P Right. And what about more r unusual days out?

G Well, you can visit the Houses of Parliament, of course. Anyone can queue w up and go w in for free, and then you can watch a live debate from the public gallery.

P Hm, I'm sure that would be very j interesting.

G Yes, it can be, and it's worth going just to go w inside the building, which is very j impressive, of course. But if you want to go w on an official tour, you have to pay j unfortunately.

P Right.

G And you can also go w and watch a trial at the j Old Bailey, which is the biggest criminal court in the country. If you get a good case, it can be j absolutely fascinating. But don't forget to take some ID with you.

P And what about if you have to w entertain children for the j afternoon?

G Well, why not take them to w a city farm? There r are r about thirteen in the city, and most of them are free. And at all of these places, children are r allowed to feed the j animals, play with the rabbits, or whatever.

P Gabrielle, thank you for coming in to see j us today. For free, obviously.

G Obviously!

COMMENTATOR And he's just outside the box. He shoots! It's just wide. And there goes the whistle for half time here at Old Trafford ...

CHARLIE That'll be Rebecca and Lisa.

DANIEL Just in time for the second half.

C Hi, honey. We're watching the football.

LISA Hello, you two. Good match?

D Yeah, United are winning two-one.

REBECCA Oh, that's wonderful news.

I'm pleased you haven't wasted your afternoon.

C Rebecca isn't very keen on football.

R Well, I just think that most football fans are really rude and aggressive.

C Well, some of them can be quite aggressive at times, I agree, but it's not as bad as it used to be when I was a boy. There was a lot more football violence then.

D Yeah, I agree. On the whole, most fans just want to see a good game and have fun.

C It's not much fun when your team loses, though, is it?

D Yeah, that's true.

L Well, it's the players I have a problem with, not the fans. I can't believe how much they get paid. Some of them get over £200,000 a week, just for kicking a ball around. It's ridiculous.

D Well, I agree that footballers tend to earn rather a lot of money, but you have to remember that football is part of the entertainment industry. Hundreds of millions of people are watching this match all around the world. That's why footballers get paid so much, because so many people want to see them play.

C Yeah, singers and film stars get paid millions every year too, but you don't hear people complaining about that.

R Well, I wouldn't mind so much if they behaved themselves. But every week you read stories about famous footballers getting into fights in nightclubs or um crashing their Porsche into a tree and things like that. That's not very sensible behaviour, is it?

C I agree. But generally speaking, most footballers are just normal people and never get into any trouble. It's only a few who are a bit crazy.

L Well, maybe. But I don't understand why men take football so seriously. Who wants to spend their weekends watching a group of millionaires kicking a ball around? I mean, it's only a game!

D Well, perhaps some people can take it a bit too seriously. But what was it someone once said? "Football isn't a matter of life and death – it's much more important than that."

R Very funny. Anyway, I just don't want Harry growing up and becoming obsessed with football, like you two are.

C Too late. Look what Daniel's bought Harry.

L Daniel!

D Well, you have to get them when they're young. Otherwise he might end up supporting Manchester City!

R Oh, I give up!

L Anyway, are you coming next door to help me with the washing machine? It still doesn't work.

D I'd love to, but the second half is just about to start.

R Come on. Let's leave the boys in peace.

L Yeah, it's hard having three children to look after, isn't it?

TIM OK, let's start with the first place we saw. What did you think of the terraced house in Bishopston?

JO Yeah, I thought it was nice. It seemed slightly bigger than where we live now.

T No, I think it's the same size as our house. It just seemed bigger because it didn't have any furniture in it.

J Yes, you're probably right. I thought the back garden was lovely, and it had a new kitchen.

T Yes, I liked the kitchen too. And it's the least expensive place we've seen so far.

J Yes, that's true.

T Mm. OK, so what about the detached house in Redland?

J Well, it's one of the oldest houses we've looked at, and I like old houses, they've got a lot of character. It's got more space than the other two places.

T Yeah, and it's got a garage, which is useful. But it's quite a long way from the station, which might be a problem.

J Yes, you could be right. And it's a little further away from the city centre than we wanted to be.

T Mm. OK. And what did you think of the flat in Hotwells?

J Well, it's not as big as the other two places.

T Yes, that's true. But it is a flat, not a house. Actually, it was a lot more spacious than I'd expected.

J Yes, it was, wasn't it? I think that's because of those enormous windows.

T Yes, I suppose so. It was different from anything else we've seen.

J And it had the most amazing view. You know, all the way down the river.

T Yes, that was fantastic, wasn't it?

J But it's got the worst kitchen I've ever seen. The cupboards were falling off the wall! And it hasn't got a garden.

T So that's a no, then.

J Yes, I think so. It's just not right for us.

T OK. So what about the other two places? Do you want to go and see either of them again?

J Well, the house in Redland was nice, but the back garden was far smaller than I'd expected, you know, for a detached house. It's as small as the one we've got now.

T And it was much noisier than the other two. It's on a very busy road.

J Yes, that's true.

T That might be a problem, especially at night.

J Right. So you thought the first place we saw was better?

T You mean the house in Bishopston? Yes, I think so. It's very similar to where we live now, so all our furniture will fit in OK.

J And it's a bit less expensive than the Redland house.

T OK, let's go back and see it again tomorrow. Then we can decide.

J Right. I'll give the estate agent a ring. Have you got their number?

TIM Right, what's next?

JO What about this old laptop?

T Actually, I'm going to give it to my brother. He says it'll be fine for his kids to use. He's picking it up tomorrow evening after work.

J Yeah, OK.

T So that goes in ...

J ... the 'give away' pile, with the books.

T And what about that old printer?

J Oh, I think we should throw that out. It doesn't work any more so we can't really give it away.

T Right. So which pile?

J Put it next to that old TV and the videos.

T And what about these old letters? I don't know why you've kept them. You'll never read them again.

J Hmm ... Yes, you're probably right. OK, I'll throw those away.

T Right.

J And what shall we do with all these old photos?

T Oh, I'm in the middle of going through those.

J But we never look at them any more.

T I know, but that's because they're not in order or anything. I'm going to sort out the rest of them at the weekend. Then we can get rid of the ones we don't want.

J OK, so we're keeping these for now.

T Yes. So ... that pile.

J Yes, the one with the suitcase and the lamp. And can we throw out your old CDs?

T Sorry, I don't really want to get rid of those.

J But you'll never listen to them again.

You only listen to music on your MP3 player these days.

T Yeah, but I want to copy the CDs onto the laptop. Then I can get rid of them.

J Fine, put them in the 'keep' pile. You really don't like throwing things away, do you?

T That's not true. I'm definitely going to get rid of this awful jumper. It's really ugly.

J Er, that was a birthday present from my mother.

T Oh, was it? Er, OK. I should probably keep it, then.

J Not if you're not going to wear it.

T OK, I'll put it on the 'give away' pile. We can take it to a charity shop.

J And what about your old tennis racket? You've got to throw that out.

T Actually, I'm going to give that to Julia next door. She's going to start taking tennis lessons.

J You're joking! That old thing? It's twenty years old! It's going to break the first time she uses it.

T Oh, it's fine for a nine-year-old.

J Right, what's next? What about these curtains?

ASHLEY My birthday's on um January 1st, you know, New Year's Day. So it's ... I mean, it's always a bit strange because people kind of forget about my birthday. It's kind of like - Happy New Year! - oh, and er by the way, happy birthday, Ashley! The best ... er my most memorable birthday was in 2000, you know, the beginning of the new millennium. We all ... er me and some friends went to London to watch the fireworks by the river. Apparently there were like three million people there that evening! The atmosphere was absolutely brilliant and it sort of felt as if three million people had all come to my birthday party!

JEAN Well er my most memorable birthday was last year because I was ... um I was a hundred years old! You see, my husband died um 13 years ago, but er you know life goes on, doesn't it? And it was ... um I had a really lovely day. My two daughters organised a party for me and um I didn't have to do a thing. All my family were there, you see, including my four grandchildren and my um seven great-grandchildren. There weren't ... they didn't put 100 candles on the cake, though, it wasn't big enough for that! And er I got lots of lovely birthday cards, including um one from the Queen with a special birthday message inside, which was wonderful.

RUBY I'm er ... I'm a twin, you see, and so every birthday is my sister Daisy's birthday too. I never ... um I didn't enjoy birthdays very much when I was a kid because you know I always had to like share them with my sister. And we ... um we only had one cake between the two of us! After we grew up Daisy moved to Ireland so we like stopped having birthday parties together. And I really missed her - I mean, it just wasn't the same. Anyway, last year it was our 30th so Daisy and I had an old-fashioned birthday party at our parents' house, you know, with balloons and er party games and um ice cream and stuff. And it ... um it was the best birthday party I've ever had! And er we both had our own birthday cakes with our names on, which was fantastic!

STUART Well, I don't like ... er I hate getting older, so I just sort of pretend that it's a normal day. People send me ... um I still get a lot of birthday cards, which is kind of annoying. But the best ... er my most memorable birthday must be my 40th when my brother organised a surprise party for me. I mean, it was nice of him, I suppose, but um I wasn't very happy about it at the time. He had ... um he'd invited some of his friends along, including um a woman called Patricia, who I thought was you know absolutely gorgeous. Anyway, to cut a long story short, Patricia and I spent the whole evening talking and um we started going out together soon afterwards. So er birthdays can be good sometimes, I suppose!

KATHARINA Excuse me?

LISA Can I help you?

K Er, yes, I hope so.

L What do you need?

K Um, I'm sorry, I've forgotten what it's called. It's a thing for making soup.

L Is this what you're looking for? A saucepan?

K No, it's a type of machine. It's ... er you put food and water in, then er you turn it on and it cuts up the food.

L Do you mean a blender?

K Oh yes, that's right. A blender.

L OK, the blenders are over there, on the top shelf.

K Oh, OK, OK, thanks a lot.

L Is there anything else you need?

K Um, yes, er I don't know what it's called in English. Um, it's stuff for getting marks off your clothes.

L Do you mean washing powder?

K No, it's a type of liquid. Um, you use it when you get coffee or wine on your shirt.

L Oh, you mean stain remover. That's on the second floor, in the Home Laundry department.

K Thanks very much. What's it called again?

L Stain remover.

K Thank you for your help. Goodbye.

L Goodbye.

LISA Hello again. Did you find what you were looking for?

KATHARINA Oh, yes, thanks. But I'm still looking for one or two other things.

L Well, can I help at all? What is it that you need?

K I ... I can't remember what they're called, but you use them to mend your clothes. Um, they're made of metal and they've got a hole in the end.

L Oh, you mean needles.

K Yes, that's right, needles.

L They're over there, near the escalator. You'll find all sorts of different types of cotton there too.

K Oh yes, I can see them. Thanks a lot.

L Can I help you with anything else?

K Um, yes, just one more thing. Um ... I'm sorry, I don't know the word for them. Er, you wear them when it's cold outside.

L Do you mean gloves, you know, you wear them on your hands?

K No, you wear them on your ears. They look like headphones.

L Oh, you mean ear muffs. They're on the ground floor, in the accessories department.

K Right. Um, what are they called again?

L Ear muffs.

K OK, well, thank you very much for all your help.

L No problem. Have a nice day.

ADAM Hello?

LILY Hi, Adam.

A Hi, Lily. How are things?

L Oh, um not too bad, I suppose. But now the kids are at school, I've been wondering what to do with my time. I get bored being at home all day on my own.

A So, er what choices do you have?

L Well, I could go back to teaching, but I'm thinking of doing another degree instead.

A Really? Wow!

L Well, if I start teaching again, I'll be exhausted after a year. And I don't know if I want to work in a school all day and then look after three children when I get home.

A What will you study if you do another degree?

L I'd like to do fashion design. You know I've always been interested in that kind of thing. I've talked to a few colleges and I don't think it'll be a problem getting in.

A Well, that's good. But you might not get in this year if you don't apply soon. It's already June.

L Yes, I know.

A What does Jack think?

L Well, he's worried about the money side of things. You know how expensive university fees are nowadays. But unless I do it soon, I'll be too old.

A Well, have you asked Mum and Dad?

L They might lend you some money.

A Yes, that's a good idea. I'll ask them before they go on holiday.

A Anyway, I don't think you should worry about the money. I think you should do what will make you happy.

L Yes, you're probably right. As soon as I make up my mind, I'll let you know. So, how are things with you?

A Yeah, good thanks. Actually, I've just been offered a new job.

L Really? Where?

A Beijing.

L Really? Wow, that's fantastic news! What's the job?

A The same as I'm doing now, sales manager. They want me to set up a new sales team there.

L So, are you going to take it?

A I don't know. I'm not sure I want to live on the other side of the world.

L Oh, I'm sure you'll enjoy it when you get there.

A Maybe. I've got a meeting with my boss on Monday about it. I'll make a decision after I talk to him.

L Well, I think you should take the job. You might never get this kind of opportunity again.

A But I can't speak a word of Chinese.

L Well, why don't you do an intensive course before you go? I'm sure the company would pay for it.

A Yes, that's not a bad idea.

L Have you talked to Mum and Dad about this?

A Er, no, not yet.

L Well, don't worry. I won't say anything until you decide what to do. I know they'll want you to go, though.

A Yes, probably. Anyway, I'll call you when I know what I'm doing. So, how's Billy getting on at his new school?

EDWARD Charlotte, are you very superstitious?

CHARLOTTE No, not really. Why do you ask?

E I'm reading a fascinating book called The History of Superstitions. Did you know that in Britain, people think that seeing a black cat is good luck, but in nearly every other country in the world it's bad luck?

C That's quite strange, isn't it?

E Yes, I thought so too. And do you know why breaking a mirror is seven years' bad luck?

C No, why?

E Well um the Romans believed that life started again every seven years. If a mirror broke, then people thought the last person who looked at it was very ill and would continue to be ill for the next seven years of their life – you know, until they got a 'new life'.

C OK then – my uncle always carries a rabbit's foot around with him. Why would a rabbit's foot be lucky?

E Hang on, lucky charms are here somewhere – yes, here it is – er, rabbits were believed to help families grow their crops because they lived in the fields and had lots of babies. So they became a sign of fertility and good luck.

C Hmm. Not so lucky for the rabbit, though.

E Yeah, true. So, what superstitions do you believe in?

C Well, let me think ... Oh, I touch wood – but everyone does that, don't they?

E Ah, that's an interesting one. According to this book, thousands of years ago, people used to believe that good spirits lived in the trees and that touching wood called on these spirits and protected people from danger.

C That's interesting. I also do that thing with salt, you know, throw it over my shoulder. I've no idea why, though.

E Ah, that's in here too ... Yes, here it is. Apparently hundreds of years ago salt used to be very expensive and valuable, and was mainly used as a medicine, so spilling it was a really bad thing to do. You throw it over your left shoulder – or the right one if you live in Argentina or Italy – into the faces of the evil spirits behind you, to stop them hurting you.

C Hmm, sounds like an interesting book.

E Yes, it is. You can borrow it when I've finished, if you like.

C Yes, please. Thanks a lot.

IAN Right, are we ready to start? OK, as you know, we're planning to hold a festival in the summer to celebrate the 200th anniversary of our village. Now, we've never done anything like this before, so I'm happy to hear everyone's opinions and suggestions.

REBECCA Perhaps the first thing to discuss is what sort of entertainment we want.

LISA Yes, that seems a good place to start.

DUNCAN May I make a suggestion?

I Yes, of course, Duncan.

D How about having some live music? We could put up a stage on the village green for the weekend.

L Yes, that sounds like a good idea. Who shall we get to play?

R We could hire some professional musicians.

I I'm not sure about that. For one thing, they could be quite expensive.

D What about charging people five pounds each to get into the festival? That would raise quite a lot of money.

R Sorry, I don't think we should do that. I think the festival should be free for everyone.

L Yes, I agree. A lot of people won't come if they have to pay.

D Well, we could ask bands to play for free. There are lots of local bands who'd love to play at a festival, I'm sure.

R Yes, we could put an ad in the local paper and on the website.

I Well, it's definitely worth a try. But we'll still need to raise some money to pay for the stage and the lights, that sort of thing.

L I've got an idea! Let's have a festival raffle and ask people to buy raffle tickets when they come in. Then we can use the money we make to pay for the festival.

D Yes, that's not a bad idea.

R Can I make a point here?

I Of course.

R If we have a raffle, we'll need to buy prizes. So we might not make enough money to pay for the festival.

D Well, why don't we ask local businesses to donate the prizes for free? It would be good advertising for them.

I Yes, that could work. OK, what else could we do?

L Have you thought of asking the school to put on a musical in the daytime?

R That's a brilliant idea! Parents would love that.

I OK. I'll talk to the head teacher this week. And what about food and drink?

D Why don't we make all the food ourselves?

L I'm not sure that's a good idea. I think people in the village will want to enjoy the festival, not make sandwiches all day.

I Well, we can just have stalls selling burgers, chips, sandwiches and stuff – every festival has those.

D Er, can I just say something here?

I Sure, go ahead.

D As it's a village festival, I think we need to involve the people who live in the village in the festival a bit more.

I OK. So how can we do that?

D I suggest we have some competitions, you know, the best cake, the biggest vegetables, the most beautiful pet, that kind of thing. People always love those.

I Yes, that's a great idea! OK, let's just go over what we've got so far.

JUDY I run a company that makes personalised gifts. Basically people send us their photos online and we put them on posters, T-shirts, calendars, mouse mats, that kind of thing. All of our customers order online. If the internet didn't exist, I wouldn't have a business. The most important part of the company is our website because that's how everyone places their order. We'd lose a lot of customers if our website crashed. It's a very cheap business to run, but one thing I don't like about it is that I never talk to customers any more, it's all just online order forms and emails. I'd like to talk to a real customer again, you know, face-to-face.

WESLEY I've owned this café for 12 years and I'd say that the internet is essential for my business. There's an art college across the road and the students come in here all the time, you know, just to have a coffee and check their email or whatever. If we didn't have WiFi, this place would be empty. They don't even need a password to log on. But it does mean people talk less than they used to. Sometimes I look round and nobody's talking to each other, they're all online in their own little worlds. If they turned off their computers, they might make some new friends. But it also means they stay longer and spend more money, so I can't complain, I suppose.

FRANK I'm the sales manager for a sports equipment company and like most people I couldn't live without the internet – or my laptop. I've got all my personal stuff on there and a lot of information about the company too. If I lost my laptop, I'd probably lose my job! One thing that's changed because of the internet is that a lot of my meetings are online nowadays. In some ways they're great, because they save a lot of time. But of course this means I hardly ever travel for work any more. I used to enjoy visiting other parts of the world and staying in nice hotels. If we didn't have so many online meetings, I could get out of the office more often.

GARY Here are your drinks. We were lucky to get a table, weren't we?

JENNY Yes, it's always quite busy in here after work.

SIMON Cheers.

G&J Cheers.

G So how was the meeting?

J Oh, it was quite boring, actually. Marcus went on about sales figures and cutting costs and stuff like that.

G Right. Did you go to the meeting, Simon? Simon?

J Oh, don't worry about him, he's probably updating his Facebook page. Saying something fascinating like 'in pub with people from work' or whatever.

S Just because I'm online, it doesn't mean I can't hear you.

G I can see why they don't allow people to go on Facebook in the office.

J Yeah, what did Marcus call it? 'Social not-working.'

G So how often do you go on Facebook, Simon?

S Oh, I don't know. About ten or fifteen times a day, probably.

G Really?

S Yeah. All of my friends are on it and I like to know what's happening to them.

G Are you on Facebook, Jenny?

J Yes, but I don't check it very often any more. I used to do it all the time – it's very addictive. But I was spending hours and hours on it and it wasn't as much fun as it used to be. And in the end, you're still just sitting on your own in front of a computer screen.

G Yeah, I see what you mean.

J Actually, I thought it was damaging my friendships. I always knew what my friends were doing, so I never phoned them up for a chat or arranged to meet up with them. There didn't seem to be a reason to. Now I only check it once a week and try to meet up with friends face-to-face more often.

S So how many friends do you have?

J Do you mean real friends or Facebook friends?

S Er, Facebook friends.

J Oh, I don't know. About a hundred, I think.

S Is that all? I've got ... um, let's see ... seven hundred and sixty-two. And even my sister's rabbit's got over two hundred friends.

G Which means your sister's rabbit is twice as popular as Jenny.

S Exactly. Computers never lie.

J Very funny.

S What about you, Gary? Are you on Facebook?

G No, I'm not, but I'm on Twitter.

J Oh, right. Do you tweet a lot?

G No, but I like reading tweets from film stars and footballers and people like that.

S And what about YouTube?

J Yeah, I love YouTube. I can spend hours watching videos of baby animals.

S Yeah, women love that sort of thing. My favourite YouTube videos are the ones of people having hilarious accidents.

G Well, my wife posts videos of the children so our relatives can watch them.

S Yeah, that's the wonderful thing about the internet. You can use it to share videos of your kids ...

J ... or to tell your Facebook friends it's your turn to buy the drinks?

S What? Oh, yeah, OK then. Same again?

Conversation 1

CHARLIE Hello, Tanya. Have you got a minute?

TANYA Hello, Charlie. Yes, of course. Take a seat.

C Thanks.

T Right. How can I help?

C I just wanted to talk about next week's meeting with Sunspot Hotels. As you know, they're very important clients and we need everything to go perfectly.

T Yes, absolutely. Right. Jack and Melissa Johnson from Sunspot are flying over from the States on Monday.

C Can you tell me when they're arriving?

T They're arriving in London from New York at ... let's see ... 15.23.

C Good. Do you know whether we've booked them a hotel room?

T Yes, we have. Jenny's booked them into the Holiday Inn near the airport.

C Fine. And the meeting's on Tuesday morning, is that correct?

T Yes, it is.

C Could you tell me what time it starts?

T It starts at 10 and should finish about 12.30. Then you and I are taking them for lunch at the Rose and Crown. You know, that lovely old pub by the river.

C That's a good choice. And what about all the other people attending the meeting?

T Jenny emailed everyone about it last week.

C I think it's important that Barry Mackenzie should be there. He knows more about the American market than anyone else. Have you any idea if he's been invited?

T Er, I'm not sure.

C Well, perhaps you could check.

T Yes, I will.

C Do you think we should email everyone again? You know, just to remind everyone.

T OK, I'll do that myself this afternoon.

C Great. OK, perhaps we should talk about our presentation. Do you want to talk about the new products, or shall I?

Conversation 2

CHARLIE Hi, darling, I'm home.

REBECCA Hello. Good day at work?

C Yes, not bad, thanks. Mm, that smells good.

R Don't get excited. It's for Harry, not for you. You haven't forgotten about his first birthday party on Saturday, have you?

C No, of course not. What time does it start?
 R At 3 o'clock, but some people have said they'll be a bit late.
 C Right. Are your parents coming?
 R Yes, of course they are. They wouldn't miss their grandson's first birthday!
 C When are they arriving?
 R On Friday. It's a long way to come and they wanted to make a weekend of it.
 C Right. They're not staying here, are they?
 R No, we thought it would be easier if they didn't.
 C Have we booked them a hotel room?
 R Yes, I did it this afternoon.
 C OK. So, how many people are coming?
 R Er, I'm not sure yet. Some people haven't replied.
 C Should we email everyone again?
 R Yeah, good idea.
 C What about your uncle Bob?
 R What about him?
 C Has he been invited?
 R Of course. I know you don't get on with him, but he's family. Just try not to get into an argument with him this time.
 C I will. Perhaps you can ask him not to break my TV this time too.
 R That was an accident. Anyway, come and see what I've got Harry for his birthday.

ANN Hi, Tom. What are you doing at the moment?
 TOM I'm trying to download an attachment, but my laptop keeps crashing. Do you think it's got a virus?
 A Maybe. Perhaps the software's a bit out of date. When did you last update it?
 T I can't remember. And it slows down every time I try to send an email.
 A I think it's time to get yourself a new computer.

VAL Hi, James.
 JAMES Hello, Val. Hi, Pete. Come in.
 PETE Hi.
 V Are you ready to go?
 J Er, not quite. Do you want a coffee? I've just put the kettle on.
 V Yes, sure. You get ready, we'll make it.
 J OK. Oh, there's a bit of pasta left if you're hungry.
 V Er, no thanks, we've just eaten. Well, I've found some coffee, but there's no sugar.
 P There's some in that jar by the toaster.
 V Oh yes.
 P Hm. There's enough milk for two cups, but not enough for three, I don't think.
 V It's OK, I'll have it black.
 J And can someone feed the cat? There are plenty of tins of cat food in the cupboard. He has one small tin.

V Sure. Here you go, kitty. James, where do you put your recycling?

J Er, in the bin.
 V What, the rubbish bin?
 J Yes, that green one over there.
 V You should recycle things like tin cans. Too much rubbish is just thrown away when a lot of it could be made into something useful.
 J Yeah, you're probably right. I never recycle anything, I'm sorry to say.
 P Well, you're not the only one. Hardly any people in our building recycle stuff. Did you know that Germany recycles over 70% of its rubbish, but in the UK it's still only about 40%?

J Hm, that's not much, is it?
 V No, it isn't. And there aren't enough places to recycle in this city. And did you know that on average, every person in the UK throws away seven times their own body weight in rubbish every year?

J Really? Wow!
 V Well, it's never too late to start. There's a lot of stuff in your bin that could be recycled. Look, there's loads of paper and several plastic bottles. The bottles can be made into clothes and the paper is used to make toilet paper. And all these empty cat food tins can be recycled and the metal used for making fridge parts.

J You seem to know a lot about all this.
 P Well, there's plenty of information on the internet. But it takes time to change people's habits. People are naturally lazy, I think.

V Yes, too many people just don't make the effort. But the government should do more too. In Germany people have to recycle their rubbish – it's the law. They should do that here too, I think.
 J Yes, I suppose you're right. I've got a few friends who recycle things like you do, but most people I know just throw everything away. But in future I'll recycle what I can.
 P Come on, we're late.
 J Let me get my coat. Won't be a second.
 V We made a little progress there, I think.
 P Yes, I think so. But I think he should recycle that coat. It looks like his cat sleeps on it!

BEVERLY A British tourist has been attacked by /j/ a shark off the coast of Texas, making it the /j/ eighth shark attack in America this year. We now go /w/ over live to /w/ Andrew /w/ Evans for /r/ a special report. Andrew, I /j/ understand that the man didn't do /w/ anything unusual to cause this attack.

ANDREW Yes, that's right, Beverly. Mark Skipper, a 49-year /r/ old man from Oxford, was just swimming on his own quite close to the beach when he was attacked.
 B How badly was he hurt?
 A Well, we don't have much information yet, but we know that his leg was bitten quite badly. He was immediately taken to hospital and we're waiting to hear how he's doing.
 B So /w/ Andrew, why /j/ are the sharks coming in so close?
 A Well, Ryan Williamson, who works for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, believes that the /j/ increase in shark attacks /s/ because of what they call dead zones. These /r/ areas in the /j/ ocean where there /r/ isn't enough oxygen, so /w/ all the fish die.
 B So there /r/ aren't any fish for the sharks to /w/ eat.
 A Exactly. Many /j/ of these dead zones are /r/ actually quite close to the coast, so the sharks come in closer /r/ and closer looking for food.

B So what turns an area /r/ of the /j/ ocean into /w/ a dead zone?

A I'm afraid it's us, Beverly, people. There's too much pollution in the sea /j/ and it's killing all the fish. And these dead zones cover fairly large areas – the one we're talking about here, for /r/ example, covers about 5,800 square miles.

B And are these dead zones only /j/ around the US coast?

A No, they're not. According to the United Nations, there /r/ are /r/ over four hundred dead zones around the world – that's nearly three times as many /j/ as there were five years ago.

B So /w/ is the wildlife department in Texas now saying that people shouldn't go swimming?

A No, they /j/ aren't telling people to stay /j/ out of the water, but they've advised holidaymakers not to go swimming early /j/ in the morning or /r/ in the /j/ evening, because those /j/ are the times when sharks feed.

B Thank you, Andrew /w/ Evans, for that report.

REBECCA So, how can I help?

LISA Well, Daniel's asked me to go on a hiking holiday in the Lake District with him.

R Oh, right. That sounds fun.

L Er, yes, maybe. Anyway, he wanted me to look at his old tent to see if it's still OK.

R Well, I wouldn't like to be on top of a mountain in that. If I were you, I'd buy a new tent.

L Yes, maybe you're right. You and Charlie have been hiking a few times, haven't you?

R Yes, we used to go quite a lot before Harry was born.

L Well, could you give me some advice? I've never been hiking before and I'm a bit nervous about it.

R Yes, of course. Well, firstly, make sure you take plenty of warm clothes. It can get really cold at night in a tent.

L OK.

R And it's a good idea to take some waterproof clothing in case it rains. Which it probably will – this is England, after all.

L Yes, Daniel's going to lend me his waterproof jacket. And I've already got a rucksack, a camping stove and a warm sleeping bag.

R Great! And make sure you wear comfortable walking boots. Don't wear new boots or else you'll get blisters on your feet.

L Yes, I've got some old boots that are very comfortable.

R OK, that's good.

L And what about food? What should we take?

R Well, dried food and pasta is good because it isn't very heavy to carry. You can camp by a river and use the water to cook with.

L OK. That's really useful, thanks. What else do you think we should take with us?

R Well, you'd better take a torch in case you have to walk in the dark. And you'll need it when you're camping too, of course. And take some spare batteries for your torch and your camera.

L That's a good idea. I hadn't thought of that.

R And don't forget to take a map. It's easy to get lost in the mountains, particularly in bad weather.

L Right. And what should we do if we get lost?

R Well, you can try to use the GPS on your phone, but you can't always get reception, so it's worth taking a compass, just in case. And whatever you do, don't lose sight of each other. If the weather is bad, you and Daniel must stay together at all times.

L Right, thanks. That's really helpful.

R Oh, and be careful when you're crossing rivers. They can be more dangerous than they look.

L Yes, we will. Do you think it's a good idea to tell someone where we're going?

R Yes, definitely. And when you expect to get back. Then, if you're not back on time, someone can come and look for you.

L Right. That sounds like good advice.

R Oh, and one more thing.

L What's that?

R Watch out for wolves. There are quite a few in the Lake District, and you don't want one of those coming into your tent at night.

L Wolves? Are you serious?

R No, don't worry, I'm only joking. The most dangerous thing in the mountains is always the weather.

L And Daniel's cooking, probably.

R Right, I'd better go and pick up Harry from his grandparents. See you later.

L Thanks, Rebecca. See you!

R Bye!

MOIRA DIXON Hello, I'm Moira Dixon, and here are today's main news stories. World leaders have met to discuss the global economy at the World Trade Summit in Hamburg. EU Finance Ministers have asked for more help from the World Bank for countries that are having problems paying off their debts. Outside the conference hall, thousands of people have taken part in a demonstration to protest against the World Bank's economic policies. The demonstration began peacefully, but soon turned violent as protesters tried to enter the conference hall and were stopped by police. At least forty people have been arrested and six police officers have been taken to hospital.

A new report on the environment has just been published. The report shows that the UK has failed to meet its targets to reduce CO<sub>2</sub> emissions. However, environment minister Jack Clarke told reporters that some progress has been made.

JACK CLARKE We haven't met our targets yet, that's true, but we've made good progress. The amount of CO<sub>2</sub> produced by the UK has already been reduced by 2.7% in the last three years, which will help reduce global warming. But we could – and we should – do better, and I'm sure that we will.

MD Over 1,500 ancient gold and silver objects have been discovered by a retired teacher in Wales. 72-year-old Gareth Jones found the treasure five days ago while he was walking around his brother-in-law's farm with a metal detector. Experts say the find, which includes coins, swords and items of jewellery, dates back to the 7th century and could be worth over £10 million. One of the UK's leading archaeologists, Professor Geoffrey Baxter, says that the government needs to act fast to make sure the treasure stays in public hands.

GEOFFREY BAXTER Some of the items still haven't been examined, but this is already the most important archaeological discovery this century. But why haven't we heard anything from the government yet? It's important that these pieces are kept for the nation and eventually put on display in the British Museum. If the government doesn't act soon, some of them might end up in private collections.

INTERVIEWER Welcome back. With me in the studio is Dr Miriam Richards, who's a psychologist at the University of Pennsylvania and has just published a new report on the psychology of lying.

MIRIAM Hi there.

I Now, Dr Richards, why exactly do we lie?

M Well, put simply, we lie because we want to control what other people think of us, and how we see ourselves. The main reasons we lie are to avoid arguments, to protect ourselves from harm or danger, to save face – you know, so that we don't look stupid in front of other people – and of course just to get what we want in life.

I And does everybody lie?

M Yes, I would say that everyone lies at some time or other. And anyone who says that they don't is obviously a liar!

I And how can we tell that someone is lying to us?

M Well, it's often easier to look at the person's body language than to listen to what they're saying. For example, when someone is lying, they'll often avoid eye contact. However, very good liars might make more eye contact than usual to try and make you think they're telling the truth.

I Really?

M Yes, and they often smile a lot too – but they won't be real smiles, of course.

I So how can you tell if a smile is real?

M Well, a real smile uses the muscles around the eyes, but a fake smile doesn't. So if you can't tell if someone's really smiling, then look at their eyes, not their mouth.

I Are there any other ways you can tell if someone is lying?

M Oh yes. When we tell the truth, our eyes tend to move to the right, because the left side of the brain, which stores facts, controls the right side of the body.

I I see.

M Yes, and when we're lying, the right side of the brain, which controls imagination, makes the eyes go left.

I Hmm, that's interesting.

M Yes, and people tend to look up when they're telling the truth, because they're getting information from their brain. If they start lying, they'll look down or straight ahead. When they go back to telling the truth, their eyes will go up again.

I I've also been told that people put their hands over their mouths when they're lying. Is that true?

M Yes, it is. People also touch their noses a lot when they're lying, because that covers the mouth too.

I That's fascinating. And what about white lies?

M Well, of course most people tell white lies when they don't want to hurt people's feelings, for example, er, saying a meal was delicious when it was awful. But some people can also train themselves to become expert liars, like, er, politicians, for example.

I Dr Richards, thanks for coming in to talk to us today.

M My pleasure. And I really mean that!

DR Now what seems to be the problem?

MR P I'm not feeling very well. I've got a terrible stomach ache and I keep throwing up.

DR Have you had any diarrhoea?

MR P No, I haven't.

DR How long have you been feeling like this?

MR P Since um late last night.

DR Do you know if you're allergic to anything?

MR P No, not that I know of.

DR What have you eaten recently?

MR P Well, my two children cooked dinner for my wife and me last night. It was our wedding anniversary, you see, and they wanted to surprise us.

DR That was a nice thought. What did you have?

MR P Well, I'm not sure what it was, actually. Some sort of er seafood and pasta dish. They spent a long time cooking it, so you know I felt I had to eat it. It wasn't very nice, to be honest. My wife hardly ate any, so I ate hers too.

DR OK, I think you've got food poisoning. The best thing to do is to rest and don't eat anything for the next 24 hours. After that you can eat things like bread or rice, but no milk or cheese.

MR P Right.

DR And drink lots of water, or black tea with a little sugar in.

MR P OK. Do I need to make another appointment?

DR No, I'm sure you'll be fine, but come back if you're not feeling better in two days.

MR P Thanks a lot.

DR And maybe tell your children that you want to go to a restaurant next year.

MR P Yes, I will. Goodbye.

DOCTOR Hello, Mr Green. Please sit down.

MR GREEN Thanks. Achooo!

DR What seems to be the problem?

MR G Well, I haven't been feeling very well recently. My chest hurts and I keep getting really bad headaches.

DR Have you been taking anything for them?

MR G Yes, paracetamol, but er it didn't really help much.

DR Have you got any other symptoms?

MR G Yes, I can't stop sneezing. Achooo!

DR Yes, I can see that. And how long have you been feeling like this?

DR Right, let me have a look at you. Say "aaaah".

MR G Aaaah ...

DR That's fine, thanks. I'm just going to take your temperature. ... Yes, you've got a bit of a temperature, but nothing serious. I think you've got a virus. You need to stay in bed and rest for two or three days.

MR G Do I need a ... a ...

DR A what?

MR G ACHOOO!

DR Bless you!

MR G Thanks. Do I need some antibiotics? I'm allergic to penicillin, by the way.

DR No, antibiotics don't work with viruses, but I'm going to give you something stronger for the headaches.

MR G Oh, right.

DR Here's a prescription for some painkillers.

MR G Thanks a lot. How often should I take them?

DR Every four hours. If you're not better in three days, then come back and we'll do some blood tests.

MR G Thank you, doctor.

PEGGY Hello?

LEO Hi, Mum.

P Oh, hello darling. How are you?

L I'm OK, thanks. Did you get the message I left yesterday?

P Oh, dear, yes I did. I was supposed to call you back, wasn't I? Sorry, Leo, I was out all day. Hope it wasn't important.

L No, it's OK. It's just that, well, Karen and I wondered if you had any special plans for your wedding anniversary this year. You know, as it's your 25th and all that.

P Er, well, we were going to spend our anniversary in the cottage in Wales where we had our honeymoon, but it was already booked. Tom was supposed to book it months ago, but he forgot. So the short answer is no, no plans.

L Right. Karen and I want to organise a party for you. It was going to be a surprise party, but we can't organise it without you.

P What a lovely idea!

L Actually, we want to invite all the people who came to your wedding so we borrowed some of your old wedding photos. But we haven't got a clue who most of them are.

P Well, we've lost touch with most of them. 25 years is a long time.

L What about the best man?

P Oh, Derek Bradley. Yes, he and his wife, Brenda, were our closest friends back then. She was my bridesmaid. They moved to New York just after our wedding. We were going to visit them later that year, but we didn't go for some reason. Haven't heard from them in, oh, er 15 years or so. I've no idea how to get in touch with them.

L Well, if you let me have all the information you've got, I'll try to get hold of as many people as I can.

P Well, let's see. I'm still in touch with Trevor Jones and his wife, Sheila – they met at our wedding, you know. And then there's Jane Lewis. We used to share a flat together. I think I still have a phone number for her somewhere ...

KAREN You look lovely with your hair up, Mum. And I love that red dress.

PEGGY Thank you, Karen. Have you seen your father?

K Not for a while, no. Anyway, how are you feeling?

P A bit nervous, actually. And where's Leo?

K I'm not sure. He could be picking people up from the station.

P Oh, right.

K Who's that, Mum? The woman in the flowery skirt with wavy hair and glasses.

P That's Brenda Bradley. She was my bridesmaid.

K That's right. That can't be her real hair colour, though, can it? It looks dyed to me.

P Yes, I think it is. She used to be fair, I think. She must be going grey.

K And who's the woman with the blonde hair in the blue suit? Is that Jane Lewis?

P Yes, it might be. Hang on, she's spotted us.

JANE Peggy! Gosh, it must be, what, 15 years since I last saw you.

P Hi, Jane. You look fantastic!

J Thank you. You too. Um, where's Tom?

P Good question. He must be talking to some guests in the other room. Er so, anyway, what are you doing these days?

LEO Karen!

K Ah, there you are. Have you seen Dad?

L No, why?

K Mum's looking for him.

L Well, he must be around somewhere. He may want to be on his own for a bit. You know, it's a big thing, this party.

K Yes, maybe. ... Hey, who's that?

L Who?

K Him – the guy in the dark suit with curly hair and the moustache. It could be the guy that moved to New York, er, what's his name, Derek something?

L No, that isn't Derek Bradley. He's the tall guy over there, the one in the grey suit.

K With the beard?

L Yeah.

K Oh, right.

L And that's his son, Nick, next to him, with the flowery tie and glasses.

K Look, the man with the curly hair is coming over.

TREVOR Hi, you must be Peggy's daughter.

K Yes, that's right, I'm Karen. Hi. And this is my brother, Leo.

L Nice to meet you.

T Hi, I'm Trevor Jones. Thanks very much for inviting us, it's a wonderful party.

K Glad you're having a good time.

T Have you met my wife, Sheila?

K Er, no, not yet.

T She's over there – the one with red hair in the dark brown dress. We first met at your parents' wedding, you know ...

K Haven't you found him yet, Mum?

P No, I haven't.

K Maybe he's having a secret cigarette somewhere.

P Oh, don't be silly. He can't be having a cigarette. He stopped smoking months ago. Ah, Leo, there you are. Where's your father? He should be here talking to the guests.

L Well, he might be in the bathroom.

P Yes, perhaps. Go and check, will you, Leo?

L Sure, won't be a minute. ... Yes, he's in there. He's practising his speech in front of the mirror. He says he'll be out in a few minutes.

P Oh, honestly, he must know that speech by now. We spent hours going over it last night. Go and get him, will you? I'm going back to join the party.

L Sure. I'm glad we only have to do this every 25 years!

PRESENTER Today I'm talking to Wendy Robinson, whose new book, I Do, is a history of wedding traditions.

WENDY Hello.

P Wendy, first of all, we should star[t] with the most obvious question. When did our ancestors star[t] getting married to each other?

W Oh, weddings have been around since the beginning of civilisation, but they haven't always been as peaceful as they are now. In parts of Europe around two thousand years ago, if there weren't enough single women in the village, men often went an[d] kidnapped a woman from another village.

P Really?

W Yes, and the man always took a close friend with him to help with the kidnapping, which is where the tradition of the 'bes[t] man' comes from.

P That's interesting.

W That's also why the bes[t] man stands next to the groom during the wedding ceremony, so he could protect the bride if her family tried to come and take her back.

P Well, I'm pleased that things have moved on a bit since then. And what about wedding rings? Where did they originate?

W That tradition was started by the Ancient Egyptians. And the wedding ring is always worn on the third finger of the left hand because the Ancient Egyptians believed the vein of the third finger was the 'vein of love' and ran directly to the heart.

P Oh, right. And what about wedding cakes?

W Well, they've been around since Ancient Greek and Roman times. The Greeks used to throw small cakes at the bride and groom, while the Romans used to break a cake over the bride's head. Both of these were symbols of fertility – you know, to help the bride have lots of children.

P And am I right in thinking that's why people throw confetti too?

W Yes, exactly. Guests used to throw wheat, rice or nuts coated in sugar over the happy couple to help them have children, and also to wish for a successful harvest. Now, of course, people tend to throw confetti instead.

P OK, so then the happy couple go on their honeymoon. Where did that tradition originate?

W Well, one theory says this started in Babylonia about 4,000 years ago. After the wedding the bride's father gave his new son-in-law all the mead – that's beer made from honey – the man could drink. This was drunk for the next month – and as the calendar was based on the moon, this period of time after the wedding became known as the honeymoon.

P And in the UK, women are traditionally allowed to propose to men on the 29th February. Why is that?

W Ah, this dates back hundreds of years, when the leap year wasn't recognised by law. For this reason, women believed that they didn't have to follow the usual traditions, so they felt they could ask their men to marry them.

P And what about other traditions, such as ...

Conversation 1

REBECCA Morning, Ella. Sleep well?

ELLA Yes, like a log. What's the time?

R About 11.30.

E Really? I've been asleep for nearly 12 hours!

R Well, I'm sure it'll take a few days to recover. It's a long flight from Delhi.

E Yeah, it took about 11 hours, and we didn't sleep at all on the plane. Mike's still fast asleep. I'm starving. Can I make myself some breakfast?

R Yes, of course you can. Help yourself. You know where everything is.

E Thanks. And thanks a lot for letting us stay for a bit, Rebecca. That's really kind of you.

R No problem. Stay as long as you like, it's nice to have the company. Is there anything else you need?

E Er, well, all our clothes are absolutely filthy from all the travelling. May I use your washing machine?

R Actually, I was just going to put some washing in. I need some clean clothes for Harry. But you can use it later if you like.

E Great, thanks.

R So what are your plans?

E Well, I need to look for a job, actually. We spent all our money on the India trip.

R You could talk to Charlie. Apparently they need a new PA in the office.

E Really? That's interesting. I'll talk to him about it later. It's much colder here than in Delhi. Do you mind if I borrow a jumper?

R No, not at all. They're in the bottom drawer in our bedroom. Pick whichever one you like.

E Great, thanks a lot. Be back in a minute.

Conversation 2

CHARLIE Oh, Mike, what's it like to be back in the UK?

MIKE Well, it's quite strange, actually. We were only in India for a month, but it feels like we were away for a year. But it's very nice to be back.

C And when are we going to see your photos?

M Oh er they're all still on our camera at the moment. Er, is it OK if I use your laptop to upload some photos?

C Sorry, I left mine at work. But I'm sure Rebecca will let you use hers.

M Thanks a lot. Then I can show them to you and Rebecca later, if you like.

C Yeah, good idea. We could do it after dinner.

M Oh, I have another big favour to ask you. Would you mind if I borrowed your car some time this week? My brother lives about 20 miles away and I haven't seen him for ages.

C Sorry, it's only insured for Rebecca and myself. But we can drop you at the station whenever you like.

M No problem, I just thought I'd ask.

C Is there anything else you need?

M Er, do you think I could use your landline to call my parents? I said I would phone them today and I don't have any credit left on my mobile.

C Yes, of course. Go ahead. The phone's in the front room, by the window.

M Thanks a lot.

C While you do that, I'll get Rebecca's laptop so you can upload those photos.

M Thanks.

ROB Hi, Sue. What are you doing at the weekend?

SUE We're planning to go away.

R Really? Where are you going to?

S We're off to Dublin for a wedding. We have to check in at ten, so we're setting off at eight.

R Well, this weekend I'm going to tidy up my office. I've been putting it off for ages, but I really need to sort it out.

S So are you going to be in all weekend?

R Yes, I am. Do you want me to look after your cat while you're away?

S That'd be great, thanks. See you on Monday!

GABI Hello, On The Box. Can I help you?

FIONA Hello. Um, can I speak to Max Foster, please?

G I'm afraid he's in a meeting all day. I'm his PA, Gabi. Can I take a message?

F Er, yes, probably. My name's Fiona Robbins, and I'm going to be in your new TV drama Undercover.

G Oh yes, of course. You're going to be Kat, aren't you?

F That's right, yes. Anyway um I'm afraid I can't come to the meeting on Monday.

G Oh, dear. Why's that?

F Well, um I'm in hospital. I was in a car accident and I've broken my leg.

G Oh, how terrible!

F Yes, I won't be able to walk on it for a month, or so they tell me.

G Poor you! That must be awful!

F Well, it's quite painful, yes. But I've already had one operation. It went quite well, I think.

G Well, that's good news, at least.

F Yes, I suppose so. And I'm having another operation on Friday. I hope it's going to be OK.

G Oh, I'm sure it is.

F Thanks. Anyway, about Undercover. I still want to be in the programme, of course, but I don't know what to do.

G Well, they're going to start filming soon, I think.

F Yes, I know.

G Well, um, you must talk to Max. And the sooner, the better, really. Um, can he call you tomorrow?

F Yes, please. He can call me on my mobile, which is 07700 900348.

G Er, yes, of course.

F Thanks. Look, I'm really sorry about this.

G Don't worry. I'll ask Max to call you back in the morning.

F OK.

G And get well soon!

F Thanks a lot. Bye.

G Bye.

GABI Hello, Max.

MAX Morning, Gabi. Any messages?

G Yes, quite a few, actually. Um, we've got a problem.

M Oh, what's that?

G Fiona Robbins called. You know, the actress who's going to be Kat in Undercover.

M Uh huh ...

G Well, she's broken her leg.

M You're joking!

G No, really, it's true. She said that she'd been in a car accident.

M Oh no! That's the last thing we need.

G Yes, I know. But she's being looked after very well, I think. She told me that she'd already had one operation.

M Well, that's good news, I guess.

G Yes, I think so. And she said that she was having another operation on Friday.

M Did she say when she'd be able to work again?

G Not exactly. But she said she wouldn't be able to walk on it for a month.

M Oh, I don't believe it! Does she realise how serious this is?

G Yes, I think so. She sounded quite worried about it.

M Not her leg – the fact that we're going to lose our lead actress!

G Anyway, she told me she couldn't come to the meeting on Monday.

M No, obviously not. What was she thinking of?

G Well, I don't think she planned to be in a car crash.

M No, I suppose not. What else did she say?

G She said she still wanted to be in the programme.

M What, in a wheelchair? She's supposed to be an undercover cop!

G Yes, I know.

M So what did you tell her?

G I told her they were going to start filming soon.

M Good. So she knows that we have to find someone else.

G Well, er, not exactly.

M What do you mean?

G I told her that she had to talk to you. Here's her mobile number.

M Right. While I'm doing this, find someone else to play Kat. I want three people here for auditions first thing tomorrow morning.

G Sure, will do. Before you go, you had some other messages too.

M Who from?

G Well, Mr Hall said he ...

GABI Sure, will do. Before you go, you had some other messages too.

MAX Who from?

G Well, Mr Hall said [h]e had to talk to you.

M OK, I'll call [h]im later. What's [h]is number?

G He only gave me his mobile number. Here it is.

M What does [h]e want, anyway? I talked to him last week.

G Apparently his wife wants [h]er script back.

M Well, send it to her – it was rubbish anyway. What's next?

G Er ... Carl told me he was going to be in New York next week.

M Why is [h]e going to New York? He should be going to L.A. That man's an idiot. I'll call [h]im later.

G And Sid said that [h]e hadn't understood your email. Maybe you should call [h]im back.

M OK, I will. Is that it?

G Er, not quite. Who's next? Um, oh yes, Linda Wise said she couldn't come to Monday's meeting.

M Did she say why?

G Yes, she's hurt [h]er back again.

M Typical. I told [h]er to see a doctor. She just won't listen.

G And Mrs Lee told me the designs would be ready on Monday.

M Well, that's some good news, at least.

G Yes, I told [h]er you'd be pleased. What's next? Oh, Ted Black said [h]e was having a party on Saturday.

M Who on earth is Ted Black?

G You know, the film producer. I told [h]im you'd be there.

M Oh no! You know I can't stand [h]im.

G He said [h]e wanted to talk to you about a new project.

M Fine. Is that all?

G And there's er one more.

M What's that?

G Your ex-wife told me she'd sold the house.

M What?! Get [h]er on the phone – now!

CD3 17

GABI I'm sorry, I don't know what you're talking about.

EVA We've been watching you for a while, you know. We've got it all – phone conversations, emails, text messages, bank statements, the lot.

G You're joking! You mean you're a cop?

E Got it in one, mate. And I hope you like prison food, because unless you start giving me some names, you're going to be eating it for the next ten years.

MAX Thank you very much um Eva. That was very good. Thanks, Gabi.

G No problem. See you later.

M Now, Eva, I'd like to ask you a few questions.

E Sure, go ahead.

M Are you working at the moment?

E Er, not at the moment, no.

M Do you have any acting work in the next three months?

E Well, maybe. I've had some auditions for other TV programmes, but I'm still waiting to hear back from them.

M And what was your last acting job?

E I played a nurse in an episode of Ward Six recently – you know, the TV hospital soap. I got hit by a car and ended up as a patient in the hospital I worked in. I died at the end of the episode. But it was a very challenging part.

M OK, that sounds good. What other parts have you had recently?

E Before that, well, I was a schoolteacher in a film called Flowers in Winter. I had the lead role in that. It was quite a demanding role, but very rewarding too. The film's coming out next month, I think.

M Right. And where did you study acting?

E I trained at the London School of Drama for three years.

M Really? Hm, that's good. And the last question. Are you available to start next week?

E Next week? Yes, I think so.

M OK, that's about all. Thanks for coming in. We've got your number, haven't we?

E Yes, it's on my CV – or you can call my agent.

M Fine. We'll let you know by the end of the day. Have you got any questions?

E Yes, I've got a couple, actually. Who are the other actors in Undercover?

CD3 18

JOE So, how did it go?
 EVA Oh, quite well, I think. It was quite stressful, though. I had to read from the script, then Max, the producer, interviewed me.
 J What did he ask you?
 E First he asked me if I was working at the moment.
 J And how did you deal with that?
 E Well, um I couldn't tell him I was a waitress working part-time in a café, could I? So I said no. Then he asked what my last acting job had been, so I told him about Ward Six.
 J That's good. It shows you're a working actress – well, some of the time, anyway.
 E Very funny. He also asked if I had any acting work in the next three months.
 J And what did you say?
 E I told him about the other auditions and said I was very hopeful. That was the best thing to say, don't you think?
 J Yes, probably.
 E Oh, and he wanted to know where I'd studied acting.
 J Uh-huh.
 E So I told him about the drama school, of course.
 J Did he ask anything else?
 E Er ... let me think ... yes, he asked me what other parts I'd had recently.
 J You told him about Flowers in Winter, I hope.
 E Of course. Then ... guess what?
 J What?
 E He wanted to know whether I was available to start next week!
 J Next week?! So you've got the part?
 E Er, no, not exactly – he said he'd let me know by the end of the day. But I have a good feeling about this, I really do.
 J Well, I really hope you get it. Will you still love me when you're famous?
 E No, I'll start going out with a good-looking man who's got a well-paid, glamorous job!
 J Hey!

CD3 20

EVA Hello?
 MAX Hello, is that Eva West?
 E Yes, it is.
 M This is Max Foster from On The Box.
 E Oh, er, yes, hi!
 M Good news! You've got the job!
 E Really? Oh, that's wonderful, thank you!
 M No problem. Can you come to a meeting on Monday?
 E Er, yes, of course. What time?
 M Be at our offices at ten. The director and all the other actors will be here too.
 E Yes, of course.

M Oh, and one more thing. Don't accept any more work. This is a full-time job and you'll be busy for the next three months, at least.
 E No, of course not. Thanks again. Bye.
 M Bye.
 E Wow! I've got the job!
 JOE Congratulations! That's brilliant!
 E Yes, I can't believe it! A TV series ... and I'm the main character!
 J So what did he say?
 E Well, he asked me to come to a meeting on Monday. He wants me to meet the director and the other actors.
 J That's great!
 E Yes, he told me to be at their offices at ten.
 J Excellent. Did he say anything else?
 E Yes, he told me not to accept any more work. This is going to last three months, at least.
 J Fantastic! So what's your character's name again?
 E Kat. I don't know much about her yet, but it sounds like a really challenging part. Apparently she's an undercover cop ...

DARREN [Are you] Sure this is the place, Glenn?
 GLENN Yeah. [The] Warehouse on Tudor Street. [At] Seven thirty.
 D [It] Looks closed to me. [Do you] Want a cigarette?
 G No, thanks, mate. [I] Gave up last week.
 D Yeah, right. [Have you] Heard from Kat recently?
 G Not since four. She'll call if she needs to. They're late.
 D Only five minutes. Maybe they're stuck in traffic or something.
 G Maybe. Let's wait a few more minutes.
 D Yeah, OK. 1We'll wait and see what happens.
 G I'm getting a bad feeling about this.
 D Me too. 2Why don't we call Kat? Where is she tonight, anyway?
 G [She's] Out on a date.
 D A date? You're joking. Who with?
 G The son, Dom. [She] Thought she could get some information out of him.
 D Information. Right.
 G [Have you] Got a cigarette?
 D [I] Thought you said you'd given up.
 G That was last week. 3Oh, don't forget to turn the camera on when they arrive. We need this on film.
 D Yeah, I know. Where are they?
 RUPERT Hendrik. At last. I said seven thirty.
 HENDRIK Sorry I'm late, Rupert. [I] Had a bit of a problem finding it. Why didn't we meet at the warehouse, like we usually do?
 R [The] Cops are watching me, that's why.

H What?!

R They've put an undercover cop in the gallery. [A] Girl called Kat.

H You're joking.

R Do I look like I'm joking? That's why I called you back this afternoon from a payphone and told you to meet me here instead.

H [Are you] Sure you weren't followed?

R No, the cops went to the warehouse. Idiots. So, [have you] got the statues?

H [They're] In the van. 4I'll put them in your car myself, if you like.

R Hang on a minute. Are the diamonds inside them?

H [Of] Course they are.

R They'd better be. Or we'll both end up dead.

H Hey, relax. All I want is the money. Er ... where is it, by the way?

R [It's] In the bag. Two million, used ten-pound notes, just like we agreed.

H Perfect. Hey, Rupert, when this is all over, 5would you like to come and visit me in Amsterdam?

R [I] Don't think that's a good idea. But if this works, 6I'll definitely buy some more of your statues. Now help me carry this one ...

KAT I've locked up the gallery, Gloria. Here are the keys.

GLORIA Thanks. Um, Kat, before you go, can I talk to you in the office?

K Of course.

G After you. ... Put your hands on your head. Now!

K What's going on?

G I have a gun pointing at your head. 7If you turn around, I'll kill you.

K Gloria, there must be some mistake.

G There's no mistake, 'Kat' – if that is your real name. We know you're a cop, so let's stop playing games, shall we?

K What are you talking about? Of course I'm not a cop. Whatever gave you that idea?

G I saw you bugging our phone the other night. Now if you don't start telling me the truth, I'll put a bullet between your pretty little ears.

K OK, you're right. 8I work for the SCS. We know what you and Rupert have been doing. But if you help us, I'll make it easier for you.

G 9I'm not going to help the police. I'd rather go to prison.

K They've probably arrested Rupert already, you know.

G I don't think so. We're one step ahead of you. Now sit down and shut up.

DOM Kat, are you there? Kat?

G 10Don't say a word.

ELLA Hello, Getaway Holidays. How can I help you?

MR KRANE Hello, my name's Bob Krane. Can I speak to Tanya Wilson, please?

E I'm sorry, she's out of the office all day. Would you like to leave a message?

MR K Er ... yes, if you don't mind.

E Sorry, what did you say your name was again?

MR K Bob Krane.

E Is that Crane with a C?

MR K No, with a K.

E Right, thank you. And what was the message?

MR K Um, well, your company wants to send customers to our hotels here in Florida and I'd like to meet with her when I come to the UK next week to discuss a contract.

E OK. Shall I ask her to call you?

MR K Actually, I'm flying to London Heathrow on Thursday on other business. I'm only in the UK for 48 hours, so perhaps Tanya could meet me at a hotel near Heathrow for lunch on the day I arrive. I'm on ... er, let's see, British Airways flight BA614 from Miami, which arrives at Heathrow at 11.15 a.m.

E Sorry, I didn't get all of that. Could you say it again, please?

MR K Yes, British Airways flight BA614 from Miami, which arrives at Heathrow at eleven fifteen.

E Flight BA614 from Miami.

MR K That's right.

E And it arrives at eleven fifty.

MR K No, not eleven fifty, eleven fifteen.

E OK, Mr Krane, I'll let her know as soon as she gets in tomorrow.

MR K Thank you very much. Bye.

E Goodbye.

ELLA Hello, Getaway Holidays. Can I help you?

ANDY Hi, it's Andy. How are things?

E Oh, hello Andy. Er, fine, I think. There's a lot to learn, though.

A I'm sure you'll be fine. If you're not sure about anything, just ask Charlie.

E Yes, I will. Anyway, aren't you supposed to be on holiday in Morocco?

A Yes, I am, but I'm not leaving till tomorrow, and there are a couple of things I didn't have time to do before I left on Friday.

E Well, can I help?

A Yes, if you don't mind. Firstly, could you call Rupert Nielson at The Times and tell him that the meeting on Wednesday has been cancelled.

E Do you mean this Wednesday, the twelfth?

A No, next Wednesday, the nineteenth.

E And could you tell me his surname again?

A Nielson.

E Is that spelt N-i-e-l-s-e-n?

A No, it's N-i-e-l-s-o-n.

E Right. Got it.

A And could you check that all our sales reps have been invited to the sales conference?

E Er, are you talking about the UK sales conference?

A No, the European one. It's in Lisbon next month.

E OK. I'll check they've all been invited.

A Thanks a lot.

E Is there anything else I can help you with?

A No, that's all, I think. But if you have any problems, give me a call on my mobile.

E Er, I haven't got your number.

A Oh, right hang on. It's um, 07700 900372.

E Sorry, I didn't quite catch that. Can you give it to me again, please?

A Sure. 07700 900372.

E Thanks. I won't call unless I have to.

Have a great holiday!

A Will do. And good luck with the new job!

Bye.

E Bye.

A Thanks for waiting. City centre please.

JULIET We've been standing here for nearly twenty minutes.

LENNY Yes, I know. But I'm sure one will be along soon.

J I wish we had a car.

L Yeah, me too, but you know we can't afford one, not until I find a job.

J Yeah, I know, I'm just saying. If we had a car, I wouldn't spend half my life waiting for buses.

L Oh look, here's one. See, I told you.

2

AMANDA Do you fancy a drink? Sally and I are off to the pub.

RYAN Oh, I wish I could come with you. But I have to stay and finish this report.

A Can't you do it tomorrow?

R No, Brian wants it before he goes home. He's off to New York in the morning.

A Well, if you finish it in the next hour or two, give me a call.

R Yes, I will. I could really do with a drink. Anyway, have a good time. Now, where was I?

3

JASON Are you enjoying this film?

TINA No, it's rubbish, isn't it? Actually, I'm sick of sitting here watching telly in this freezing cold flat.

J Yeah. I wish I was on a beach somewhere, you know, relaxing in the sunshine.

T Yeah, we could really do with a holiday, couldn't we? It's a shame we're so broke.

J Do you fancy going for a walk?

T No, I can't be bothered. Let's see what else is on.

MOLLY You look nice. I can't remember when I last saw you in a suit.

PATRICK Thanks. But I wish we didn't have to go to this party. I don't really feel up to it.

M Oh, you can't miss your sister's birthday. Anyway, you'll enjoy it when you're there.

P Yes, I suppose so. But let's not hang around for too long after dinner.

M No, of course not. So, which of these dresses should I wear?

P Er ... I don't mind, it's up to you.

M The red one, I think ... or maybe the green one.

DYLAN Are you off?

BARBARA Yes, I'm meeting Jackie at the station in a few minutes.

D Well, give her my love.

B Will do. I wish you were coming to the theatre with me.

D You know I'm not really into musicals. Anyway, I've got to finish marking all these exams.

B OK. I'll see you later.

D Have a good time. Bye.

CAROL The most important moment in my life was um the day I met Owen. An old friend was having a party, but the weather was so bad that I nearly didn't bother going. Just think, if I'd stayed at home, I wouldn't have met my husband. Anyway, my friend introduced me to Owen and we got on really well. He was only in London for a few days – he's American, you see – and he was supposed to fly back to Boston the following day. But the next morning Owen called me to say that Heathrow airport was closed because of ice and snow. He'd have flown home that day if the weather hadn't been so bad. Anyway, he invited me out for lunch and we got to know each other a bit better. He flew home the next day, but by that time we were already madly in love. We got married two years later – and the rest, as they say, is history.

ANTHONY For me the, um ... probably the biggest turning point in my life was when I lost my job. I was working for an advertising agency, but they got into financial trouble and had to get rid of some people, including me. I got quite depressed at first, but I was getting fed up with working for a big agency anyway. So I decided to start my own online design company. If I hadn't lost my job, I wouldn't have started my own business, but it's been really successful. I've always fancied working from home, and so I moved to the country and bought a nice little cottage. I wouldn't have left London if I'd stayed with the ad agency. I don't get as much money as I used to, but I'm much happier than I was then.

MICHELLE Well, for me it's probably the day I won my first race. When I was a kid I used to get into trouble a lot at school, and the only thing I enjoyed was running, which I was always quite good at. Then one day my dad took me to the local athletics club. When we got there I found out that he'd entered me for the 400 metres! I was really nervous, but I won by over two seconds. That was the turning point for me. If I hadn't won that race, I'd never have become a serious athlete. I started training really hard and three years later I managed to get into the British youth athletics team. I've got better as I've got older and now I want to compete in the next Olympics. So, yeah, running's changed my life. If I hadn't started doing this, I'd have got into a lot more trouble, I'm sure of that.

PRESENTER Hello and welcome to the programme. Stories of superheroes have entertained us for nearly eighty years, and one of the most popular of these is Spider-Man. Today I'm talking to the author Robin Baker, whose new book, Superhero, tells the story of Spider-Man's creator, Stan Lee. Welcome to the programme, Robin.

ROBIN Thank you.

P Robin, what can you tell us about Stan Lee's early life?

R Well, his real name was Stanley Lieber, and he started working for a company called Timely Comics when he was sixteen. Twenty years later the company – which was now called Marvel Comics – was almost broke, so Lee was asked to invent some new superheroes.

P Which characters did he create?

R First he created a comic called The Fantastic Four, which was very successful and saved the company. This was followed by The Incredible Hulk, The X-Men, and then, er, Spider-Man.

P Where did the idea for Spider-Man come from?

R Well, according to Stan Lee himself, he was in his office trying to come up with a superpower for a new character he'd just created. While he was sitting there, he was watching a fly walking up a wall. Then he thought, wouldn't it be great if my character could walk up walls like an insect? So Spider-Man was born. Actually, he nearly called him Insect-Man.

P Really?

R Yes, but he thought it just didn't sound right. Then he tried Crawling-Man, Mosquito-Man ... and then finally Spider-Man.

P And Spider-Man was rather different to earlier superheroes, wasn't he?

R Yes, absolutely. The character Peter Parker – who's Spider-Man, of course – was a typical young guy. He had problems with girls, he missed appointments, he couldn't pay the rent, that kind of thing. So um even though he had these amazing superpowers, he was still a normal guy with all the problems young people usually have.

P How did he get his superpowers?

R Well, in the original comic Peter Parker was bitten by a radioactive spider at a science museum. This gave him his super strength and his "spider sense", which is his ability to sense danger. And of course he can also climb up the sides of buildings, which is very useful!

P As we've all seen in the films.

R Yes, indeed. And a funny little fact is Stan Lee often appeared in his characters' movies – usually as a hot-dog seller.

P Robin, thanks very much for coming in to talk to us today.

R My pleasure.
