Preface to the Fourth Edition

Fundamentals of English Grammar is a developmental skills text for lower-intermediate and intermediate English language learners. It uses a grammar-based approach integrated with communicative methodologies to promote the development of all language skills in a variety of ways. Starting from a foundation of understanding form and meaning, students engage in meaningful communication about real actions, real things, and their real lives in the classroom context. Fundamentals of English Grammar functions principally as a classroom teaching text but also serves as a comprehensive reference text for students and teachers.

The eclectic approach and abundant variety of exercise material remain the same as in the earlier editions, but this fourth edition incorporates new ways and means. In particular:

- WARM-UP EXERCISES FOR THE GRAMMAR CHARTS

Newly created for the fourth edition, these innovative exercises precede the grammar charts and introduce the point(s) to be taught. They have been carefully crafted to help students discover the target grammar as they progress through each warm-up exercise.

- LISTENING PRACTICE

Numerous listening exercises help students interact with the spoken language in a variety of settings that range from the relaxed, casual speech of everyday conversation to more academic content. An audio CD accompanies the student text, and a full listening script can be found in the back of the book.

- READINGS

Students can read and respond to a wide selection of readings that focus on the target grammar structure(s).

- WRITING TASKS

New writing activities that practice target structures have been created for every chapter. A writing sample precedes each task so students have a model to follow.

- EXPANDED SPEAKING ACTIVITIES

Students have even more opportunities to share their experiences, express their opinions, and relate the target grammar to their personal lives. The text often uses the students' own life experiences as context and regularly introduces topics of interest to stimulate the free expression of ideas in structured as well as open discussions.

- CORPUS-INFORMED CONTENT

Based on our corpus research, grammar content has been added, deleted, or modified to reflect the discourse patterns of spoken and written English.

TIPS FOR USING THE NEW FEATURES IN THIS TEXT

- WARM-UPS

The Warm-Up exercises are a brief pre-teaching tool for the charts. They highlight the key point(s) that will be introduced in the chart that follows the Warm-Up exercise. Before beginning the task, teachers will want to familiarize themselves with the material in the chart. Then, with the teacher's guidance, students can discover many or sometimes all of the new patterns as they complete the Warm-Up activity. After students finish the exercise, teachers may find that no further explanation is necessary, and the charts can serve as a useful reference.

- LISTENING

The Listening exercises have been designed to help students understand American English as it is actually spoken. As such, it includes reductions and other phenomena that are part of the natural, relaxed speech of everyday English. Because the audio uses English that may be spoken at a rate faster than what students are used to, they may need to hear sentences two or three times while completing a task.

The Listening exercises do not encourage immediate pronunciation (unless they are linked to a specific pronunciation task). Receptive skills precede productive ones, and it is essential that students be able to hear the speech patterns before they begin using them in their own speech.

Students are encouraged to listen to longer passages the first time through without looking at their text. Teachers can then explain any vocabulary that has not already been clarified. During the second listening, students complete the assigned task. Teachers will want to pause the audio appropriately. Depending on the level of the class, pauses may be needed after every sentence, or even within a sentence.

It is inevitable that sound representations in the text will at times differ from the instructor's speech, whether it be due to register or regional variation. As a general rule, if the instructor expects that students will hear a variation, or if students themselves raise the questions, alternate representations can be presented.

A listening script with all the listening exercises can be found at the back of the book.

- READINGS

The Readings give students an opportunity to work with the grammar structures in extended contexts. One approach is to have students read the passage alone the first time through. Then they work in small groups or as a class to clarify vocabulary questions. A second reading may be necessary. Varied reading tasks then allow students to check their comprehension, to use the target structures, and to expand upon the topic in speaking or writing.

- WRITING TASKS

As students gain confidence in using the target structures, they are encouraged to express their ideas in complete paragraphs. A model paragraph accompanies each assignment and question-prompts help students develop their ideas.

Peer editing can be used for correction. A useful technique is to pair students, have them exchange papers, and then have the partner read the paragraph aloud. The writer can hear if the content is what he or she intended. This also keeps the writer from automatically self-correcting while reading aloud. (Self-correcting can be a problem if writers are unaware that they are making corrections as they read.)

For classes that have not had much experience with writing, the teacher may want to assign students to small groups. Each group composes a paragraph together. The teacher collects the paragraph and adds comments, and then makes a copy for each group member. Students correct the paragraph individually.

When correcting student writing, teachers may want to focus primarily on the structures taught in the chapter.

- LET'S TALK

Each Let's Talk activity is set up as one of the following: pairwork, small group, class activity, interview, or game. Successful language learning requires social interaction, and these tasks encourage students to speak with others about their ideas, their everyday lives, and the world around them. Students tend to speak more easily and freely when they can connect language to their own knowledge and experiences.

- CHECK YOUR KNOWLEDGE

Toward the end of the chapter, students can practice sentence-level editing skills by correcting errors common to this level. The sentences can be done as homework or in small groups.

This task can easily be set up as a game. The teacher calls out an item number at random. Students work in teams to correct the sentence, and the first team to edit it correctly wins a point.

See the Fundamentals of English Grammar Teacher's Guide for detailed information about teaching from this book, including expansion activities and step-by-step instructions.

Fundamentals of English Grammar is accompanied by

- A comprehensive Workbook, consisting of self-study exercises for independent work.
- An all-new Teacher's Guide, with step-by-step teaching suggestions for each chart, notes to the teacher on key grammar structures, vocabulary lists, and expansion activities and PowerPoint presentations for key chapters.
- An expanded Test Bank, with additional quizzes, chapter tests, and mid-term and final exams.
- Test-Generator software that allows teachers to customize their own tests using quizzes and tests from the Test Bank.
- Azar Interactive, a computer-based program keyed to the text, provides easily understood content, all-new exercises, readings, listening and speaking activities, and comprehensive tests.
- PowerPoint presentations for key chapters. Based on real-world readings, these lessons are designed for use in the classroom as "beyond-the-book" activities. They can be found in the new Teacher's Guide or downloaded from AzarGrammar.com.
- A Chartbook, a reference book consisting only of the grammar charts.
- AzarGrammar.com, a website that provides a variety of supplementary classroom materials and a place where teachers can support each other by sharing their knowledge and experience.
- Fun with Grammar, a teacher resource text by Suzanne Woodward with communicative activities correlated with the Azar-Hagen Grammar Series. It is available as a text or as a download on AzarGrammar.com.

The Azar-Hagen Grammar Series consists of

- Understanding and Using English Grammar (blue cover), for upper-level students.
- Fundamentals of English Grammar (black), for mid-level students.
- Basic English Grammar (red), for lower or beginning levels.

Chapter 1

Present Time

□ Exercise 1. Listening and reading.

CD 1
Track 2

Part 1. Listen to the conversation between Sam and Lisa. They are college students in California. They are beginning a weeklong training to be resident assistants* for their dorm. They are interviewing each other. Later they will introduce each other to the group.

SAM: Hi. My name is Sam.

LISA: Hi. I'm Lisa. It's nice to meet you.

SAM: Nice to meet you too. Where are you from?

LISA: I'm from Boston. How about you?

SAM: I'm from Quebec. So, how long have you been here?

LISA: Just one day. I still have a little jet lag.

SAM: Me too. I got in yesterday morning. So — we need to ask each other about a hobby. What do you like to do in your free time?

LISA: I spend a lot of time outdoors. I love to hike. When I'm indoors, I like to surf the Internet.

SAM: Me too. I'm studying Italian right now. There are a lot of good websites for learning languages on the Internet.

LISA: I know. I found a good one for Japanese. I'm trying to learn a little. Now, when I introduce you to the group, I have to write your full name on the board. What's your last name, and how do you spell it?

SAM: It's Sanchez. S-A-N-C-H-E-Z.

LISA: My last name is Paterson — with one "t": P-A-T-E-R-S-O-N.

SAM: It looks like our time is up. Thanks. It's been nice talking to you.

LISA: I enjoyed it too.

*resident assistant = a student who lives in a dormitory and helps other students with everyday life in the dorm; also called an "R.A."

Part II. Read the conversation in Part I. Use the information in the conversation to complete Sam's introduction of Lisa to the class.

SAM: I would like to introduce Lisa Paterson. Lisa is from Boston. She has been here _____ . In her free time, she _____ .

Part III. Now it is Lisa's turn to introduce Sam to the class. What is she going to say? Create an introduction. Begin with I would like to introduce Sam.

□ Exercise 2. Let's talk: interview.

Interview a partner. Then introduce your partner to the class. As your classmates are introduced to the class, write their names on a sheet of paper.

Find out your partner's:

- name
- native country or hometown
- free-time activities or hobbies
- favorite food
- reason for being here
- length of time here

□ Exercise 3. Let's write.

Write answers to the questions. Then, with your teacher, decide what to do with your writing. See the list of suggestions at the end of the exercise.

1. What is your name?
2. Where are you from?
3. Where are you living?
4. Why are you here (in this city)?
 - a. Are you a student? If so, what are you studying?
 - b. Do you work? If so, what is your job?
 - c. Do you have another reason for being here?
5. What do you like to do in your free time?
6. What is your favorite season of the year? Why?
7. What are your three favorite TV programs or movies? Why do you like them?
8. Describe your first day in this class.

Suggestions for your writing:

- a. Give it to a classmate to read. Your classmate can then summarize the information in a spoken report to a small group.
- b. Work with a partner and correct errors in each other's writing.
- c. Read your composition aloud in a small group and answer any questions about it.
- d. Hand it in to your teacher, who will correct the errors and return it to you.
- e. Hand it in to your teacher, who will return it at the end of the term when your English has progressed, so you can correct your own errors.

□ Exercise 4. Warm-up. (Charts 1-1 and 1-2)

Read the statements and circle yes or no. Choose responses that are true for you. Share your answers with a partner (e.g., I use a computer every day. OR I don't use a computer every day.). Your partner will report your information to the class (e.g., Eric doesn't use a computer every day.).

Hair Facts

Here are some interesting facts about our hair. Human hair grows about one-half inch per month or 15 centimeters a year. The hair on our scalp is dead. After it stops growing, it rests for a while and then falls out. Hair grows faster in warmer weather, and women's hair grows faster than men's hair.

Questions:

1. How fast does hair grow?
2. Why don't haircuts hurt?
3. About how many strands of hair are on your head right now?
4. Where is a good place to live if you want your hair to grow faster?

Part I. Read the passage.

An Old Apartment

Ted and Amy live in an old, run-down apartment and want to move. The building is old and has a lot of problems. The ceiling leaks when it rains. The faucets drip. The toilet doesn't always flush properly. The windows don't close tightly, and heat escapes from the rooms in the winter. In the summer, it is very hot because there is no air conditioner.

Their apartment is in a dangerous part of town. Ted and Amy both take the bus to work and have to walk a long distance to the bus stop. Their apartment building doesn't have laundry facilities, so they also have to walk to a laundromat to wash their clothes. They are planning to have children in the near future, so they want a park or play area nearby for their children. A safe neighborhood is very important.

□ Exercise 29. Reading, grammar, and writing. (Chart 3-6)

Part I. Read the passage.

The Home of the Future

What will the home of the future look like? Imagine life 50 years from now. What kinds of homes will people have? Here are some interesting possibilities.

The living room walls will have big plasma screens. Instead of pictures on the wall, the screens will show changing scenery. If walls have different scenes, people may not even want many windows. As you know, fewer windows will make it easier to heat a house.

The house will have special electronic features, and people will control them with a remote control. For example, a person can lie in bed at night and lock all the doors in his or her house with one push of a button. Before someone arrives home from work, the remote will turn on the lights, preheat the oven, and even turn on favorite music. The bathroom faucets will have a memory. They will remember the temperature a person likes, and when he or she turns on the water in the tub or shower, it will be at the correct temperature. Maybe bedroom closets will have racks that move automatically at the touch of a button. When the weather is cold, the racks will deliver clothes that keep a person warm, and on warm days, the racks will deliver clothes that keep a person cool.

Finally, homes will be more energy-efficient. Most of the heat will probably come from the sun. Of course, solar heat will be popular because it will be inexpensive.

Which ideas do you like? Which ones do you think you may see in your lifetime?

Part II. Complete the sentences with information from the passage. More than one answer may be possible.

1. When people look at the living room walls, they _____.
2. When a person is coming home from work, the remote _____.

4. If the bathroom faucets have a memory, they _____.

6. When a person pushes a button, the closet racks _____.
7. When the weather is cold, the closet racks _____.
8. If a home has solar heat, the cost of heating the home _____.

Part III. Imagine you can build your dream house — 50 years from now. It can be any type of house you want. Think about the style, size, kinds of rooms, location, etc. Write a paragraph about this house. Begin with this topic sentence: My dream house will have . . .

4-7 Present Perfect Progressive vs. Present Perfect

Present Perfect Progressive

The PRESENT PERFECT expresses

Present Perfect Progressive and Present Perfect

- (f) I have been living here for six months. OR

Often either tense can be used with verbs that express the duration of usual or habitual activities/situations (things that happen daily or regularly), e.g., live, work, teach, smoke, wear glasses, play chess, go to school, read the same newspaper every morning, etc.

Answer the questions. Then read the passage and the statements that follow. Circle “T” for true and “F” for false.

Have you heard about the problem of disappearing honeybees?
Why are honeybees important to fruit and many other crops?

Where Have the Honeybees Gone?

Honeybees have been disappearing around the world for several years now. In the United States, billions of bees have already died. Europe, Australia, and Brazil have also reported losses of honeybees. This is a serious problem because bees pollinate* crops. Without pollination, apple, orange, and other fruit trees cannot produce fruit. Other crops like nuts also need pollination. In the United States, one-third of the food supply depends on honeybees.

Scientists have a name for this problem: colony collapse disorder (CCD). Bees live in colonies or hives, and thousands of beekeepers have been finding their hives empty. A hive that once held 50,000 bees may just have a few dead or dying ones left.

There have been many theories about why this has happened; for example, disease, pests, unnatural growing conditions, and damaged DNA. Scientists now think that the cause may be a combination of a virus and a fungus, but they need to do more research to find a solution to this very serious problem.

4-8 Past Perfect

Situation:

Jack left his apartment at 2:00. Sue arrived at his apartment at 2:15 and knocked on the door.

- (a) When Sue arrived, Jack wasn't there. He had left.

The PAST PERFECT is used when the speaker is talking about two different events at two different times in the past; one event ends before the second event happens.

In (a): There are two events, and both happened in the past: Jack left his apartment. Sue arrived at his apartment.

To show the time relationship between the two events, we use the past perfect (had left) to say that the first event (Jack leaving his apartment) was completed before the second event (Sue arriving at his apartment) occurred.

- (b) Jack had left his apartment when Sue arrived.

FORM: had = past participle

- (c) He 'd left. I 'd left. They 'd left. Etc.

CONTRACTION: I / you / she / he / it / we / they + 'd

- Jack had left before Sue arrived.
- Jack left before Sue arrived.
- Sue arrived after Jack had left.
- Sue arrived after Jack left.

When before and after are used in a sentence, the time relationship is already clear so the past perfect is often not necessary. The simple past may be used, as in (e) and (g).

Examples (d) and (e) have the same meaning.
Examples (f) and (g) have the same meaning.

- (h) Stella was alone in a strange city. She walked down the avenue slowly, looking in shop windows. Suddenly, she turned her head and looked behind her. Someone had called her name.

The past perfect is more common in formal writing such as fiction, as in (h).

5-15 Tag Questions

(a) Jill is sick, isn't she? (b) You didn't know, did you? (c) There's enough time, isn't there? (d) I'm not late, am I? (e) I'm late, aren't I?			A tag question is a question that is added onto the end of a sentence. An auxiliary verb is used in a tag question. Notice that I am becomes aren't I in a negative tag, as in (e). (Am I not is also possible, but it is very formal and rare.
Affirmative (+) (d) You know Bill, (e) Marie is from Paris,	Negative (-) don't you? isn't she?	Affirmative Expected Answer Yes. Yes.	When the main verb is affirmative, the tag question is negative, and the expected answer agrees with the main verb.
Negative (-) (f) You don't know Tom, (g) Marie isn't from Athens,	Affirmative (+) do you? is she?	Negative Expected Answer No. No.	When the main verb is negative, the tag question is affirmative, and the expected answer agrees with the main verb.
THE SPEAKER'S QUESTION	THE SPEAKER'S IDEA
(h) It will be nice tomorrow, won't it? (i) It will be nice tomorrow, won't it?	Tag questions have two types of intonation: rising and falling. The intonation determines the meaning of the tag. A speaker uses rising intonation to make sure information is correct. In (h): the speaker has an idea; the speaker is checking to see if the idea is correct. Falling intonation is used when the speaker is seeking agreement. In (i): the speaker thinks it will be nice tomorrow and is almost certain the listener will agree.
YES/NO QUESTIONS (j) — Will it be nice tomorrow? — Yes, it will. OR No, it won't.	In (j): The speaker has no idea. The speaker is simply looking for information. Compare (h) and (i) with (j).

- Exercise 63. Let's read and write. (Chapters 1 → 5)
Part I. Read the fairy tale and answer the questions at the end.

The Frog Prince

Once upon a time, there was a king with three unmarried daughters. One day while the king was thinking about his daughters' futures, he had an idea. He thought, "I'm going to drop three jewels among the young men in the village center. The men who find* the jewels will become my daughters' husbands." He announced his plan to all of the people of his kingdom.

The next day, the king took an emerald, a ruby, and a diamond into the village. He walked among the young men and dropped the jewels. A handsome man picked up the emerald. Then a wealthy prince found the ruby. But a frog hopped toward the diamond and took it. He said to the king, "I am the Frog Prince. I claim your third daughter as my wife."

When the king told Trina, his third daughter, about the Frog Prince, she refused to marry him. She hid from her friends and grew sadder every day. Meanwhile, her two sisters had grand weddings.

*The simple present is used here because the story is giving the king's exact words in a quotation. Notice that quotation marks ("...") are used. See Chart 14-8, p. 000, for more information about quotations.

Eventually, Trina ran away and went to live in the woods, but she was very lonely and unhappy. One day Trina went swimming in a lake. Trina became tired in the cold water and decided to give up. She didn't want to live anymore. As she was drowning, the frog suddenly appeared and pushed Trina to the shore.

"Why did you save my life, Frog?"

"Because you are very young, and you have a lot to live for."

"No, I don't," said the princess. "I am the most miserable person in the world."

"Let's talk about it," said the frog. Trina and the Frog Prince sat together for hours and hours. Frog listened and understood. He told her about his own unhappiness and loneliness. They shared their deepest feelings with each other.

One day while they were sitting near the lake, Trina felt great affection for the frog. She bent down and kissed him on his forehead. Suddenly the frog turned into a man! He took Trina in his arms and said, "You saved me with your kiss. An evil wizard changed me from a prince into a frog. I needed to find the love of a woman with a truly good heart to set me free.* You looked inside me and found the real me."

Trina and the prince returned to the castle and got married. Her two sisters, she discovered, were very unhappy because their husbands treated them poorly. But Trina and her Frog Prince lived happily ever after.

Questions:

1. What did the king want for his daughters?
2. Why did a frog claim Trina for his wife?
3. What did Trina do to escape the marriage?
4. Where did she meet the frog again?
5. Why did she kiss the frog?
6. What did an evil wizard do to the frog?
7. What kind of lives did her sisters have?
8. What kind of life did Trina and the Frog Prince have?

Part II. Write a story that begins Once upon a time. Use one of the given topics.

Topics:

1. Read the story again and then retell it in your own words. Write one or two paragraphs. Do not look at the story when you write.
2. Write a fairy tale that you are familiar with, perhaps one that is well known in your culture.
3. Create a story with your classmates. Each student writes one or two sentences at a time. One student begins the story. Then he or she passes the paper on to another student, who then writes a sentence or two and passes the paper on — until everyone in the class has had a chance to write part of the story, or until the story has an ending. This story can then be reproduced for the class to edit together. The class may want to add art and "publish" the final product as a small book.

The Habitats of a Rainforest

Rainforests have different areas where animals live. These areas are called habitats. Scientists have given names to the four main habitats or layers of a rainforest.

Some animals live in the tops of giant trees. The tops of these trees are much higher than the other trees, so this layer is called the *emergent layer. Many birds and insects live there.

Under the emergent layer is the canopy. The canopy is the upper part of the trees. It is thick with leaves and vines, and it forms an umbrella over the rainforest. Most of the animals in the rainforest live in the canopy.

The next layer is the understory. The understory is above the ground and under the leaves. In the understory, it is very dark and cool. It gets only 2–5% of the sunlight that the canopy gets. The understory has the most insects of the four layers, and a lot of snakes and frogs also live there.

Finally, there is the forest floor. On the surface of this floor are fallen leaves, branches, and other debris. In general, the largest animals in the rainforest live in this layer. Common animals in this habitat are tigers and gorillas.

1. Name two types of animals that live in the tops of giant trees.
2. Where is the understory?
3. Where do you think most mosquitoes live?

Part I. Read the passage and answer the questions.

Calming Yourself

When was the last time you felt nervous or anxious? Were you able to calm yourself? There are a variety of techniques that people use to calm themselves. Here are three that many people have found helpful.

One way that people relax is by imagining a peaceful place, such as a tropical beach. Thinking about the warm water, cool breezes, and steady sounds of the ocean waves helps people calm themselves. Another popular method is deep breathing. Inhaling deeply and then slowly exhaling is an easy way for people to slow their heart rate and relax their body. Still other people find exercise helpful. Some people benefit from a slow activity like a 20-minute walk. Others prefer activities that make them tired, like running or swimming.

How about you? How do you calm yourself when you feel nervous? Do any of these methods help you, or do you do other things to relax?

1. What are three ways people relax when they are nervous? (Use one and another in your answer.)
2. Why do some people choose activities like running and swimming as a way to relax?
3. Imagine you are trying to relax by thinking of a peaceful place. What place would you think of?
4. How do you relax when you are nervous?

Part II. Read this paragraph by one student who tells how he relaxes when he's nervous.

How I Calm Down

Sometimes I feel nervous, especially when I have to give a speech. My body begins to shake, and I realize that I have to calm myself down. This is the technique I use: I imagine myself in a peaceful place. My favorite place in the world is the sea. I imagine myself on the water. I am floating. I feel the warm water around me. The sounds around me are very relaxing. I only hear the waves and maybe a few birds. I don't think about the past or the future. I can feel my heart rate decrease a little, and my body slowly starts to calm down.

Part III. Write a paragraph about how you relax when you are nervous. Follow the model. Give specific details about how you relax and what the results are.

Sometimes I feel nervous, especially when I have to _____ . My _____ and I realize that I have to calm myself down. This is the technique I use: _____ .

8-6 Connecting Ideas with Because

(a) He drank water because he was thirsty.	Because expresses a cause; it gives a reason. Why did he drink water? Reason: He was thirsty.
(b) MAIN CLAUSE: He drank water.	A main clause is a complete sentence: He drank water = a complete sentence
(c) ADVERB CLAUSE: because he was thirsty	An adverb clause is NOT a complete sentence: because he was thirsty = NOT a complete sentence Because introduces an adverb clause: because + subject + verb = an adverb clause
(d) <table style="display: inline-table; border-collapse: collapse; vertical-align: middle;"> <tr> <td style="text-align: center; border-bottom: 1px solid black; padding: 0 5px;">MAIN CLAUSE</td> <td style="padding: 0 5px;"></td> <td style="text-align: center; border-bottom: 1px solid black; padding: 0 5px;">ADVERB CLAUSE</td> </tr> <tr> <td style="padding: 0 5px;">He drank water</td> <td style="padding: 0 5px;">because</td> <td style="padding: 0 5px;">he was thirsty.</td> </tr> <tr> <td colspan="3" style="text-align: center; padding: 0 5px;">(no comma)</td> </tr> </table>	MAIN CLAUSE		ADVERB CLAUSE	He drank water	because	he was thirsty.	(no comma)			An adverb clause is connected to a main clause, as in (d) and (e). In (d): main clause + no comma + adverb clause In (e): adverb clause + comma + main clause Examples (d) and (e) have exactly the same meaning.
MAIN CLAUSE		ADVERB CLAUSE
He drank water	because	he was thirsty.
(no comma)
(e) <table style="display: inline-table; border-collapse: collapse; vertical-align: middle;"> <tr> <td style="text-align: center; border-bottom: 1px solid black; padding: 0 5px;">ADVERB CLAUSE</td> <td style="padding: 0 5px;"></td> <td style="text-align: center; border-bottom: 1px solid black; padding: 0 5px;">MAIN CLAUSE</td> </tr> <tr> <td style="padding: 0 5px;">Because he was thirsty,</td> <td style="padding: 0 5px;"></td> <td style="padding: 0 5px;">he drank water.</td> </tr> <tr> <td colspan="3" style="text-align: center; padding: 0 5px;">(comma)</td> </tr> </table>	ADVERB CLAUSE		MAIN CLAUSE	Because he was thirsty,		he drank water.	(comma)
ADVERB CLAUSE		MAIN CLAUSE
Because he was thirsty,		he drank water.
(comma)
(f) INCORRECT IN WRITING: He drank water. Because he was thirsty.	Example (f) is incorrect in written English: Because he was thirsty cannot stand alone as a sentence that starts with a capital letter and ends with a period. It has to be connected to a main clause, as in (d) and (e).
(g) CORRECT IN SPEAKING: — Why did he drink some water? — Because he was thirsty.	In spoken English, an adverb clause can be used as the short answer to a question, as in (g).

□ Exercise 35. Reading and grammar. (Chapter 8)

Part I. Read the passage.

The Importance of Water

What is the most common substance on earth? It isn't wood, iron, or sand. The most common substance on earth is water. Every living thing contains water. For example, a person's body is about 67 percent water, a bird's is about 75 percent water, and most fruit contains about 90 percent water.

In addition, 70 percent of the earth's surface is water. Besides being in lakes, rivers, and oceans, water is in the ground and in the air. However, most of the water in the world is saltwater. Only 3 percent of the earth's water is fresh, and just one percent of that is available for human use. The rest is saltwater, and people can't drink it or grow food with it.

Water is essential to life, but human beings often poison it with chemicals from industry and farming. When people pollute water, the quality of all life — plant life, animal life, and human life — suffers. Life cannot exist without fresh water, so it is essential that people take care of this important natural resource.

Part II. Complete the sentences with because/although/even though/so.

1. _____ 70 percent of the earth's surface is water and water is in every living thing, it is the most common substance on earth.
2. _____ 70 percent of the earth's surface is water, only 3 percent is fresh.
3. _____ water is everywhere, not much is available for human use.
4. Chemicals pollute water, _____ it is important to keep them out of the water supply.

Sample notes:

Giraffes

- have long necks (6 feet or 1.8 meters)
- can reach tops of trees
- need very little sleep (20 minutes to two hours out of 24 hours)
- eat about 140 pounds of food a day
- can go for weeks without drinking water
- get a lot of water from the plants they eat
- can grab and hold onto objects with their tongues
- don't have vocal cords
- can communicate with one another
(but humans can't hear them)

3. Write sentences based on your facts. Combine some of the ideas using and, but, or, so, because, although, even though.

Sample sentences:

Giraffes

- Giraffes have long necks, so they can reach the tops of trees.

Interesting Facts About Giraffes

Giraffes are interesting animals. They have long necks, so they can reach the tops of trees. They eat flowers, fruit, climbing plants, and the twigs and leaves from trees. Although they eat about 140 pounds of food a day, they can go for weeks without drinking water. They get a lot of water from the plants they eat too. Birth Order

In your family, are you the oldest, youngest, middle, or only child? Some psychologists believe your place in the family, or your birth order, has a strong influence on your personality. Let's look at some of the personality characteristics of each child.

The oldest child has all the parents' attention when she is born. As she grows up, she may want to be the center of attention. Because she is around adults, she might act more like an adult around other children and be somewhat controlling. As the oldest, she might have to take care of the younger children, so she may be more responsible. She may want to be the leader when she is in groups.

The middle child (or children) may feel a little lost. Middle children have to share their parents' attention. They may try to be different from the oldest child. If the oldest child is "good," the second child may be "bad." However, since they need to get along with both the older and younger sibling(s), they may be the peacekeepers of the family.

The youngest child is the "baby" of the family. Other family members may see him as weaker, smaller, or more helpless. If the parents know this is their last child, they may not want the child to grow up as quickly as the other children. As a way to get attention, the youngest child may be the funniest child in the family. He may also have more freedom and turn out to be more artistic and creative.

An only child (no brothers or sisters) often grows up in an adult world. Such children may use adult language and prefer adult company. Only children may be more intelligent and serious than other children their age. They might also be more self-centered because of all the attention they get, and they might have trouble sharing with others.

Of course, these are general statements. A lot depends on how the parents raise the child, how many years are between each child, and the culture the child grows up in. How about you? Do you see any similarities to your family?

Part II. Read the statements. Circle “T” for true and “F” for false according to the information in the passage.

- | | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1. The two most similar children are the oldest and only child. | T | F |
| 2. The middle child often wants to be like the oldest child. | T | F |
| 3. The youngest child likes to control others. | T | F |

I'm a student, and I don't work as hard. Another difference is that I am funnier than he is. I like to tell jokes and make people laugh. He is serious, but he laughs at my jokes. My father was an athlete when he was my age, and he is very competitive. I don't like playing competitive sports, but we watch them together on TV. Part I. Read the questions and then the passage about jeans.

Are you wearing jeans right now, or do you have a pair at home?
If so, who were they made by?

The Origin of Jeans

Around the world, a very popular pant for men, women, and children is jeans. Did you know that jeans were created more than 100 years ago? They were invented by Levi Strauss during the California Gold Rush.

In 1853, Levi Strauss, a 24-year-old immigrant from Germany, traveled from New York to San Francisco. His brother was the owner of a store in New York and wanted to open another one in San Francisco. When Strauss arrived, a gold miner* asked him what he had to sell. Levi said he had strong canvas for tents and wagon covers. The miner told him he really needed strong pants because he couldn't find any that lasted very long.

So Levi Strauss took the canvas and designed a pair of overall pants. The miners liked them except that they were rough on the skin. Strauss exchanged the canvas for a cotton cloth from France called serge de Nimes. Later, the fabric was called "denim" and the pants were given the nickname "blue jeans."

Eventually, Levi Strauss & Company was formed. Strauss and tailor David Jacobs began putting rivets in pants to make them stronger. In 1936, a red tab was added to the rear pocket. This was done so "Levis" could be more easily identified. Nowadays the company is very well known, and for many people, all jeans are known as Levis.

Part I. Read the passage. Add capital letters as necessary.

Jane Goodall

- (1) Do you recognize the name ^Jane goodall? Perhaps you know her for her studies of chimpanzees. She became very famous from her work in tanzania.
- (2) Jane goodall was born in england, and as a child, was fascinated by animals. Her favorite books were the jungle book, by rudyard kipling, and books about tarzan, a fictional character who was raised by apes.
- (3) Her childhood dream was to go to africa. After high school, she worked as a secretary and a waitress to earn enough money to go there. During that time, she took evening courses in journalism and english literature. She saved every penny until she had enough money for a trip to africa.
- (4) In the spring of 1957, she sailed through the red sea and southward down the african coast to mombasa in kenya. Her uncle had arranged a job for her in nairobi with a british company. When she was there, she met dr. louis leakey, a famous anthropologist. Under his guidance, she began her lifelong study of chimpanzees on the eastern shore of lake tanganyika.
- (5) Jane goodall lived alone in a tent near the lake. Through months and years of patience, she won the trust of the chimps and was able to watch them closely. Her observations changed forever how we view chimpanzees — and all other animals we share the world with.

- (4) Edit your paragraph for article use. You may also want to ask another student to read it.

Example:

Roots and Shoots

Jane Goodall went to Africa to study animals. She spent 40 years observing and studying chimpanzees in Tanzania. As a result of Dr. Goodall’s work, an organization called Roots and Shoots was formed. This organization focuses on work children and teenagers can do to help the local and global community. The idea began in 1991. A group of 16 teenagers met with Dr. Goodall at her home in Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania. They wanted to discuss how to help with a variety of problems, such as pollution, deforestation, the treatment of animals, and the future of wildlife, like Dr. Goodall’s chimpanzees. Dr. Goodall was involved in the meetings, but the teenagers chose the service projects and did the work themselves. The first Roots and Shoots community project was a local one. The group educated villagers about better treatment of chickens at home and in the marketplace. Today, there are tens of thousands of members in almost 100 countries. They work to make their environment and the world a better place through community-service projects.

I thought vegan was another name for vegetarian, except that vegans didn't eat eggs. I soon found out I was wrong. The first time I cooked dinner for him, I made a vegetable dish which had a lot of cheese. Since cheese comes from cows, it's not vegan, so he had to scrape it off. I also served him bread that had milk in it and a dessert that was made with ice cream. Unfortunately, there wasn't much that he could eat that night. In the beginning, I had trouble thinking of meals which we could both enjoy. But he is a wonderful cook and showed me how to create delicious vegan meals. Body Language Different cultures use different body language. In some countries, when people meet one another, they offer a strong handshake and look the other person straight in the eye. In other countries, however, it is impolite to shake hands firmly, and it is equally rude to look a person in the eye.

How close do people stand to another person when they are speaking to each other? This varies from country to country. In the United States and Canada, people prefer standing just a little less than an arm's length from someone. But many people in the Middle East and Latin America like moving in closer during a conversation.

Smiling at another person is a universal, cross-cultural gesture. Although people may smile more frequently in some countries than in others, people around the world understand the meaning of a smile.

Part I. Read the passage.

Car Sharing

In hundreds of cities around the world, people can use a car without actually owning one. It's known as car sharing.

Car sharing works like this: people pay a fee to join a car-share organization. These organizations have cars available in different parts of a city 24 hours a day. Members make reservations for a car, and then go to one of several parking lots in the city to pick up the car. They pay an hourly or daily rate for driving it. They may also pay a charge for every mile/kilometer they drive. When they are finished, they return the car to a parking area for someone else to use.

Car sharing works well for several reasons. Some people only need to drive occasionally. Oftentimes, people only need a car for special occasions like moving items or taking long trips. Many people don't want the costs or responsibilities of owning a car. The car-share organization pays for gas, insurance, cleaning, and maintenance costs. Members also don't have to wait in line or fill out forms in order to get a car. They know a variety of cars will be available when they need one.

Car sharing also benefits the environment. People drive only when they need to, and fewer cars on the road means less traffic and air pollution. As more and more cities become interested in reducing traffic, car-share programs are becoming an effective alternative.

Uncle Ernesto

Have you ever had an embarrassing experience? My Uncle Ernesto did a few years ago while on a business trip in Norway.

Uncle Ernesto is a businessman from Buenos Aires, Argentina. He manufactures equipment for ships and needs to travel around the world to sell his products. Last year, he went to Norway to meet with a shipping company. While he was there, he found himself in an uncomfortable situation.

Uncle Ernesto was staying at a small hotel in Oslo. One morning, as he was getting ready to take a shower, he heard a knock at the door. He opened it, but no one was there. He stepped into the hallway. He still didn't see anyone, so he turned to go back to his room. Unfortunately, the door was locked. This was a big problem because he didn't have his key and he was wearing only a towel.

Instead of standing in the hallway like this, he decided to get help at the front desk and started walking toward the elevator. He hoped it would be empty, but it wasn't. He took a deep breath and got in. The other people in the elevator were surprised when they saw a man who was wrapped in a towel.

Uncle Ernesto thought about trying to explain his problem, but unfortunately he didn't know Norwegian. He knew a little English, so he said, "Door. Locked. No key." A businessman in the elevator nodded, but he wasn't smiling. Another man looked at Uncle Ernesto and smiled broadly.

The elevator seemed to move very slowly for Uncle Ernesto, but it finally reached the ground floor. He walked straight to the front desk and looked at the hotel manager helplessly. The hotel manager didn't have to understand any language to figure out the problem. He grabbed a key and led my uncle to the nearest elevator.

My uncle is still embarrassed about this incident. But he laughs a lot when he tells the story.

Part II. Check (✓) all the sentences that are grammatically correct.

My Most Embarrassing Experience

My most embarrassing experience happened at work. One morning, I was in a hurry to get to my office, so I quickly said good-bye to my wife. She knew I was planning to give an important presentation at my firm, so she wished me good luck and kissed me on the cheek. Because traffic was heavy, I got to work a few minutes after the meeting had begun. I quietly walked in and sat down. A few people looked at me strangely, but I thought it was because I was late. During my presentation, I got more stares. I began to think my presentation wasn't very good, but I continued speaking. As soon as my talk was over, I went to the restroom. When I looked in the mirror, it wasn't hard to see the problem. There was smudge of red lipstick on my cheek. I felt pretty embarrassed, but later in the day I started laughing about it and tried not to take myself so seriously.

Sometimes be afraid expresses polite regret:

I'm afraid you have the wrong number. = I'm sorry, but I think you have the wrong number.

□ Exercise 22. Warm-up. (Chart 14-6)

Circle all the statements that are true for each conversation.

14-6 Substituting So for a That-Clause in Conversational Responses

(a) A: Is Ana from Peru? B: I think so. (so = that Ana is from Peru)	Think, believe, and hope are frequently followed by so in conversational English in response to a yes/no question. They are alternatives to yes, no, or I don't know .
(b) A: Does Judy live in Dallas? B: I believe so. (so = that Judy lives in Dallas)	So replaces a that -clause. INCORRECT: I think so that Ana is from Peru.
(c) A: Did you pass the test? B: I hope so. (so = that I passed the test)	Negative usage of think so and believe so : do not think so / do not believe so
(d) A: Is Jack married? B: I don't think so. / I don't believe so.	Negative usage of hope in conversational responses: hope not. In (e): I hope not = I hope I didn't fail the test. INCORRECT: I don't hope so.
(e) A: Did you fail the test? B: I hope not.	Other common conversational responses: I guess so. I guess not. I suppose so. I suppose not. NOTE: In spoken English, suppose often sounds like "spoze."
(f) A: Do you want to come with us? B: Oh, I don't know. I guess so.

□ Exercise 23. Looking at grammar. (Chart 14-6)

Restate Speaker B's answers by using a that-clause.

B: I don't think so.
6. A: Will Janet be at Omar's wedding?
B: I suppose so.
7. A: Will your flight be canceled because of the storms?
B: I hope not.

□ Exercise 24. Let's talk: pairwork. (Chart 14-6)

Work with a partner. Take turns answering the questions. If you are not sure, use think so. If you are sure, use Yes or No.

Example:

SPEAKER A (book open): Does this book have more than 500 pages?

SPEAKER B (book closed): I think so. / I don't think so.
Yes, it does. / No, it doesn't.

7. Is your left foot bigger than your right foot?
8. Is there just one sun in our universe?
9. Do any English words begin with the letter "x"?
10. Do you know what a noun clause is?

□ Exercise 25. Warm-up. (Chart 14-7)

Circle the quotation marks and underline the punctuation inside each quotation. What are the differences in punctuation?

1. "Help!" Marcos yelled.
2. "Can someone help me?" he asked.
3. "I'm going to drop this box of jars," he said.

14-7 Quoted Speech

Sometimes we want to quote a speaker's words — to write a speaker's exact words. Exact quotations are used in many kinds of writing, such as newspaper articles, stories, novels, and academic papers. When we quote a speaker's words, we use quotation marks.

(a) SPEAKERS' EXACT WORDS

Jane: Cats are fun to watch.
Mike: Yes, I agree. They're graceful and playful.
Do you have a cat?

(b) QUOTING THE SPEAKERS' WORDS

Jane said, "Cats are fun to watch."
Mike said, "Yes, I agree. They're graceful and playful. Do you have a cat?"

(c) HOW TO WRITE QUOTATIONS

1. Add a comma after said.* → Jane said,
2. Add quotation marks. → Jane said, "
3. Capitalize the first word of the quotation. → Jane said, "Cats
4. Write the quotation. Add a final period. → Jane said, "Cats are fun to watch.
5. Add quotation marks after the period. → Jane said, "Cats are fun to watch."

(d) Mike said, "Yes, I agree. They're graceful and playful. Do you have a cat?"

(e) INCORRECT: Mike said, "Yes, I agree." "They're graceful and playful." "Do you have a cat?"

When there are two (or more) sentences in a quotation, put the quotation marks at the beginning and end of the whole quote, as in (d).

Do NOT put quotation marks around each sentence. As with a period, put the quotation marks after a question mark at the end of a quote.

(f) "Cats are fun to watch," Jane said.

(g) "Do you have a cat?" Mike asked.

In (f): Notice that a comma (not a period) is used at the end of the QUOTED SENTENCE because Jane said comes after the quote.

In (g): Notice that a question mark (not a comma) is used at the end of the QUOTED QUESTION.

*Other common verbs besides say that introduce questions: admit, announce, answer, ask, complain, explain, inquire, report, reply, shout, state, write.

Quotation marks are called "inverted commas" in British English.

□ Exercise 26. Looking at grammar. (Chart 14-7)

Make sentences in which you quote the speaker's exact words. Use said or asked. Punctuate carefully.

1. ANN: My sister is a student.
→ Ann said, "My sister is a student." OR "My sister is a student," Ann said.
2. ANN: Is your brother a student?
3. RITA: We're hungry.
4. RITA: Are you hungry too?
5. RITA: Let's eat. The food is ready.
6. JOHN F. KENNEDY: Ask not what your country can do for you. Ask what you can do for your country.

□ Exercise 27. Looking at grammar. (Chart 14-7)

A teacher recently had a conversation with Roberto. Practice punctuating their quoted speech.

(TEACHER) You know sign language, don't you I asked Roberto.

(ROBERTO) Yes, I do he replied both my grandparents are deaf.

(TEACHER) I'm looking for someone who knows sign language. A deaf student is going to visit our class next Monday I said. Could you interpret for her I asked.

(ROBERTO) I'd be happy to he answered. Is she going to be a new student?

(TEACHER) Possibly I said. She's interested in seeing what we do in our English classes.

□ Exercise 28. Reading and writing. (Chart 14-7)

Part I. Read the story. Underline the quoted speech.

The Ugly Duckling

Once upon a time, there was a mother duck. She lived on a farm and spent her days sitting on her nest of eggs. One morning, the eggs began to move and out came six little ducklings. But there was one egg that was bigger than the rest, and it didn't hatch. The mother didn't remember this egg. "I thought I had only six," she said. "But maybe I counted incorrectly."

A short time later, the seventh egg hatched. But this duckling had gray feathers, not brown like his brothers, and was quite ugly. His mother thought, "Maybe this duck isn't one of mine." He grew faster than his brothers and ate more food. He was very clumsy, and none of the other animals wanted to play with him. Much of the time he was alone.

He felt unloved by everyone, and he decided to run away from the farm. He asked other animals on the way, "Do you know of any ducklings that look like me?" But they just laughed and said, "You are the ugliest duck we have ever seen." One day, the duckling looked up and saw a group of beautiful birds overhead. They were white, with long slender necks and large wings. The duckling thought, "I want to look just like them."

He wandered alone most of the winter and finally found a comfortable bed of reeds in a pond. He thought to himself, "No one wants me. I'll just hide here for the rest of my life." There was plenty of food there, and although he was lonely, he felt a little happier.

By springtime, the duck was quite large. One morning, he saw his reflection in the water. He didn't even recognize himself. A group of swans coming back from the south saw him and flew down to the pond. "Where have you been?" they asked. "You're a swan like us." As they began to swim across the pond, a child saw them and said, "Look at the youngest swan. He's the most beautiful of all." The swan beamed with happiness, and he lived happily ever after.

Part II. Work in small groups and answer this question: What lessons does this story teach?

Part III. Write a story that includes quoted speech. Choose one of these topics:

1. Write a fable* from your country in which animals speak.

Circle the correct words in italics>.

Kathy and Mark said that we / they didn't like our / their new apartment.

*a fable = a traditional story that teaches a lesson about life

14-8 Quoted Speech vs. Reported Speech

QUOTED SPEECH (a) Ann said, "I'm hungry." (b) Tom said, "I need my pen."	QUOTED SPEECH = giving a speaker's exact words. Quotation marks are used.*
REPORTED SPEECH (c) Ann said (that) she was hungry. (d) Tom said (that) he needed his pen.	REPORTED SPEECH = giving the idea of a speaker's words. Not all of the exact words are used; pronouns and verb forms may change. Quotation marks are NOT used.* That is optional; it is more common in writing than in speaking.

*Quoted speech is also called direct speech. Reported speech is also called indirect speech.

14-9 Verb Forms in Reported Speech

(a) QUOTED: Joe said, "I feel good." (b) REPORTED: Joe said (that) he felt good.	In formal English, if the reporting verb (e.g., said) is in the past, the verb in the noun clause is often also in a past form, as in (b) and (d).

Then report to the class some of the information you found out about your partner. Include both the question and the response. Use either formal or informal verb forms.*

Examples:

STUDENT A's question: Where were you born?

STUDENT B's response: In Nepal.

STUDENT A's report: I asked him where he was born. He said he was born in Nepal.

Part I. Read the passage.

The Last Lecture

In 2007, a 47-year-old computer science professor from Carnegie Mellon University was invited to give a lecture at his university. His name was Randy Pausch, and the lecture series was called "The Last Lecture." Pausch was asked to think about what wisdom he would give to people if he knew it was his last opportunity to do so. In Pausch's case, it really was his last lecture because he had cancer and wasn't expected to survive. Pausch gave an uplifting lecture called "Really Achieving Your Childhood Dreams." The lecture was recorded and put on the Internet. A reporter for the Wall Street Journal was also there and wrote about it. Soon millions of people around the world heard about Pausch's inspiring talk.

Here are some quotes from Randy Pausch:

To the general public:

"Proper apologies have three parts: (1) What I did was wrong. (2) I'm sorry that I hurt you. (3) How do I make it better? It's the third part that people tend to forget."

"If I could only give three words of advice, they would be 'tell the truth.' If I got three more words, I'd add 'all the time.'"

"The key question to keep asking is, 'Are you spending your time on the right things?' Because time is all you have."

"We cannot change the cards we are dealt, just how we play the hand."

To his students: "Whether you think you can or can't, you're right."

To his children: "Don't try to figure out what I wanted you to become. I want you to become what you want to become."

Sadly, in 2008, Randy Pausch died. Before his death he was able to put down his thoughts in a book, appropriately called The Last Lecture.

Part II. Work in small groups. Make sure the members of your group understand each quotation in Part I. Then, individually, choose one of the quotes to agree or disagree with. Use some of these phrases and support your statement with reasons.

I agree / disagree that

I believe / don't believe that

I think / don't think that

It's true that

How Some Animals Stay Cool

How do animals stay cool in hot weather? Many animals don't sweat like humans, so they have other ways to cool themselves.

Dogs, for example, have a lot of fur and can become very hot. They stay cool mainly by panting. By the way, if you don't know what panting means, this is the sound of panting.

Cats lick their paws and chests. When their fur is wet, they become cooler.

Elephants have very large ears. When they are hot, they can flap their huge ears. The flapping ear acts like a fan and it cools them. Elephants also like to roll in the mud to stay cool.

Exercise 11, p. 213.

Paying It Forward

A few days ago, a friend and I were driving from Benton Harbor to Chicago. We didn't have any delays for the first hour, but we ran into some highway construction near Chicago. The traffic wasn't moving. My friend and I sat and waited. We talked about our jobs, our families, and the terrible traffic. Slowly it started to move.

We noticed a black sports car on the shoulder. Its blinker was on. The driver obviously wanted to get back into traffic. Car after car passed without letting him in. I decided to do a good deed, so I motioned for him to get in line ahead of me. He waved thanks, and I waved back at him.

All the cars had to stop at a toll booth a short way down the road. I held out my money to pay my toll, but the toll-taker just smiled and waved me on. She told me that the man in the black sports car had already paid my toll. Wasn't that a nice way of saying thank you?

Actually, ancient Romans and Greeks built the first swimming pools. Male athletes and soldiers swam in them for training. Believe it or not, as early as 1 B.C., a heated swimming pool was designed for a wealthy Roman. But swimming pools did not become popular until the middle of the 1800s. The city of London built six indoor swimming pools. Soon after, the modern Olympic games began, and swimming races were included in the events. After this, swimming pools became even more popular, and now they are found all over the world.

Zoos

Zoos are common around the world. The first zoo was established around 3,500 years ago by an Egyptian queen for her enjoyment. Five hundred years later, a Chinese emperor established a huge zoo to show his power and wealth. Later, zoos were established for the purpose of studying animals.

Zoos were supposed to take good care of animals, but some of the early ones were dark holes or dirty cages. At that time, people became disgusted with the poor care the animals were given. Later, these early zoos were replaced by scientific institutions. Animals were studied and kept in better conditions there. These research centers became the first modern zoos.

Because zoos want to treat animals well and encourage breeding, animals today are put in large, natural settings instead of small cages. They are fed a healthy diet and are watched carefully for any signs of disease. Most zoos have specially trained veterinarians and a hospital for their animals. Today, animals in these zoos are treated well, and zoo breeding programs have saved many different types of animals.

Ice-Cream Headaches

Have you ever eaten something really cold like ice cream and suddenly gotten a headache? This is known as an "ice-cream headache." About 30 percent of the population gets this type of headache. Here is one theory about why ice-cream headaches occur. The roof of your mouth has a lot of nerves. When something cold touches these nerves, they want to warm up your brain. They make your blood vessels swell up (get bigger), and this causes a lot of pain. Ice-cream headaches generally go away after about 30–60 seconds. The best way to avoid these headaches is to keep cold food off the roof of your mouth.

My Favorite Holiday

(1) New Year's is the most important holiday of the year in my country. New Year's is celebrated for fifteen days, but my favorite day is the first day.

(2) The celebration actually begins at midnight. Fireworks are set off, and the streets are filled with people. Neighbors and friends greet each other and wish one another good luck for the year. The next morning, gifts are exchanged. Children are given money. It is wrapped in red envelopes because red is the color for good luck. When I was younger, this was always my favorite part of the holiday.

(3) On New Year's Day, everyone wears new clothes. These clothes are bought especially for the holiday. People are very polite to each other. It is considered wrong to yell, lie, or use bad language on the first day of the year. It is a custom for younger generations to visit their elders. They wish them good health and a long life.

My Friend's Vegan Diet

I have a friend who is a vegan. As you may know, a vegan is a person who eats no animal products. When I first met him, I didn't understand the vegan diet. I thought vegan was another name for vegetarian, except that vegans didn't eat eggs. I soon found out I was wrong. The first time I cooked dinner for him, I made a vegetable dish which had a lot of cheese. Since cheese comes from cows, it's not vegan, so he had to scrape it off. I also served him bread that had milk in it and a dessert that was made with ice cream. Unfortunately, there wasn't much that he could eat that night. In the beginning, I had trouble thinking of meals which we could both enjoy. But he is a wonderful cook and showed me how to create delicious vegan meals. I don't know if I'll ever become a complete vegan, but I've learned a lot about the vegan diet and the delicious possibilities it has.
